Marietta, Ohio, Celebrated Centennial with Pageant and Set Movement in Action

ACCURACY A CHIEF ESSENTIAL

Ambitious Proponents of the Pageant See In It a Possible Substitute for War

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN
WASHINGTON, D. C. June 15.—The preparedness propaganda has recently shared with Shakespeare the honor of several hundred pageants. Youthful Cordelias and Desdemonas have adorned the college campus; the high school rifle clubs have turned their activities to killing Caesars and Macbeths; and throughout the country the history of the Indians and first American settlers has for the time being been forgotten in the enthusiasm of the early Italian and Anglo-Saxon drama. In almost every large educational center the windows of the local photographers are at present attracting great crowds of young Americans who proudly gaze upon themselves as the pageant portrayees of Shakespeare.

It is not often that two such necessary excuses as preparedness and the tercentenary of the bard demand the production of pageants, and the American public, in whom the dramatic instinct is well developed, is taking advantage of them. This is the day of the historical pageant if there ever was one. When the mere sight of the American flag on a motion picture screen can bring the audience to its feet in patriotic enthusiasm, it is natural that people would rather see the Landing of the Pilgrims and Penn's Treaty with the Indians depicted by their sons and daughters than the latest Broadway problem comedy.

The modern pageant, which has been called the hybrid product of the procession and the play, was in its ancient form, the foundation of all drama. The Greeks and Romans chose the backgrounds for their open-air performances, or pageants, with careful regard for the picturesqueness of the scenery and none whatever for the convenience of the audience. One time the site selected faced a wide river. It is not recorded whether the audience sat in boats or whether, in fact, it was witnessed at all, but it shows that the Romans at least did not believe in sacrificing art in deference to the audience.

Throughout the middle ages the pageant was a popular form of entertainment in England, witnessed by all the royal personages, and was eclipsed only with great difficulty by the theater drama which made its appearance in the time of Shakespeare. Within the past ten years pageants have again become the rage in England, very nearly turning the tables on the theater. In this country the modern pageant had its beginning as early as 1888 in Marietta, O., where a historical series of episodes was given to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the town. The founding of Marietta the first pioneer settlements and the treaties of peace with the Indians were all depicted by the grandchildren and great grandchildren of the pioneers, many of whom wore the actual clothing and ornaments of their ancestors, carefully preserved as precious heirlooms.

The Marietta production was considered so important that representatives from several states attended and carried the news back home. From that time on, the pageant has become an established institution in America consisting of three forms:

LOOKING UP SIGNERS OF NOTES

Efforts to Trace A. M. Castle Since Latter Part of May Have Proven Unsuccessful

La Crosse attorneys and bankers and representatives of foreign banking houses today started a rigid investigation of the financial activities of A. M. Castle, president of the A. M. Castle Engineering company, whose firm was today involuntarily plunged into bankruptcy by a petition signed by the Continental Credit Trust company, Chicago, Walter S. Woods and J. E. Stokke, La Crosse.

While the involuntary petition filed in the United States court here sets the liabilities at $50,000, Attorney A. C. Wolfe, who represents the Continental people, contends that the total indebtedness of the concern will probably reach $100,000 and that the manipulations of Mr. Castle, on the surface, indicate greater ingenuity than ever displayed by the fictional character, J. Rufus Wallingford.

Efforts on the part of attorneys for the creditors to locate Castle have been fruitless, as have been efforts to locate even a portion of the $50,000 assets claimed by Mr. Castle in a recent statement to creditors.

In fact, according to Mr. Wolfe, the visible assets of the company, consisting mostly of farm machinery, engines and stock, are slowly melting away—disappearing so rapidly that the La Crosse attorney tonight leaves for Madison, there to petition the United States court for the appointment of a receiver for the company.

The Burlington railroad is interested in the matter to the extent of ascertaining how bills of lading were marked "Paid" with the official stamp of the railroad without the local freight offices having a record of either the shipment or payment.

One of the local banks is today investigating the validity of signatures on notes offered by Castle for security on loans.

Castle, prior to the organization of the Castle Engineering company here, was connected with the Emerson-Brantingham Implement company, Kenosha, Wis.

La Crosse bankers today were a unit in declaring Castle one of the most able business men that ever landed in La Crosse, pointing to the fact that with comparatively little capital he had rushed the sales up until the company's business totalled almost $100,000 a year.

One banker, who a few months ago was asked for a report on the firm's condition, answered that the sales and business were enormous but, in view of the capital, it appeared "too good to be true."

Attorney A. C. Wolfe, for the creditors, contends that of the $50,000 claimed as assets by Castle in a January statement to creditors, nothing has been found.

Mr. Castle, it is claimed, left La Crosse in May and the last trace creditors have had was when he checked out of the La Salle hotel in Chicago.

LAREDO, Texas, June 15.—Two American soldiers were killed and seven wounded in a fight with Mexican bandits who crossed the Rio Grande near San Ignacio, forty-five miles below here last night, according to reports received here today. The total Mexican casualties are not known, but the bodies of six bandits were found in the brush, it is said.

100 Bandits in Attack

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 15.—General Mann, commanding at Laredo, reported to General Funston today that troops I and M, Fourteenth cavalry, were attacked at San Ignacio, south of that place, by about 100 Mexicans at 2 o'clock this morning. Two Americans were killed and eleven wounded in the fighting which lasted half an hour. Major Gray is pursuing the scattered bandits.

The total American dead was raised to three men when Major Gray wired Funston this noon that "Trooper James Minahan, troop M, died of wounds at 8 o'clock this morning."

Gray stated that he had communicated with Carranza troops on the Mexican side of the river who reported they had killed four of the bandits driven back by the Americans. The bandits are said to have gathered at Las Tortillas ranch, fifteen miles from the border. Gray has been unable to pick up the trails of the bandits who crossed the river.

Official Report

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Official report on the fight between Mexican bandits and troops I and M, United States cavalry, near San Ignacio, where two American soldiers and six bandits were killed and seven Americans wounded, was received at the war department this afternoon from General Funston.

The fight lasted thirty minutes. Major Gray, commanding, reported:

"From General Mann, Laredo, troops I and M, Fourteenth cavalry, at San Ignacio were attacked at 2:00 o'clock this morning by a party of about 100 Mexicans. After a fight of half an hour the attacking party was driven off."

"Two soldiers were killed and seven wounded; will send names as soon as received. Bodies of six Mexicans and six dead horses were found in brush. Clothing of dead men was wet, showing they had crossed river."

"Major Gray, in command, telephone party scattered and he thinks went down river. His scouts are trying."

RUSSIANS STAND
BETWEEN LEMBERG
AND CZERNOWITZ

PETROGRAD, June 15.—The Russian offensive concentrating just north of Czernowitz in an effort to push through and cut off the defenders of the Bukovina capital from Lemberg on the north has succeeded, according to unofficial, though reliable reports received here.

The czar's soldiers have advanced along the Pruth practically to the gates of Czernowitz and immediately to the north of it have taken several points along the direct line of railroad running toward Lemberg, the Galician capital. Kolomea is the objective of the north of Czernowitz attack.

Should this town fall, Czernowitz would be without direct rail communication with Lemberg, though it could be munitioned and supplied with men from there by sending them on a wide detour to the west. A successful drive on Czernowitz with persistence in the offensive immediately to the north would force the Austrians to the bitter expedient of retreating through the Carpathians.

Continuation of the attacks in the region of Kovel and Lemberg are reported without, however, the enormous gains of the first several days of the drive. Still other aggressives are reported against the German portion of the line north of Pinsk. Here the Russians have not been so successful as in the south.

SENATOR OLLIE JAMES

IS ACCEPTED BY

Agreement Is Signed at Noon After Compromise Reached in Meeting Yesterday

CONTRACT RUNS INDEFINITELY

Men Must Give Notice of Demand for Increase Thirty Days Before Expiration of Year

Contracts calling for a general wage increase of two cents an hour, time and a half for over time, and double time for work after midnight, were signed at noon today by a committee of the street car men's local union and officers of the Wisconsin Railway Light and Power company, owners of the La Crosse street car system.

Vice-president Here

Chief among the street car company officers was H. L. Rice, Milwaukee, vice-president. The car men's committee consisted of H. A. Straight, Peter Sieger, Charles Kanter, Edward Jones and Jerry Harms.

The agreement is a compromise reached after two meetings with the company officials. The men's first demand was for a raise of five cents an hour. The company countered last week with an offer of one cent advance. The men refused, rejoining with an offer to accept three cents. At the final meeting yesterday afternoon it was agreed to "split the difference."

Runs Indefinitely

The new wage will take effect June 21, when the present contract expires. The contract will hold good indefinitely, unless a demand for an increase is made by the men thirty days prior to June 21, 1917.

The raise effects both old and young employees. Men having worked six months are now receiving twenty-one cents per hour; men employed more than six months are getting twenty-two cents, and men employed more than a year are getting twenty-five cents. The wage scale now calls for twenty-three, twenty-four, and twenty-seven cents. Union leaders today declared themselves pleased with the amicable settlement of the matter. At no time, they said did they desire to have trouble with their employees.

LONDON, June 15.—Russian and German light squadrons met in a battle in the Baltic sea early Wednesday morning in which the Russians were victorious. The clash occurred near the Swedish coast.

A report of the engagement cabled from Copenhagen says the German auxiliary cruiser Koenig von Sachsen was sunk with all on board, while a German destroyer and twelve merchantmen which the German squadron were conveying, also were sunk. This dispatch says the Russians had six destroyers and several submarines and approached at such speed that the Germans were taken completely by surprise, and only fired one shot, then made for port in the utmost haste.

Convention Marks Time While Resolutions Committee Prepares Its Report

NO FIGHT ON VICE PRESIDENT

Potential Booms Deflated and Marshall Is Expected to Have No Opposition

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

COLISEUM, ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 15.—Democracy's nominees for the presidency and vice presidency will be named tonight. The national convention this afternoon agreed to the plan and may smash precedents by nominating before adopting the platform. Senator James declared this plan had been definitely determined upon, a great deal depending on whether the resolutions committee is ready to report. If the committee is ready, the platform probably will be quickly adopted ahead of nominations.

The renomination of President Wilson will be begun at 9 o'clock, with a speech by Judge Westcott of New Jersey. Seconding speeches will be limited to five minutes.

Following Wilson's nomination, John W. Kern will present to the convention the name of Thomas R. Marshall for vice president.

Today's session was a picturesque one. Senator James, Kentucky's huge senator, spoke another democratic keynote, and it was keynote of defiance; of boasts of President Wilson's successful maintenance of peace, and a profession of entire optimism that the people would perpetuate the Wilsonian policies.

James got almost as enthusiastic a reception as did the main keynote of the convention—ex-Governor Martin H. Glynn—in yesterday's session. The convention yelled repeatedly for a speech from William J. Bryan but at the first indication that he was being demanded the former secretary of state beat a hurried exit from his seat in the press stand.

If President Wilson in Washington pulled the strings which actuated the proceedings of the democratic national convention today, he did not bank them very hard. The convention met, got itself worked up into an enthusiastic state of mind by some good Cohen flag waving, "Old Glory" song singing and spread eagle oratory—without getting very much ahead on the long planned and perfectly perfunctory program of renominating President Wilson and Vice-president Marshall and fixing up a platform for them.

Work on Platform

The only real work done by the democrats was in the resolutions committee where the platform builders strove to put the finishing planks on the skeleton structure forwarded

WILSON GETS DOWN
CAMPAIGN PLANS

WASHINGTON, June 15.—President Wilson has decided to name Vance C. McCormick of Pennsylvania to manage his campaign. This information came today from unofficial sources generally accepted as reliable.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—President Wilson took personal charge today of the preliminaries of his fight for re-election. His first work was the immediate task of choosing his field general. With this end in view he had a long conference with Bernard Baruch of New York. The president will announce his decision probably Saturday.

In the meantime some of the president's advisers are trying to be a can to chances of Homer Cummings, present vice chairman of the national committee and mentioned to succeed McCormick of Pennsylvania for the job. McCormick, they argued, could corral a goodly number of progressive ballots.

Party leaders close to the president said today that the latter fully appreciates the coming campaign will be hot. He remembers the grilling fight Hughes made in his New York state battles. He is confident, however, of victory and his lieutenants are just as certain of success, provided the president goes out personally to lead the fight.

JONES WANTS MOOSE PLANKS

Madison Editor Boosts for Wilson and Urges Social Justice Declaration

BY A. M. BRAYTON

COLISEUM, ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 15.—Senator Paul O. Husting of Wisconsin this morning went before the sub-committee of the resolutions committee, to urge the adoption of a drastic plank assailing organizations that create agitation of unpatriotic nature. While the German-American alliance is not mentioned in terms, the direct application of the plank to it is inescapable. Mr. Husting's plank also condemns the presidential candidate and platform of the republican party for an alleged attempt to appeal to the votes of unpatriotic people and alliances.

At a meeting of the Wisconsin delegation this morning, it was decided to hold a convention in Wisconsin, either July 6 or July 12, as the chairman may decide, to make a declaration of principles, endorse candidates and urge the selection of strong men for legislative candidates. It is said here William F. Wolfe will have practically a unanimous endorsement for United States senator, notwithstanding the activity of Judge Karel's friends to have the La Crosse man switch to governor indicates "key" is still in the toga race. Wolfe positively will not be a candidate for governor.

The Husting plank is somewhat more vigorous than a similar plank by President Wilson. It was decided to adopt the Wilson plank with some points from Husting's. All during today's session there have been intermittent demonstrations for Bryan, frequently lasting several minutes. It appears the convention will not dare ignore the demand for a Bryan speech.

Correcting an oversight, the state central committee today named Herman Grothoforst, Baraboo, and G. H. White, River Falls, respectively upon notification of presidential and vice presidential nominees.

The Madison editor will urge the democratic committee on resolutions to draft a platform taking over the entire social welfare program of the progressives and will offer a plank providing for equal suffrage.

Working With Democrats

Jones, when seen in the press gallery of the democratic national convention on Wednesday, said he is working with the democratic platform makers, urging them to take over the social welfare program of the progressives in order that "the progressives who have been dynamited by their own leader may feel at home in the democratic party and support President Wilson." He referred to "Wilson as the greatest president since Lincoln."

Asked if he had become affiliated with the democratic organization, he replied emphatically "No." He said the democratic party of Wisconsin had done little or nothing. "Only its minority," said he, "have stood for the progressive policies that have given Wisconsin distinction." He referred to La Follette as "the most constructive statesman in America," and added, "I will work at all times to uphold his hands and fight for the progressive principles he represents."

South Far Behind

"The democratic party nationally," continued Jones, "is encumbered with the bourbon democracy of the south which is so far behind the times it can not see the president in the procession."

He said the woman's party meeting in Chicago was "saturated with inspiration and determination." He believes this organization is one that other political parties must reckon with, before he offered a plank which says:

PLANS ANNOUNCED
FOR FORMATION OF COMMERCE CHAMBER

Joint Committee of Civic Bodies After Prolonged Study Outlines Its System

PICK COMMITTEE OF FIFTY

New Chamber to Be Built Up About "Forward La Crosse" Board of Half a Hundred

PLAN WORKED OUT ELSEWHERE

Follows Commercial Organization Method Adopted by More Than 100 Progressive Cities

The long planned and much discussed movement for an amalgamation of the civic and commercial bodies of La Crosse into one centralized, systematized and permanent organization is now a reality.

Headquarters have been opened in the basement of the La Crosse club on North Fifth street and a campaign with very definite objects in view is well under way today.

To Merge All Activities

The thing aimed at is the creation of a modern Chamber of Commerce in which will be merged the Board of Trade, the Manufacturers and Jobbers' Association, the Retail Merchants' association and other organizations of similar character both in the city and vicinity. The new organization will be built along the lines generally recognized by commercial organization authorities as being the most efficient, business-like, democratic and permanent.

It will be patterned after the organization methods which have proved successful in more than 100 American cities during the past few years. It will be community wide in its scope and its activities will be so outlined that every member may find room for work for his city while representatives of every trade, profession and industry will be given voice.

The active steps looking toward the formation of the new and bigger organization were taken by a joint committee made up of representatives of the Board of Trade, the Manufacturers and Jobbers' association and the Retail Merchants' association and included A. L. Goetzmann, E. S. Dittman, John C. Burns, E. S. Heberd, A. H. Schubert, W. F. Hurligen, W. F. Goodrich, V. Tausche, D. W. MacWille and William F. Strauss.

Canvassed Needs

This committee before deciding on any definite plan made a canvass of the needs of La Crosse and then carefully investigated the methods and results of successful commercial organizations in various parts of the country. The committee's investigation was along conservative lines, and nothing was accepted which did not promise effectiveness and permanency.

The first step in the campaign for the Chamber of Commerce of La Crosse was the selection of a citizens' committee of some half hundred members to be known as the "Forward La Crosse Committee." This committee was finally selected last evening and its membership includes the following men:

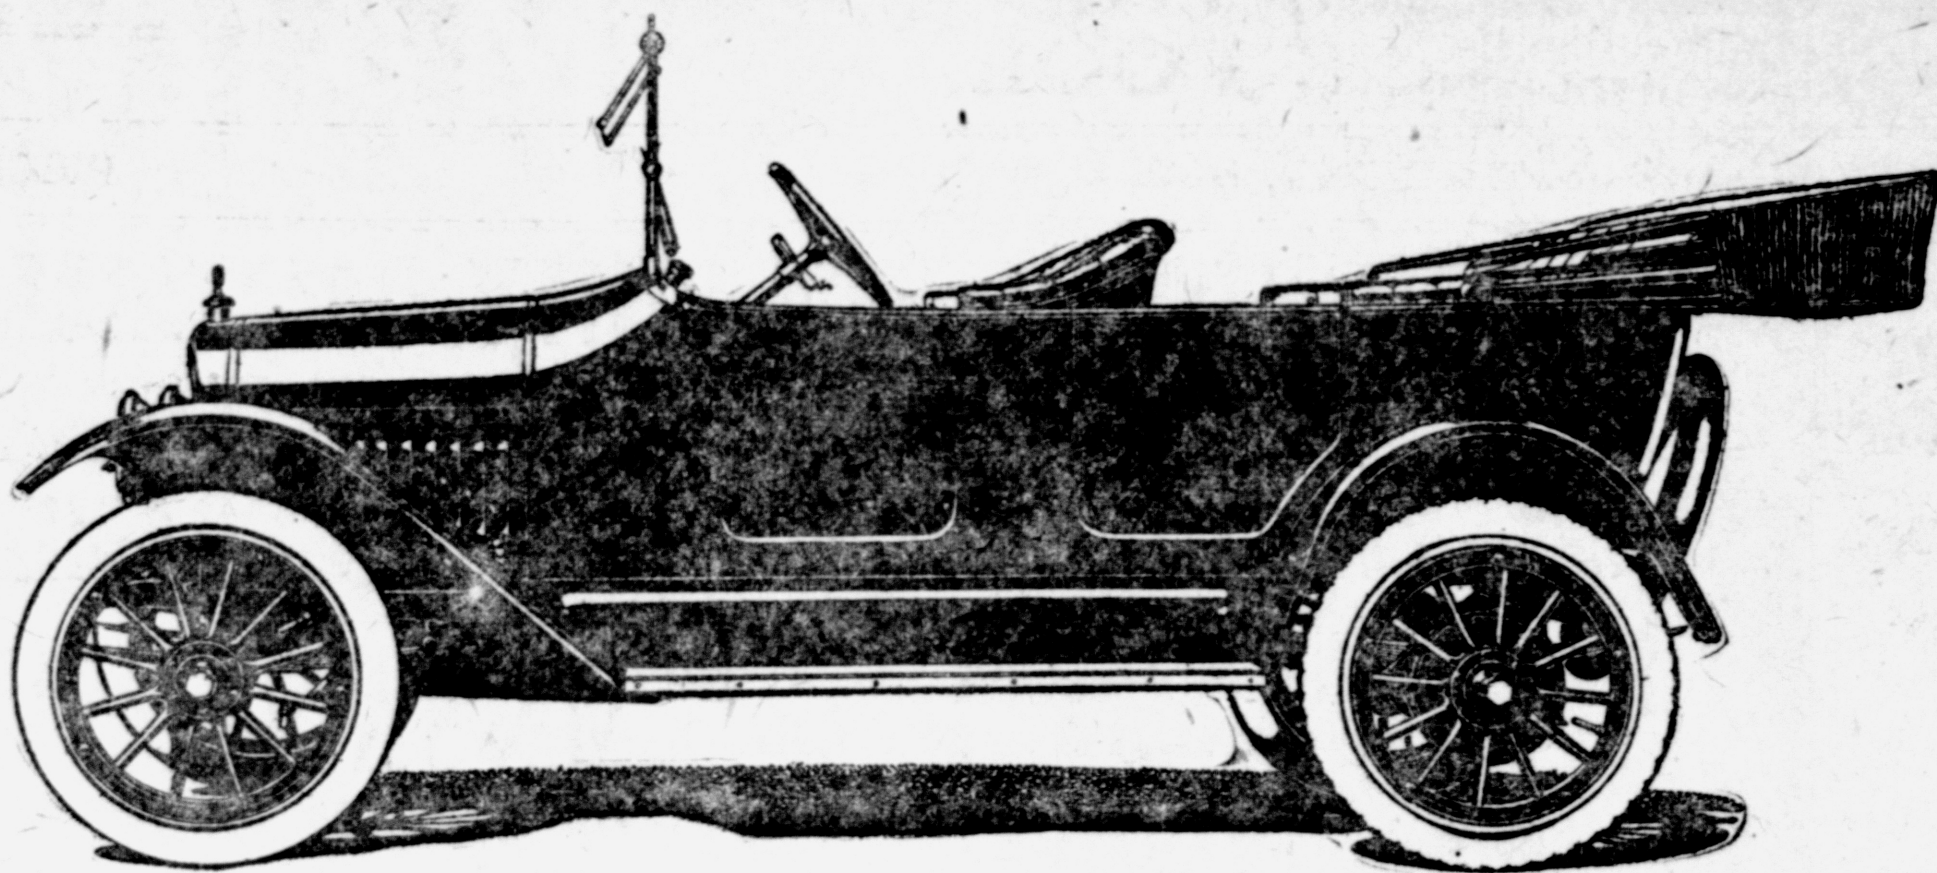

The Committee of Fifty

Frank P. Hixon, chairman; Arthur Holbek, L. C. Colman, Joseph J. Felber, F. W. Pimman, William Doerflinger, N. M. Scott, Harry Taggart, J. B. Murray, John Mulder, J. W. Boyer, Joseph P. Gohres, J. G. DuBraks, Dr. Edward Evans, Dr. George F. Hauser, F. P. Wenzel, W. F. Wolfe, E. M. Wing, B. C. Smith, Julius Burkhardt, H. J. Klave, Jr., Evald Olson, Dr. Carl Gunderson, George W. Burton, Carl Michel, John Weyhaupt, Colonel F. A. Copeland, M. Funk, J. S. Medary, A. Hirschelmer, Walter Hosely, Henry Gund, William Torrance, Will Ott, Henry A. Salzer, L. H. Martin, George Irvine, F. H. Burgess, R. B. Gelatt, George Gordon, Dr. W. A. Anderson, C. A. Boerner, Hon. J. J. Esch, William F. Gautsch, Wesley Dawson, James Thompson and Argyle Scott.

The campaign will be centered around these men and the effort has been in selecting this committee to make it fully representative of the entire community.

The campaign as it is being outlined will follow a very definite program and full detailed explanations

The Reputation of the Maxwell

“WHAT is the bore and stroke of your motor,” was asked a Maxwell owner not long ago.

“I don’t know,” he replied simply, “I don’t buy cars on figures any more. I buy them on what they’ve done.”

For this man, and for many others like him, it was enough that during the thirteen strenuous years the Maxwell record for performance, reliability and economy had swept it to the front.

Figures—engine speed figures, horse-power figures, wheel-base figures—they meant nothing to him. The name “Maxwell” carried more weight than all the technical description that could be offered.

Maxwell cars have achieved this great good will and this priceless position with the public only by their unequalled record of things done. What is said of an automobile in its specifications is one matter. What the car actually does in the hands of owners, year after year, is another matter.

The Maxwell car has won its position through sheer merit. It has set record after record in competition with cars of all prices and classes.

Everything considered, the Maxwell is the safe investment. It is a known, tried and proved product. It will serve you as it is serving and has served countless others.

Let us arrange for a demonstration today. You will be under no obligation. We want to give you a chance to convince yourself.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some La Crosse People Know How to Save It

Many La Crosse people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a La Crosse citizen's recommendation.

Miss Georgia Brown, 1402 Jackson St., La Crosse, says: “I had cutting backaches and pains that shot all through me. I also suffered from hard, dull headaches and I felt all run down. Doan's Kidney Pills gave me fine relief.”

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss Brown had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

BURGLAR ALARM THAT SHOTS

A new burglar alarm has lately been demonstrated which not only sounds a warning but discharges five blank cartridges as an additional means of frightening off the intruder. The device is fastened to the ceiling and may be in the entry or outside of the building as it is enclosed in a waterproof case. It is operated by an electric button concealed in a suitable place in the room likely to be robbed. When the button is pushed the bottom of the case drops down exposing the apparatus which consists of a four-inch gong and five forty-five caliber blank cartridges attached to a bar with firing pins operated by strong springs. Opening the door starts the clockwork which releases the spring and sends the alarm. The button may be so placed that it would be possible for a bank clerk to press it with his foot, if a burglar forced him to hold up his hands under cover of a revolver while his confederate attempted to get away with the money.

CATCH THE STEP

In the past two years the world has had many significant lessons on the value of organization. It has been borne home to the observant that in modern civilization organized efficiency is essential to progress and success. It is the realization of this truth that has aroused those interested in national power expressed in terms of physical force to the insistent campaign for "preparedness". There has come home to the United States, by way of the bloody object lessons in Europe, a realization that muddle and dis-union are much too flimsy supports to be trusted with the security of any community.

Whether the results of European "preparedness" demonstrate a need for the United States to adopt similar military measures is arguable. It is not arguable that the "preparedness" has proved highly efficient. Whether the result be good or ill, those nations which were most thoroughly organized have had the "edge" in the fighting. And what is true of military organization is as true of other community activities. There are more kinds of "preparedness" than that which contemplates slaughter.

The modern world is passing through a transitional stage. From the cataclysmic manifestations of the transition in Europe there will arise, economists agree, a new order. The flame of battle has fused European nations into a new solidarity. Their competitors must meet this new unity after the war with an equally consolidated front, or go down before it. To organize our economic, commercial and social forces now is preparedness for the industrial struggle which will follow the struggle of the battlefields. In that struggle there will be no neutrality.

This "preparedness" campaign comes to La Crosse in the movement which is launched today to consolidate the civic and commercial organizations of the city. Here, as in the community of communities of which we are a unit, efficient organization is the basis of progress and success. The old parable of the faggot comes to us now with renewed force. Singly, the city's organizations are brittle twigs. Together, they are unbreakable. Combination is the modern magic with which men, communities and nations are translating opportunity into concrete success. The world is marching to the tune of specialized and co-ordinated purpose. La Crosse must get the step or be trampled down.

WE HELP TO PAY THE COST OF WAR

The United States is profiting by the world war to a great degree. But it is also sharing in the tremendous cost. With no direct interest at stake, we are helping to bear the burden very directly. We are not paying for ships and munitions. We are paying for food for the refugees, for hospital supplies, for clothing and sheltering the destitute. The total money gifts from the United States, up to April 1 this year, reached a total of $23,740,342, according to figures given out by the officers of the Belgian Relief committee. This does not include the vast amount of work of various organizations and groups which have devoted labor and time to preparation of surgical supplies. That has never been estimated. It has simply been shipped out of the country to the front.

And we are by no means done paying. The calls upon our generosity come more and more frequently as the war-infection eats its way across new areas. To Belgium is added Poland, to Poland Serbia, to Serbia Armenia. The war-zone is an ever unsatisfied demand upon our humanity, a demand which promises to increase instead of diminish until the war ends—and after.

We have given much, but we have done little enough. The Federal Council of Churches of Christ has issued an illuminating statement in this connection. It says in part:

"The Belgian minister of finance stated recently that our country has given seven millions directly to Belgium. In other words only seven cents per capita; while New Zealand, bearing its own war burdens, has given a dollar and a quarter per capita to Belgian relief. England, staggering under the war load, has received and cared for thousands of Belgian refugees, and given millions of pounds beside.

"It was thought that the United States, the only great nation untouched by the war, might furnish the food supplies for Belgium, but the commission was obliged to ask food from the whole world to save Belgium from starvation. It must be remembered also that the gifts to Belgium from our country include the large contributions from our philanthropic foundations, so that the total of popular contributions is smaller than it appears.

"The American Serbian Relief committee has raised about $260,000. The British Serbian Relief committee three months ago had raised a million and a half pounds ($7,500,000) and France two million francs ($400,000).

"To the Armenians we have given about $1.00 for each suffering, covering the entire period, and this is largely money from two or three large givers. It has not touched our people as a whole."

It may be said, of course, that the sufferings of this war are much more directly the business of Europe, since it is their struggle. The United States does not escape its duty by that sort of sophistry. The war-burden that falls upon us is preponderantly the care of the innocent sufferers who have no part in the cause or the prosecution of the struggle. They are only crushed by it. While we accept the prosperity that began with war-orders, we may not evade the general responsibility of humanity.

and Wanton Wiles

Not to be Outdone
To test the safety of the church steeple a country vicar climbed it with a scaling ladder—a feat requiring no small amount of nerve.

He was proud of his achievement and at a meeting of his parishioners described with a wealth of detail his feelings while aloft.

"When I reached the top and saw the huge golden weathercock gleaming in the sunlight, what do you think I did?" he asked.

An old farmer, who looked the picture of boredom, hazarded a guess. "You cheated the weathercock," he said.

"What do you mean, sir?" sharply demanded the vicar.

"Why, you did it out of the job of crowing," the farmer replied.

A Hunting Expedition
One night a pretty young matron was sitting in a moving picture theater with a young friend when a young woman came in and took a seat beside her.

"Why, Bessie," wonderingly exclaimed the young matron, recognizing the newcomer, "what in the world are you doing here alone?"

"I'm looking for a husband, dear," was the quiet response of the other.

"A husband!" exclaimed the first, full of perplexity. "Why, you have a husband!"

"Yes," sweetly smiled Bessie. "That is the one I am looking for."

A Long Day
John was grieving because he had no gift for his mother's birthday, relates the Knickerbocker Press.

"Do not quarrel with little sister all day," suggested grandmother.

"That would be the best gift she could have," John agreed.

"Can't you see how much mother enjoyed your gift, John?" asked grandmother at night. "Why don't you do this every day?"

John drew a breath that came from his very boots.

"I'd rather die, grandma, than live like this every day!" he said fervently.

The Resourceful Gardener
"Have you a vegetable garden?"

"I started it as such. But since the chickens and insects have gotten busy, I have decided to call it a zoological garden."

Entertaining the Neighbors
"I understand that Mrs. Flubdub entertained some of her neighbors informally yesterday."

"Yes; she and her cook had a quarrel on the front porch."—Kansas City Journal.

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE

(By Nilsab)

CHICAGO
Chicago is unique among American cities in a score of ways. Unique first of all in its Americanism; for from Washington southward our great cities are southern; from Kansas City westward they are western, until you come to Los Angeles and San Francisco, which are Californian, and ill-starred is he who calls them anything else; New York is New York; but Chicago is American.

She is American in her bigness and her atmosphere of hustle. The first impression that you get of the Windy City is that everybody has half an hour's work to do in the next fifteen minutes. After a while it becomes so evident, however, that Chicago hurries because she likes to. She really has plenty of time.

She rushes about in the spirit of the commuter who sprints for the 7:13 local in order to get to the office twenty minutes ahead of time to sit with his feet on the desk and read the morning paper twice over.

New York is in a hurry, too, of course; but the New York rush is quite distinct from the Chicago bustle. It is the rush that five men make when there are only three places left at the breakfast table. It is the hurry that comes from an over-high pressure of the modern struggle, a genuine spirit of "get on or get out."

Chicago dashes ahead as five men dash for a breakfast table with seven empty places, simply because they are feeling energetic and like to dash.

All the sights of Chicago are almost as familiar to the average American, from personal visit or reading or hearsay, as the sights of his own home town. The loop and Michigan avenue and the stockyards are as much national institutions as the capitol. It is the spirit of Chicago that has never been put on paper.

Every foreign visitor of note who visits our shores writes a book about us and spends half a dozen chapters circling around the question with indifferent success. The problem has been handled sociologically, analytically, romantically, impressionistically, and the only points where our visitors agree are in stating that Chicago is the most American of cities, and that somehow, whether they come from France or Sweden or India, she seems to remind them of home.

An American Romance

"Be still," he breathed, but no one was moving. Then I heard him mutter: "You little thing—what did you come here for?"

"I wanted to be sure. There was no one here, you see."

And I grasped that she had stolen out of the isle to look after his black monster, to see, for some reason, that no harm came to it from the baron's renegades.

Then he also understood. He even paused in that grim slow work that meant her life or death. "You see," he went on, "I'd thrust my right arm in this cog—only it wouldn't stop anything for a second."

And she nodded. "I've been watching it for a long time. The little wheel, there, the steel kept crumbling on that cog—I could just see it while the big thing swung and swung. Then it stopped."

We saw him wipe her blood from the back of his hand across his brow; and she stared down at it. It was hurting horribly, the slow twist of even that delayed weight across her foot—and then Virgil had worked his stout bar into the chain link, the end of it through a step of the ladder; and with the other end across his shoulder was rising from the steps below—rising and bending his back under the weight, straining, with great gasps for breath, until the iron rungs were buckling under him.

Clell had come below him. But there was no room for two. Again it was a man's size job—for one. We waited in that dusk, the Texan rising powerfully under his short lever, and the girl staring down at him, her hands down to his shoulders by her skirt. In that stillness we heard presently a mere clank. Then as his straining breath came shorter, a soft jar—and the chain had slipped back safely upon the broken tooth. And he stood up looking at her, his wide gray hat off, the sweat upon the pallor of his brow.

"You little thing," he muttered, "you never knew, did you?"

"Yes," she answered simply. "all the time. When your bat touched the dredge I wondered if it would jar the chain off. I didn't want to call. I—I couldn't call you—I just wondered."

"Wondered? You would have died here tonight—when that cog crumbled under the bucket's weight. Do you know?"

She had hopped a step away as he helped her down. Then, quite free of him, she put a hand to the engine-room door frame and laughed.

"I know. And I wondered. What you-all would say. The Yankees, they could tell. 'No mo' she fight us fo' the little isle. The big machine has killed her.'"

The boss turned from the place. Her blood was on his hands and he wiped it across the derrick beam. Mary had come to her.

"You're hurt, my dear—where?"

The mistress of the isle looked on like a crippled bird. "Not much—my foot is cut, maybe. In the cypress, once, a tree blew down across my pirogue, and I slashed my way out with my knife. But this—yes, it hurts—and I am much obliged."

And looking at us and then the Texan in some confusion she repeated: "I'm very much obliged."

wondered what it was like up there to sit and swing the crane and watch the black jaws grind the life out of the little flowers and grasses. So, I only touched it—so—and it fell and caught me."

The boss was looking quietly at her; she would let none touch her bruised foot—a bit of her old blithe defiance had returned.

"To-morrow," Virgil muttered, "you come, and you'll see it work. Outside—" he beckoned down the channel. "Outside, the's a hundred men and two mo' machines—the canal is goin' clean to the sea. You—you can't stop us now, fo' you see—we won't."

There was no need to say what he meant. I could see her white face framed by the dark hair all disarranged, set mute and grave. Then quietly she spoke, but as if considering the iron repression in his voice and not his words.

"You understand, don't you?"

"Oh, yes. You mean we lost our island?"

"We won," he went on steadily. "I told you long ago!"

She sat quietly back upon the girder. I had thought some great grief, an outcry would be hers, or a passionate rebellion and defiance to him, the courts, the law and officers. She had held them in contempt so long, trusted so implicitly.

"I don't believe we lost our island. The baron, always he say we can not lose our island. M'sieu, you are much mistaken."

Virgil turned in grim despair to us. "You see that, Doctor Dick?"

"Mademoiselle, it's very true," I began. "The Supreme Court—"

"Oh, damn the court!" Clell broke in hotly. "Can't you see she's hurt, and all shaken up without this? It was no time to tell her." He had gone to Laure, but she held him off with a gesture that showed all of us she wished to see Virgil's face clear.

"M'sieu, you have nev' been a very bad man befo'." She dropped back gently into her island patois. "Pa-pa Prosper, at the first he like yo'—always—always. He say: 'Dis gentleman, Laure, nev' he unkind lak a cou't.' And I, m'sieu," she stopped, while we waited for her to go on. "Ah, well, my little island! Why should it shine in the sun so? and be so green and with the shells so white and with the lilies drifting, if they going to cut it up? Le Bon"

NEWS NOTES from MOVIELAND

Who is the prettiest girl in moving pictures? This question has been discussed a great many times, and apparently there is no unanimity of opinion. Many give the honor to Clara Kimball Young; others vote for Lillian Gish; still others think that Anita Stewart deserves first honors. In spite of these strong contestants Lila Chester has won more than one beauty contest. One of her most recent photographs is shown herewith. Judge for yourself.

Do You Know That:
Alice Brady is just entering her twenties.

Jesse Lasky is not yet 35. Marcus Loewe built a $1,000,000 theater on his birth site.

Censorship has never thrived where censors are paid by the state. Ivy Close is the most popular English screen star.

Thomas W. Lawson wrote "Friday the 13th" for World Film.

A camera has photographed objects six miles away. It is almost impossible to photograph the eyes of a cat.

House Peters always wanted to be an outlaw until he grew up—then he became an actor.

A mirror screen has been invented which allows daylight photoplay projection.

Universal will put "L'Abbe Constantin" in pictures. It will be produced by Rupert Julian and the cast will include Mr. Julian, Louise Loveley, Elsie Jane Wilson and Douglas Gerard.

Lenore Ulrich, on the stage this spring in "The Heart of Wexona," has left for Los Angeles to appear in more film plays. Her last film-play was the Mexican romance, "The Heart of Paula."

Ivy Close, prize winner in an international beauty contest, has arrived from England to appear in Dieu-neve' fo' that He make things beautiful.

"I reckon we can make it more beautiful," the Texan said with a curious humbleness, "if you'd only believe so."

She listened with rare attentiveness. Again Mary wanted to bandage that limping foot of hers with the hem of her skirt, and again Laure refused; and would not even take Clell's arm to her little green canoe that swung alongside.

"I don't believe," she murmured. "The baron he say—oh, this very day, he say: 'La Marquise, nev' you lose yo' little island.'"

"You've lost," Virgil said gently. "And it's as hard fo' me as you'd began the fight. Only you'd nev' let me say so. Only you couldn't see!"

She looked at him in some confused respect that I could not fathom. And as she moved away she repeated in her quaint sincerity:

"To you, m'sieu, I am very much obliged. Fo' saving my life. That was very fine. But me—I'm going now. Anyway."

"Away?"

"To Monsieur le Baron. Always I trust him most. Nev' he care fo' money. Always, he say, does Monsieur le Baron. 'Fo' fair ladies I fight with my long sword mademoiselle—but nev' fo' money as Yankees do.' Like a knight—only he so fat."

"He would fight for his beer," I murmured, "as any proper knight would do." But she did not hear me, and went down into her little green pirogue, and sent it off in the star-dusted canal between the shadowy cane masses. We were left staring after her in some helplessness; and when her clear voice came again out of the dusk we had no answer.

"Fo' my life, m'sieu—I very much obliged."

CHAPTER XVI
The Big Hide-up

I was awakened the next morning in the grimy little bunk-house on Williams' dredge by the grind of some heavier body against her timbers, and then the scuffle of feet, cries and orders. Clell, who had a bed across from me was already out from his mosquito bar, and when I went to the work-deck I discovered that the steamboat was alongside with the oil-barge, and that men were already swarming off with a stage to unload the stuff for the repair of Williams' machine. The Texan himself stood watching the operations,

Big Jim grinned and at once evolved a sulphuric pantomime for his wops. The skilled mechanics were already looking over the wreck of the hoisting gear. "I reckon it's no place fo' ladies," went on the boss.

GOLDEN WEDDINGS

Reception for Mr. and Mrs. Porter

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Porter

were guests of honor at a reception

tendered them by members of the

First Methodist church and other

friends and relatives at the parlors

of the church last evening, in observance of their golden wedding anniversary.

There were upwards of one hundred people present to offer congratulations and good wishes to the bride and groom of fifty years ago.

The parlors presented an attractive

appearance decorated with yellow

flowers and ferns. Instrumental music was furnished by the Misses

Florence Adams and Jennie and

Frances Dixon, and Mrs. Thompson,

daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Porter,

gave a vocal solo. Mrs. A. W. Schall

gave a reading, "An Old Sweetheart

of Mine!" A short address was given by Rev. E. C. Dixon, in the course of which he presented the golden

wedding couple with a purse of gold.

Refreshments were served following

the program. Among those present were two daughters of Mr. and Mrs.

Porter, Mesdames Colby and Thompson,

the latter accompanied by her husband and two children.

Lehnens Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lehnens, 1222

South Sixth street, entertained at a family dinner at the Stoddard hotel

last evening, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage.

The table decorations were of yellow and white. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Noll and

Anaheim, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. F. J.

Noetzel and son Delbert, Mr. and

Mrs. A. Loeffler and Miss Elizabeth

Lehnens, all four of the ladies

being daughters of Mr. and Mrs.

Lehnens. Two other daughters and a handsome reception yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bentley,

112 South Eleventh street. About one hundred and seventy-five guests

Mrs. Carlos C. Rowleson and Mrs.

Gus F. Sexauer were in general

charge of the parlors, while presiding in the dining room was Mrs.

Leonard Kleber. Mrs. Albert W.

Schall served the salad and Mrs.

Frank E. Davis presided at the coffee urn. These ladies were assisted by the Misses Ruth Esch, Lucile

Cowles and Nina Pelton. In the ice

cream room Mrs. Harvey A. Green

Nelson, Hazel Bentley and Marie

Phillips. The Misses Anne Phillips

and Anna Bradfield did the honors at the punch bowl. Miss Ida Mae

Bentley admitted the guests.

The decorations, which were exceptionally beautiful and artistic,

were the work of Miss Mary Anne

Phillips, of Beacon, Iowa, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Reay. The reception rooms were in green and

red. Suspended in the connecting doorway was a beautiful basket filled with syringas and vases and baskets of the same fragrant flowers

and others of gorgeous red peonies

were displayed about the rooms.

Ferns occupied the corners, and the

ensemble was a pretty one.

Pink and green constituted the

color scheme in the dining room and

the ice cream room. An exquisite

pink rose petal centerpiece occupied

the center of the serving table and

garlands of pink roses draped the sides of the cloth. The curtains were lowered and from the chandelier,

shaded with pink rosebuds and en-

twinced with smilax, there was shed

over the scene a soft pink glow.

Graceful baskets and vases of pink

roses and peonies were placed about

was placed upon the screened porch.

Music was provided during the afternoon by a Victrola, which was provided by Leithold. The ferns

were furnished and placed by Hae-bich, the florist.

ALUMNI BANQUET AT THE

HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY NIGHT

Alumni of the La Crosse high school planning to attend the annual banquet and ball of the Alumni association at the high school Friday

night, who have not yet signified

their intention, are asked to communicate at once with Miss Helen

Dorset—New phone 865-C—in order

that necessary arrangements may be made.

A feature of this year's program

ner in the song contest and the presentation of the prize. The winning composition will be rendered by a mixed quartet consisting of Miss Stella Trane, Mrs. Robert C. Whelpley and the Messrs. Harry Marshall and Carroll Robb. The boys' chorus of the high school will render another of the songs entertained in the contest, which received honorable mention.

Arthur T. Holmes of the law firm of Morris & Hartwell, will be toastmaster at this year's function and the following program has been arranged:

Echoes of '86—Rev. George Herbert Ten Broeck, Austin, Minnesota.

Solo—Miss Stella Trane.

Great 1916—Earl Hirschheimer.

Report of high school song contest and presentation of prize—Mrs. Harry M. Curtis, chairman of song contest committee.

Prize song—Quartet.

President's Farewell Address—Miss Helen Dorset.

Song—Boys' chorus.

The banquet will take place in the new lunch room of the high school, which is larger and more convenient than was the old one. The ball immediately follows the banquet and will be held in the Hixon annex.

The grand march will be led by Thad Brindley and Mrs. J. W. Losey and Mr. and Mrs. B. E. McCormick. The Messrs. Tad Brindley and Wilbur Holcomb are in charge of the dance program.

OBSERVE FLAG DAY

Flag day was observed by the members of the D. A. R. yesterday in their usual fashion with a meeting at the home of Miss Mildred Marsh at Dresbach. Thirty of the members were present and the trip to the cottage was made in the Otto launch, leaving the city at half-past ten o'clock. A picnic dinner was served on the lawn of the Marsh residence and in the afternoon a special business meeting of the chapter was held. The party returned to the city at six o'clock.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Dagny Senstad, 1336 George street, was pleasantly surprised by a party of friends Saturday evening in observance of her sixteenth birthday anniversary. The meeting was spent in playing games and refreshments were served at eleven o'clock.

Those present were the Misses Marcella Bice, Leona Lee, Lena Elsen, Elise Riek, Christine Merveld, Irene Sorenson, Inga Graf, Mildred Haugen, Edna Lehman, Lydia Senstad and Verna and Margaret Senstad. The hostess was presented with a handsome signet ring.

PORCH PARTY FOR BRIDE

Mesdames E. Olson and Alexander Ambrosius entertained at a kitchen shower for Miss Lucinda Campbell last week at the home of the former. The guests, twenty-four in number, were entertained on the screened porch, which was attractively decorated for the occasion.

BIRTHDAY MEETING

The Mothers' Circle of the First Presbyterian church held their quarterly birthday meeting at the church parlors yesterday afternoon, at which approximately sixty ladies were present. The members having birthdays in March, April or May were guests of honor and were seated at a specially decorated table. A program, consisting of an instrumental solo by Miss Ione Nottingham, a reading by Miss Georgia Pease and vocal music by Miss Marian Zust, was much enjoyed by the ladies. It being Flag Day, the program was brought to a fitting close by the singing of patriotic songs in which all joined.

The birthday guests included the Mesdames Albert Roberge, D. C. Jones, William Reid, J. Bleser, George Bedessem, D. F. Nottingham, George Harris, Agnes Eastwood, A. C. Millington, J. F. Zust and Arthur Foster.

SURPRISE MISS GANSCHOW

Miss Ada Ganschow, retiring secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was last evening tendered a surprise party at the association by a party of house girls and others who take their meals at the association. There were twenty-four present and all were served at one long table instead of at the smaller tables as customary. The table was decorated with the national colors in accordance with the spirit of Flag Day, and the place cards were small paper soldier hats topped with a miniature flag. Miss Ganschow was presented with a fumed oak chair to match her writing desk.

Those present were the Misses Ganschow, Ella Woerpel, Minnie Millard, Gwendolyn Dawson, Margaret Gilbertson, Edna Campbell, Florence Reysen, Harriet Buell, Margaret McCarthy, Catheryn Chambers, Lillian Dachtelner, Esther Von der Ohe, Lois Wilder, Agnes Lindas, Anna Bicha, Sophia Knudson, Maud Ahlstrom, Clara Zastrow, Elsie Peterson, Barbara Leisgang, Vernice Roberts, Agnes Sparling and Cora Bangsberg and Mrs. Mary Dawson.

PARTY AT Y. W. C. A.

A number of the operators of the La Crosse Telephone company are being entertained at supper at the Y. W. C. A. this evening.

DAHL-JUNEAU

Miss Lillian Juneau and Joseph A. Dahl, both of La Crosse, were married by Rev. O. C. Myrhe at the parsonage of the United Lutheran church, Madison Court, at half-past seven o'clock last evening. The attendants were Miss Verna Bowen and Bernard Dahl. Mr. and Mrs. Dahl will make their home in the city.

FERRIES-DOTT

Miss Winifred J. Dott of Norwalk and Vilas W. Ferries of Wilton were united in marriage by Rev. D. C. Jones at three o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cunitz, 1027 South Fifth street. They were attended by Miss Elsie M. Cunitz and Verne Dott. Dinner was served following the ceremony. The couple will make their home in Wilton, where Mr. Ferries is the owner of a prosperous farm.

BETHANY CENTER ACTIVITIES

The young ladies' gymnasium class of Bethany Center had its last meeting of the season Monday evening, the meeting taking the form of a party for the teachers, Misses Helen MacMiller and Cora Johnstad, who have been attending the normal school and who are leaving this week for their homes in Ashland. The evening was spent in music and games. About twenty-five girls were present.

The Faowa Camp Fire Council of Bethany Center had its monthly outdoor meeting Tuesday afternoon at Myrick park. The girls attended the kindergarten fete and enjoyed a picnic supper.

Miss Schick wishes to announce to the little girls in the neighborhood of the center that, although school has closed, the sewing classes will be continued at the center. Those who have been too busy during the winter with their school work will be welcomed now; new girls are enrolling every week. There are classes in crocheting, mending, plain sewing and kindergarten weaving which even the four-year-olds are enjoying. Those interested are invited to come to the center some Wednesday afternoon at half-past three and see what is going on. The address is 1412 South Ninth street.

A sewing class was recently organized on the north side and now has an enrollment of thirty regular members. The class meets every Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at the Tabernacle Baptist church, corner Clinton and Avon streets, and is open to all little girls on the north side. The work taught is very popular with the members and will be continued during the summer months.

MASK PARTY

One of the most enjoyable events of Commencement Week at the La Crosse high school was the mask party of the seniors, the first of its kind to be held at the local school, at the Hixon annex last night. Everyone, including the faculty, was masked and a gaudy array of costumes was presented. The gymnasium was decorated with flags. After a grand march in which the maskers displayed themselves, a funeral dirge was played and the faculty marched to their places at the end of the gym where a most entertaining program was given, consisting of music by members of the class and faculty and a number of eulogies to the departing pedagogues. Ice cream and cake were served, followed by a short dancing program.

MRS. BEYER SURPRISED

Mrs. Adolph Beyer was taken by surprise Thursday evening when a party of friends arrived at her home, 1317 Ferry street, to help her celebrate her birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in games and cards and lunch was served at half-past ten o'clock. Those present were the Messrs. and Mesdames Herman Kohlmeier, John Jahmiak, George Kohlmeier, Joseph Miller, Joe Kindhammer, Emil Johnson, Charles Gollnick and Adolph Beyer, Mrs. August Beyer and the Misses Rosie Miller, Lydia Beyer and Annie Kindhammer.

PICNIC

To celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mr. Alfred James, a picnic has been planned to be held at Myrick park this afternoon. Those who are expected to attend include Mr. and Mrs. Alfred James, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Egbert, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Brindley and son Jack, Mrs. James McCord and niece, Miss Marie Herbert, Miss Jennie Brindley and Frances and Jessie Egbert.

TODAY'S AID TO BEAUTY

An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt, can easily be made at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. Pour slowly on scalp and massage briskly. This creates a soothing, cooling lather. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After a canthrox shampoo arranging the hair is a pleasure.

Keeps Graduates Busy;
Banquet and Ball
Close the Day

The numerous events at the normal school yesterday in connection with graduation were pulled off in rapid succession.

First came the class day exercises at 2:30 in the afternoon and with it the presentation of the lally or the racquet as the official emblem of the school by the senior class to the juniors.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Mr. A. T. Torge, assistant secretary of state during 1907-1911, and for several years a member of the republican state central committee, formally announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for secretary of state yesterday. His statement follows:

"Numerous progressive republicans throughout the state, who believe generally in a two term policy for state officers have suggested that I become a candidate for the republican nomination for secretary of state at the September primary.

"My five years experience as assistant secretary and intimate familiarity with the duties of the office, together with the generous offers of support seem to warrant my candidacy for the nomination at this time."

Mr. Torge is at present actively engaged in the practice of law at Madison, and is associated with L. E. Gettle. He was born in Dane county is 46 years of age, and of Norwegian parentage.

"So De Actor took part in the entertainment. Did he get any encores?" "No; only apple cores."

The parade pageant, made up of floats, companies of costumed marchers and horsemen; outdoor performances, given on selected sites, usually pertaining to history or some long succession of events, and outdoor entertainments in which a series of related scenes are presented to depict a specific theme, such as a people's fight for liberty, the progress of science or the growth of education, and so forth.

Must be Accurate

While the province of the pageant is to entertain, its purpose is to educate. By no other means, except perhaps the motion picture, may history be so indelibly impressed upon the mind and here the pageant is superior to the motion picture in that it reproduces color. Each act is planned with a close observance to color and detail, since it has been proved by bitter experience that the audience is sometimes only too well educated on such features. The choice of neatly shaved side whiskers for the role of an Apache in one pageant created a great deal of untimely amusement in the audience during one exceptionally pathetic scene, and the use of a German emblem in a Spanish scene another time nearly caused a riot among some Spanish students witnessing the production.

In order that absolute accuracy may be insured the participants are required to do quantities of research work in looking up the customs and clothing of the different characters, all of which is quite as educative to the actor as to his audience. So great has been the rise of the pageant in the last few years that a new profession has been called into being—that of the pageant director. When a community decides to give an elaborate pageant these days, it turns the author's manuscript over to a paid director, who stages the production as carefully as does the average manager on a legitimate circuit. In view of the eccentricities of amateur talent, the director's job is not always enviable. A professional actress watching a director battling with a chorus of local debutantes for over an hour, turned to one of the performers and exclaimed, "Oh, the martyrdom of directing amateurs!" "Yes", agreed the young performer, "You see, he can't swear at us the way they do at you professionals."

Hillside Ideal Site

The ideal site for the outdoor stage is at the foot of a hillside, which forms an attractive background and a sounding board by which the voices are thrown forward. A splendid example of this is the grove of the Bohemian club in California, where the stage is thus situated and framed by the trunks of large redwood trees. A small imperceptible trail leads up the steep acclivity, by which the performers make their entrance, concealed until the last moment by the dense growth of shrubs and trees. At the front of this large natural amphitheater is a pit in which the orchestra, numbering over fifty pieces, plays through the program. The pageants of the Bohemian club take place at night and the stage is illuminated with electrical apparatus constructed for the purpose.

In Lexington, where a pageant was given commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of peace between the British and the Minute Men, the site chosen was one of beautiful natural scenery, and the artificial preparations took months to build. This pageant was also given at night, and at the front of a smooth lawn stage eight hundred feet deep by nearly twice the size in width was a trench containing a steam curtain apparatus. A curtain of steam rose after the conclusion of each act, and on this searchlights played, creating a film of iridescent mist. The first time it rose, a company of symbolic dancers was disclosed; then came the Indians paddling their canoes on a lake, which was part of the stage; next came the settlers, occupied with spinning wheels, axes, and guns; followed by symbolic founding of Lexington in the New England wilderness, the ride of Paul Revere and the Battle of the Minute Men. After this, the Goddess of Peace gave a picturesque dance and the red coat and the Minute Man stood united under an olive branch.

The St. Louis Pageant

In the St. Louis pageant of 1914, the spotlight played a large part in the effects obtained in the huge amphitheater erected on the slopes of Art Hill. This pageant and masque was given as an experiment in municipal drama and proved a great success in demonstrating the various social strata of St. Louis, which in attempting to play together found that they could do better work together for the greatest civic glory of their city. Here the southwestern European showed his worth, and now St. Louis does not listen to any disparaging comparisons between the immigrants from the north and those from the south of Europe. The Italian histrionic ability is asserted to be every bit as great as the Celtic, and their enthusiastic appreciation of the acting of Thomas Jefferson and other signers of the Declaration of Independence convinced the actors, at least, of their superior judgment and intelligence. As a democratic influence, great things are hoped of the community pageant.

The most ambitious and daring prophecy of the ultimate field of the pageant is that which sees in it a substitute for war. Well-known authorities on pageants point out that only by satisfying the dramatic instinct of the people, by allowing them to take part in a national theatrical demonstration whose theatrical values are comparable with those of war will they be content with peace. The color of the material uniforms, the glory of the medals, the honor for bravery and self-sacrifice—all those things are to be annually experienced by the populace who in a tremendous pageant will gratify

WILSON CHALLENGES HYPHENATE TO BEAT HIM AT THE POLLS

WASHINGTON, June 15. —President Wilson yesterday afternoon issued a practical challenge to the hyphenates of this country to defeat him in the forthcoming election. Standing in the shadow of the great monument to the first president, and addressing one of the largest crowds ever assembled at Flag day exercises here, the president declared that a small but very active body of foreign born "disloyalists" were attempting a species of blackmail in connection with the coming election.

UNCLE SAM TO TAKE BIRD CENSUS

WASHINGTON, June 15.—When Mr. Robin Red Breast and Mr. Robert Thrush swing on the branches near their homes, enjoying the spring breeze and singing and bragging this month, census enumerators from the United States bureau of biological survey will count them.

A really accurate count of a bird population can be made by one bird-lover going over a sixty or eighty-acre unit, says the bureau.

The females, busy with spring housework are often missed; but it's a scientific fact that the males are so swaggy and conspicuous that it is hard for a counter to miss them.

So the method to be employed in this census—the survey's third—is to count the males of each species, and then multiply by two to get the total.

The survey is calling for volunteer hunters. Especially it wants data on the fruit districts of the Pacific coast and the south Atlantic and gulf states.

Reports are wanted, too, on mountain, prairie and semi-arid regions. It doesn't ask expert knowledge.

If bird lovers will take a walk over the fields just as the sun is getting up, they'll find every bird worth counting in any sort of census singing, the bureau further advises.

This is a prelude to an extensive campaign to persuade the country that when a bird is killed, the nation loses an asset.

MILWAUKEE ROAD FINISHES WORK OF BIG FLOOD

Within Eleven Days Ten Miles of Track Has Been Rebuilt in Vicinity of McGregor

MCGREGOR, Iowa, June 15.—(Special.)—With one thousand men on the job the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company in the remarkably short space of eleven days has rebuilt the ten miles of grade and track and the fourteen bridges which were swept away in the flood of Bloody Run at North McGregor the night of June 2, and passenger service has been resumed over the Iowa and Dubuque division. The trains necessarily run very slowly and the big force of men will be kept at work for some time before anything like the old efficiency is restored.

No freight trains will be sent over the line for some days yet. The little frame depot at Beulah which was swept some distance down the ravine and landed "right side up with care" on the other side of the tracks is said to be so much better located as it stands now that the site selected for it by the flood will be retained permanently. The little depot has title to fame on two counts. It has been buffeted about by two floods and within its walls the railroad chief, W. C. Brown, who not long since retired as president of the New York Central and came to Iowa to be a farmer, took his start in his railroad career. It would be difficult to find a station located in a more lonely yet more picturesque spot.

JOSEPHINE OUTCAST AMONG GIRLS WHO STOOD BY MARIAN

COURT ROOM, WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 15.—Lake Forest high school girls, members of the "eighteen bunch" and chums of Marian Lambert, came to Will Orpet's trial for Marian's murder today, ready to controvert the testimony of Josephine Davis that Marian was despondent on her eighteenth birthday.

Josephine was an outcast among the "bunch" today. Her former chums say she had sworn to preserve Marian's reputation but that now she has shattered it by her testimony. The "bunch" were ready to tell the jury that Marian did cry a little bit at her birthday party, four days before she was found in Helms woods—but that this was because one of the party couldn't spend the night at Marian's home, and that the crying spell was brief and followed by laughter.

Significance attached by counsel for Orpet to questions regarding the glove and handkerchief found in Helms woods beside Marian's body prompted the theory today that the defense counts upon these two articles to clear Orpet.

It was hinted today that the defense would seek to show that analysis of Marian's glove and handkerchief would show traces of cyanide of potassium indicating that Marian had brought the poison to Helms woods herself.

De Facto Disintegrating
WASHINGTON, June 15.—Evidence in the hands of administration officials tending to show gradual disintegration of the Carranza de facto government continued to pile up today.

This evidence was contained in consular reports to the state department and private advices to members of the army general staff from officers and civilians in Mexico.

Hope for Best
All these messages carrying reports of shaky economic conditions, led officials to believe that the next few weeks may see developments which shall spell either a complete crumbling of the Carranza government or a decided change for the better.

Officials today believed the first chief's government now is passing through its most difficult period.

Final Draft Completed
President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing today went over the final draft of this government's reply to the Carranza demands for withdrawal of American troops from Mexico.

The note was practically completed Monday, but because of the administration's desire to make this country's attitude absolutely plain to the public of both countries, the president, it was learned, wanted again to discuss it with his secretary of state.

NORMAL GRADUATES WARNED AGAINST SCHOOL TRADITION

Minnesota Educator Tells Class That Mediaeval Custom Dominates Education

Record-breaking Class Hears Address and Receives Diplomas This Morning

The weight of mediaeval custom and tradition directs education in obsolete channels, Dr. L. D. Coffman of the University of Minnesota told the graduating class of the La Crosse normal school this morning at the commencement exercises held in the school auditorium. Two hundred eleven diplomas were presented by President F. A. Cotton. The class is the largest in the school's history, being almost half of the school's total enrollment.

Dr. Coffman's address was a plea for progress in education. He urged the prospective teachers to refuse to be dominated by custom.

"The period of war in history," Dr. Coffman said, "is a time of retrogression, while a period of tranquility is a period of progress." He closed his address with a plea that reform in education be carried out sanely, a growth and not a revolution.

The program of the commencement follows:

Prelude to Act 11 "Cyrano" (Darmrosch)—Normal orchestra.

Invocation—Rev. E. O. Vik.

March of the Bojars, (Halvorsen)—Normal orchestra.

Commencement address, "Tradition and Reform in Education"—Dr. L. D. Coffman, University of Minnesota.

Valse Espagnole, (DeKoven)—Normal orchestra.

Presentation of diplomas.

Announcement of honors.

Benediction.

CROWDS LEAVING TAME SHOW AT ST. LOUIS MEET

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 15.—Weary of noise and nothing to do, part of the convention crowds today are going home.

Approximately 200 guests at two of the largest downtown hotels got away early this morning. Ever since early yesterday morning they have been quietly slipping out.

The 5,500 costs that dotted hotel basements, ball-rooms, lobbies and corridors Tuesday night, were not in evidence as dawn crept in today.

The crowds in the lobbies and on the streets were noticeably smaller today. Even a scattering few of the delegates and quite an appreciable number of alternates have departed.

NEW YORK DELEGATE DIES IN ST. LOUIS

COLISEUM, ST. LOUIS, June 15.—William F. Kastig, postmaster of Buffalo, N. Y., and a delegate to the democratic convention, died suddenly here today. Norman E. Mack and other members of the New York delegation received word of Kastig's death as they were gathered at the Coliseum for the second session of the convention.

Kastig, it is believed, died of apoplexy.

SOCIALIST LEADER DISCOUNTS FLAG AS POLITICAL ISSUE

ST. LOUIS, June 15.—Allan L. Benson, socialist candidate for president, believes that if Illinois and Missouri had laws similar to that of New York state, prohibiting use of the American flag for advertising purposes, the entire republican and democratic conventions would be liable to arrest.

Benson was in St. Louis today but he did not visit the Coliseum, where the democrats are in session. The socialist candidate said he did not see much to choose between the republican and democratic platforms or candidates, and declared: "The effort to make the flag a political issue is so much clap-trap."

PLANS MADE FOR "LOVE FEAST" OF LACROSSE G. O. P.'S

"Hughes for President" Slogan That Will Bring Hundreds to Smoker to Be Held Soon

La Crosse county republicans—both progressives and conservatives—at a meeting in the court house last night arranged for a smoker and "love feast", the object of which is to bring about a coalition of the factions and unanimous support of "Hughes for president."

It was decided by the executive and finance committees of the La Crosse county republican committee, to hold a smoker, possibly at the Hotel Stoddard, at which time the Hughes boom will be officially launched here. A determined effort will be made to induce every republican in the immediate vicinity of La Crosse to attend and local members of the G. O. P. will be on the program for addresses.

At last night's meeting a committee, consisting of James Thompson, J. K. Kidder and Frank Allen was appointed to take charge of the arrangements.

The smoker will be held on the evening of June 28th.

granting the right of suffrage to the women in order that the separate states may by legislative act, decide whether they wish such an amendment adopted."

Will Oppose Wolfe

Another political sensation developed on Wednesday when it became known that the conservative wing of the democratic organization is secretly planning a fight on William F. Wolfe, La Crosse, as the democratic candidate for senator. Judge John C. Karel will not admit that he will be a candidate against Wolfe, but his friends are laying the foundation for his entrance into the senatorial contest.

Letters are in circulation urging democrats to create a public demand for Karel. They want it to appear that the democrats of Wisconsin are calling to him to run for the senatorship. Friends of Wolfe, among them Senator Hustung, will discourage this move, as Wolfe has practically been promised that it would not be necessary to engage in a primary contest. The conservative and progressive democrats are up to their ears in factional strife, which it seems hard to stamp out. The same strife probably will mark the gubernatorial situation when it develops here or after the Badger delegates return home.

Badgers in Limelight
When the democratic national convention met on Wednesday the Wisconsin delegation occupied seats in the center of the Coliseum which is smaller than the Milwaukee Auditorium, and right in front of a battery of moving picture machines.

Senator Hustung, former congressman, Weiss and William F. Wolfe sat together in one corner of the delegation. Over the Badger group hung a plaster medallion of Andrew Jackson. The Badger delegates waved American flags, sang national airs and never failed to take part in the enthusiasm of the convention.

Call on Bryan
Senator Paul O. Hustung, George Hilton, Oshkosh, and National Committeeman Martin, Green Bay, called on William Jennings Bryan on Wednesday. The Wisconsin delegates are in support of the movement to call Bryan before the convention to give a good old democratic speech.

It will be recalled that years ago, when he filled the role of a newspaper man, Bryan delivered his famous cross of gold speech and won the nomination of the democratic party. On this occasion, however, his only purpose, he says will be to say something which will aid in the re-election of President Wilson.

"I consider it a privilege to advocate the re-election of President Wilson," said Bryan to the Wisconsin callers. "I can not understand how anyone could be so foolish as to think I would not support him."

No Fight on Platform
Bryan denied that he will tamper with the platform to be adopted here, either in respect to a plank on peace or national prohibition.

TORN LIGAMENT IS ROOSEVELT AILMENT

NEW YORK, June 15.—An X-ray made today on Colonel Roosevelt disclosed that his injury was as he had suspected—a torn ligament at the point of fracture in a left rib, suffered a year ago, Roosevelt announced after the examination. He said he was feeling fine.

Politically, Colonel Roosevelt remains silent, although he is preparing to receive political callers today.

HYPHEN BLACKMAIL IS DENOUNCED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Washington Speech Is a Straight Challenge to Elements Leagued to Beat Him

Small and Subtle Minority Is Actively at Work the President As- serts

WASHINGTON, June 15.—In straight-from-the-shoulder fashion President Wilson yesterday gave notice of a fight with no quarter on those who "levied political blackmail" in this country in the interest of foreign nations.

It was a straight challenge to the hyphenated elements that have organized to encompass his defeat in November. It was given in words that minced no meaning.

"There is disloyalty active in the United States and it must be absolutely crushed," declared the president. "It proceeds from a minority, a very small minority, but a very active and subtle minority. It works underground, but it also shows its ugly head where we can see it; and there are those at this moment who are trying to levy a species of political blackmail, saying: 'Do what we wish in the interest of foreign sentiment or we will wreak our vengeance at the polls.'"

"That is the sort of thing against which the American nation will turn with a might and triumph of sentiment which will teach these gentlemen once for all that loyalty to this flag is the first test of tolerance in the United States."

The president was speaking as the climax after a parade of 75,000 people, of whom many were heads of the government, in the interests of preparedness.

At the head of that procession marched the president himself—the first time a president of the United States had marched on foot down historic Pennsylvania avenue at the head of a parade.

COMRADE OF CIVIL WAR BATTLE FOR COUNTY OFFICE

Hardy Dennison and Frank Aiken, both veterans of the civil war, and both Grand Army of the Republic men, will battle for the republican nomination for clerk of circuit court at the coming primaries. Aiken is the present clerk.

Mr. Dennison, who for years was deputy clerk of court here, has been urged by a host of friends to run for the office.

U. S. OWNERSHIP URGED BY WELSH FOR THE PLATFORM

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 15.—Government ownership of railroads, telegraph and telephone lines and coal deposits was advocated for the democratic platform in a report to the resolutions committee, by Frank P. Welch, chairman of the committee of industrial relations. President Gompers submitted advocacy of organized labor for ownership of the telephone and telegraph and economic and industrial reform.

Welsh suggested planks for a better distribution of wealth, recovery of public lands secured from the government by fraud and public ownership of public utilities.

Walsh asks that the platform declare: "That national preparedness should be built on the prosperity of the workers."

"Workers should have the fullest opportunity to form organizations among themselves."

"Condemn the action of such courts as have prevented the formation of voluntary associations."

"Denounce the importation from one state to another of armed guards, machine guns, armored cars, etc."

"Legislation that will insure to the workers the full product of their toil."

"Eight hour day, child labor maintenance of the seamen's act."

"Prevention of the concentration of wealth and power in the hands of a few by the enactment of inheritance and income tax laws."

from Washington by president. The platform's strongest plea for votes will be Americanism with a sub-section denouncing hyphenated organizations for their efforts to influence this government in its foreign policy. It is understood most of the progressives "social justice" planks may be included but there will be no attempt to "kidnap" the remnant of the progressive party.

Temporary Chairman Glynn's gavel convening the long delayed session fell at 11:49. Glynn was greeted with yells of applause and prolonged applause.

Hall Is Sticky
The hall was stuffy and sticky from heat. Fans sold like hot cakes and most of the delegates and male spectators peeled off their coats.

Joseph E. Bell of Indiana was recognized by the chair to make formal report for the committee credentials. The crowd fanned and perspired with Bell in the reading of the long routine document conveying reports of the committee's decision on contests. It was adopted.

W. W. Graves of Missouri, presented the report of the committee on permanent organization. The officers named were Ollie M. James of Kentucky, permanent chairman; J. Brice Kremer of Montana, permanent secretary; John I. Martin of Missouri, permanent sergeant-at-arms.

The Kentuckian, who had been waiting for the honor to be thrust upon him, was near enough at hand for the committee to perform its work with despatch. As the crowd caught a glimpse of the huge bulk of the Kentucky solon, strolling down the aisle like a Goliath, they gave him an ear splitting ovation. The band caught the popular fancy by rattling off "My Old Kentucky Home."

Yell For Bryan
In the middle of the demonstration after James' talk, the crowd began yelling "Bryan, Bryan."

The commoner gathered up his pencils and paper and beat a hasty retreat under the stage back to the press headquarters.

James strove to get order—standing like a Colossus of Rhodes, arms outstretched and bellowing for quiet—but the crowd refused to simmer down for a little while.

For five minutes the noise continued with scarcely unabated vigor, James pounding ineffectually for order.

Meanwhile the platform committee went on a hunt for Bryan but the Nebraska had made good his escape.

Eleven minutes after it had first burst, the noise died, but after James had worked up another shower of perspiration pounding his gavel. But it started again in a muffled roar of cries for Bryan.

"The chair desires to state," James announced, "that Mr. Bryan has gone to the city club to make a speech. You will have ample opportunity to hear him during the convention."

Speed up Plans
"Speed up" methods were applied by democratic leaders today to the convention plans. When the convention met at 11 o'clock today, it was with the fairly general understanding that efforts would be made to adjourn the convocation sine die not later than Friday evening, instead of Saturday as at first planned.

Tonight the resolutions committee is expected to submit the platform and the convention to ratify this declaration of principles. Tomorrow, bright and early, the democrats were to begin nominating.

The speeding up process was applied because of waning interest in the proceedings exhibited by the delegates and audience. Several hundred persons who came to see the convention, left yesterday. Not even the enthusiasm of optimism can disguise the fact that the convention is utterly dominated by Woodrow Wilson, several hundred miles distant and that it doesn't do a thing that hasn't been mapped out for it to do by the president.

For the reason that its proceedings are completely cut and dried, the convention is being regarded as a "poor show" by visitors. Under plans considered just prior to the convention opening day, all thought of a hoodoo in nominating on Friday was set aside. It might be added, incidentally, that this was another instance of Wilsonian domination, since the president let it be known that Friday had always been his "lucky" day.

Marshall Has Clear Field
From indications Marshall's name will be the only one submitted to the convention as a vice presidential candidate.

Illinois boosters for Roger Sullivan have practically decided not to present their "favorite son" as a nominee, and the Missouri delegation was expected to follow suit in deciding not to suggest Governor Major's name. This would leave, as Marshall's only opponent, John H. Morehead of Nebraska, who has all along been considered out of running.

Chairman McCombs had read the list of temporary convention officials, and friends of each officer, according to the reading of his name gave brief bits of hand-clapping.

Delegate George M. Green of Rhode Island got into the limelight by recognition of the chair to make the usual perfunctory motion to adopt the temporary officers as officers of the convention. By this time it was apparent the steaming atmosphere of the hall was rapidly taking the pep out of the audience and only a polite bit of applause greeted introduction of former Governor Martin Glynn of New York, temporary chairman.

Flag-waving to Start Cheers
Glynn's first thought that struck the audience and brought forth a spark of enthusiasm was his defense of the Wilson Americanism and his characterization of the Americanism

ENGLAND'S RICH WILL BE GREATEST LOSERS BY THE WAR

LONDON, June 15.—Somebody is going to lose financially by the war, of course, but authorities are not agreed as to whether it will be everybody or not.

The answer most generally given is the affirmative—that all classes will suffer.

Certain optimists, however, think perhaps—they are not certain—that the masses will be better off after, than before the war. Their hope is that those who have hitherto been society's parasites will have to foot the bills.

It is further argued that such a situation would imply an economic readjustment which must make for better conditions for those who have lived in the past on production by the actual workers.

The view is not held by socialists alone. A number of men who belong to the class which must do the financial suffering, should the forecast be borne out by events, think the same thing, or, rather, are afraid the prediction is an accurate one.

It looks, as they express it, as if "the aristocracy will have to go to work."

H. G. Selfridge, the American department store proprietor, for several years now in business in London, for example, in effect expressed this opinion in a recent exclusive interview to the United Press.

Selfridge, however, as a man himself actively in business, spoke of the possible development as a thing to be desired.

A good many others who agree with him want no such change because it will be at their expense, but nevertheless they believe the signs indicate that it can not be avoided.

New Yorkers Shut Out for First Time This Year Before Hurling of Jim

NEW YORK, June 15.—Chicago won its third straight game from New York Wednesday the score being 4 to 0. It was the first time New York had been shut out this season. Kauff's infield hit, which took a bad hop from Lavender in the seventh was New York's only safe hit and prevented Lavender from duplicating the no-hit game he pitched against the Giants last season. The veteran Mathewson pitched well for New York, but was accorded wretched support. WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's Hero Nichoff of the Phillies, whose homer ended a twelve-inning pitching duel between Rixey and Jacobs.

Lavender of the Cubs was right on the job as a Giant killer. He blanked the McGrawites 4 to 0, allowing one hit, a scratch, by Benny Kauff. On the other hand, Christy Mathewson was touched up for nine blows. Lee Magee staved off defeat for the Braves when he cut off a triple in the twelfth by grabbing Mollwitz's liner with his bare hand. And then won the game with a double, scoring Snodgrass in Boston's half.

The old master tossed a fine game but Lavender was in invincible form. Seven errors by the Cardinals explain their defeat to the Dodgers.

The Giants' lone hit may prove a costly one. In beating the throw which soiled Jimmy Lavender's chances for no hit honors Benny Kauff sprung a Charley Horse and had to give way to Rouch. Walter Johnson pitched mediocre ball for the Senators against the White Sox, allowing eight hits and walking four.

Jim Scott, whose batting average is .125, clinched his own game in the fourth with a single which scored two runs.

Harry Coveleski of the Tigers won his second game in three days from the Yankees. Veach got two triples and two singles in four times up.

The Browns staged a regular rally against the Red Sox. Five hits and two walks netted the St. Louisans six runs.

OFFER WILLARD $40,000 FOR A LABOR DAY GO

CHICAGO, June 15.—Minneapolis and St. Paul fight promoters Wednesday offered Jess Willard, world's heavyweight champion, a guaranteed purse of $40,000 for a ten round bout on Labor day, with Fred Fulton as his opponent. The Gopher state promoters received a jolt when Manager Tom Jones told them the least he would consider was $50,000. They came back with a counter offer of $45,000, which Jones is considering. The service of Charlie White and Richie are also desired.

DEATH PREVENTED HILL DECLARATION FOR PROHIBITION?

ST. LOUIS, June 15.—That J. J. Hill would have shortly made a public statement endorsing nation-wide prohibition had he not died, was the statement made by Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale University. Professor Fisher, who is here to appear before the resolutions committee of the democratic party, asking for a prohibition plank in the democratic platform. "I received a letter from Mr. Hill," stated Professor Fisher, "in which he declared that the greatest factor in the promotion of crime, disease and poverty was due to the liquor traffic, and that he believed that national prohibition was the best solution of the problem."

ITHACANS TO JUDGE RACE

CHICAGO, June 15.—Five Italians will sit as judges in the race Sunday between Dario Resta and Ralph De Palma, both Italians, for the American speed championship, speedway officials announced today.

It is not exactly considerate of politics to come along and interrupt the fishing.

Short Story

A MISTAKEN GIRL

BY MELLA RUSSELL MCALLUM

May Moon was bitterly disappointed. As she laid down her daughter's letter the one hope of her life seemed frustrated. And all because Constance Moon had written home from college that she was engaged to a certain young rhetoric instructor. It sounded harmless enough, surely, but to Mary it spelled tragedy.

For Mary herself had married young and rashly. Five years she had lived with John Moon. Then, after a markedly protracted spree, he had mercifully died. Then and there, she

At first she worked at anything she could get to keep them alive. But she had a fair education, and, after a while, she managed to secure a district school. She made an excellent teacher. Bitterness had hardened her sharp corners, so that bad boys found them difficult to get around. The directors liked her and raised her pay. She saved money fiercely. For, by that time, she had made up her mind to climb high in the teachers' profession.

Little Constance used to play quietly in a corner of the school-room. Country air and country fare made her sweet and rosy. She was the one joy of Mary's heart. After three years Mary had saved enough to pay for one year at a normal school, and thither they went. They did light housekeeping in one room. Constance attended the training school kindergarten, and played about the campus, and on rainy days, accompanied her mother to classes. It was a delightfully serene, sane life, in spite of hardships. At the end of the year, although her money was nearly gone, Mary had made up her mind to stay.

She sought out a certain kind-hearted professor, who had a large family, and stated her case. The professor and his wife agreed to house Mary and Constance, and act as sort of governess for the numerous professorial offspring out of school hours.

Three years more, and Mary had finally finished her course. She got her life certificate and a good position. Her goal was reached—indeed, her vow of a manless existence was now insured. Moreover, she had obtained for them both something priceless, something approaching real culture. They were able to take their places among the best in the pleasant village where Mary's high school was located.

Years passed—happy ones. Mary's corners were all smoothed down now. She had independence, social position, and a beautiful, sunny-natured, quick-minded daughter. Constance finished high school easily, and was at last sent to college. Not to the little normal, but to a famous women's college, far away.

Mary answered the girl's glowing letter, telling of her engagement, in a manner which she fancied thoroughly diplomatic. And thus the matter rested till vacation, for she knew better than to try to influence Constance at long range. But when Constance finally came home, even Mary gasped at the vision. Always lovely, the girl was now glorified with a mist of dreams. She was hope and gladness incarnate. But that did not deter Mary. She made up her mind to break off the match, and save Constance from what she firmly believed would prove disaster.

But, for the first time in her life, Mary ran against an impassable snag. Sometimes Constance grieved over their arguments. Again she only smiled, in a detached way that saddened Mary. Constance was well-nigh impregnable, enveloped in the armor of dreams.

At last Mary's cautious campaign collapsed, and she lost control of herself. They were cleaning their little house that day, and Constance sank down abruptly with a duster, under her mother's furious outburst. "You will break my heart, and break your own, too," Mary wound up.

"But you don't know Leonard," Constance opposed faintly. "He is a man—that's enough."

"No, mother! He is gentle, and kind, and firm. He comes of a fine family."

"Nonsense! For twenty years I have fought to put you where you are. You have education, culture, and good looks. You are better equipped to earn money than most men. Your future is insured. And this is the thanks I get!"

"You talk like a baby!" Constance stood up deliberately.

There was a dangerous light in her eyes. "I appreciate what you've done, mother. You have been wonderful. But if I choose to give up my education and my culture and my looks to my husband, instead of selling them in the business world, it is my own concern. We won't quarrel any more, mother. That's all!"

And that was all. Mary pleaded in vain against the wall of reserve the girl built around herself. Vacation passed distressfully. Constance went back to college for her final year. Mary went back to her classes. The year dragged through wearily toward June and the hateful wedding.

Constance was to graduate on the fifteenth and be married on the twenty-fifth. Mary made up her mind to go on for the events if it killed her. She had looked forward for years to attending Constance's graduation, but now that pleasure was all swallowed up in grief over the event to follow.

But Mary Moon was game. She had some unusually pretty dresses made and paid an extravagant price for a suit and hat. She bought a smart trunk and bag and all the necessary travelling accessories. For she had been invited to stay at the home of the groom, and she resolved to make a creditable showing in spite of the grief in her heart. She knew that Leonard Ames, of Latin textbook fame, and that Mrs. Ames was prominent socially in the college town. They should not be ashamed of Constance's mother.

They were not ashamed. Mary made an excellent impression, with her attractive toilets and her vivacious intelligence. In fact, she made quite a furore in the cultured professional home. They hadn't expected a little high-school teacher from the middle west to be so charming! The courtly old doctor and his wife snatched their admiration unmistakably. While Leonard Ames—six feet of wholesome boyish zest, in spite of his dignified calling—paid Mary open court.

Then the wedding guests began to arrive. New people to meet—to play up to! There were Leonard's famous civil engineer cousin and his pretty wife. There was a chemical manufacturing uncle, with a lovely placid wife and three delightful children. There were a doctor aunt and a suffrage aunt—fine, vigorous spinsters. There was a nice elder brother, too, who was also an instructor in a distant city, and whose wife had been unable to come on account of a brand-new baby. In spite of herself, Mary warmed to the matron element more than to the spinsters! The latter were nice, but they were terribly self-sufficient. She wondered if Constance might ever become like them if she had her way!

The night before the wedding, Constance inquired guardedly, "How do you like Leonard's people, mother?" "Very much," replied Mary sincerely. "I am proud to have you know and be known by such people, dear."

"Then why"—began Constance softly, and stopped.

Mary combed through her black hair several times in silence.

"Which do you like best of the women, mother—the married ones or the old maids?" Constance inquired mischievously.

"Why, I think the—the married ones," said Mary, uncomfortably aware that Constance was taking advantage of her inability to quibble.

"You don't dislike Leonard, do you, mother?"

"N—no. It was more a choke than a spoken word."

Constance saw Mary's agonized face in the glass. She whirled around with a little triumphant laugh. "Better own up you're beaten, mother darling," she said.

Mary began to cry, although she was not a crying woman. Constance's arms went around her softly. "Mother, precious," she whispered, "don't you see that without your training I never could have won Leonard and his nice family? The training was all right, mother, only you mistook the goal, I think."

It takes more bravery to accept, and to adjust oneself to defeat, than it does to fight it in the first place. Mary Moon was nothing if not brave, however. "I was mistaken, dear," she said simply. "I—I think it's just lovely," she whispered with a tremulous smile.

CONVENTIONALITIES

National politics certainly is playing whaley with the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity of the United States this year. Vice President Thomas Riley Marshall is a prominent Phi Delta of the Wabash, Ind., college chapter.

Marshall's republican opponent, Charles Warren Fairbanks, is a prominent Phi Delta of Ohio Wesleyan college.

It would appear that the Phi Deltas find themselves between the mustache and the deep blue republican whiskers.

"The only plank in the platform that I'm interested in right now," said Senator Jim Ham Lewis of Illinois, after a strenuous afternoon of exercising his whiskers for the benefit of the convention crowds, "is a plank with a steak on it."

"The democratic convention," said Governor John H. Morehead of Nebraska, seems to be both colored and collared by the suffragists."

"Yes," responded National Committeeman J. Bruce Kremer of Way out West, "and for an outfit with a streak of yellow in them, they're the fightingest crew I ever saw."

Mrs. Abbie Scott Baker of Washington, press agent for the suffragists at the convention, used her own family men to illustrate a distinction between male pro-suffragists, saying: "My husband is 'resigned' in favor of suffrage, but my sons are consigned for it."

St. Louis soda fountains are serving the "Bryan rickey," the same being a long, slender, unbelligerent glass filled with grape juice, enough cherry juice to tip it and enough seltzer to give it tang. Serve cold, with a straw and a peaceful expression.

Senator J. K. Vardaman of Mississippi looks like his hair had slipped. The top and sides of his head are slick and smooth and shiny and utterly hairless, but down the back thereof and over his shoulders there is bushels of it, bushels of it.

National Democratic Chairman McCombs is the most nervous man in politics. When he isn't beating a tattoo, rubbing his hands, slapping his knee walking around, scratching his chin or twiddling his thumbs, he's doing something else of the same sort. At the opening session of the convention he sat at the edge of the platform. A notch lower down sat Colonel Robert Ewing, an exceedingly rotund and egg-pated gentleman from Louisiana. McCombs was busily engaged listening to Governor Glynn's keynotes. As usual he was

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring out Ugly Spots. How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine as this is the prescription sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

WILSON PLATFORM MUCH PRUNED BY FOLLOWERS' KNIFE

A Resolutions Committee Member Says Author Won't Recognize His Child

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 16.—The platform submitted to the democratic convention will look different from that drawn by President Wilson. The language is certain to be greatly changed, it became known on Thursday while the members of the platform committee perspired and argued over various planks.

"The man that wrote it won't recognize it," said one of the members of the committee, a strong supporter of the president.

It was said, however, that the platform will carry the message desired by the president.

M'CORMICK JUDGING CATTLE WHEN TOLD OF HIS NAMING

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 16.—The United Press yesterday afternoon found Vance McCormick standing in a very cold rain in the middle of a bull ring at the home town horse and cattle show on the McCormick farms in Cumberland valley watching the judging of the cattle.

McCormick was manifestly surprised when informed that he is to be chairman of the national committee.

"I do not know that I can say anything now," he said, "I have had no official notice and do not care to say anything until I receive official announcement."

McCormick is at present connected with the federal reserve bank in Philadelphia.

McCormick was captain of the Yale foot ball team in 1903 when he played a famous game as quarterback. He is politically strong in Pennsylvania and has been both democratic and progressive candidate for governor in that state.

McCormick is owner of the Patriot, a morning newspaper in Harrisburg.

WEATHER
 U. S. Weather Bureau

Sunrise tomorrow, 4:21 a. m.
 Sunset tomorrow, 7:50 p. m.

Temperatures Yesterday
 High, 63; Low, 54; Precipitation, .39.

Forecasts

For Wisconsin: Unsettled weather tonight and Saturday with probably showers. Not much change in temperature. Moderate to fresh winds, mostly westerly.

For Minnesota: Partly cloudy and possibly unsettled tonight and Saturday. Not much change in temperature.

For Iowa: Partly cloudy tonight and Saturday; probably showers east portion tonight. Not much change in temperature.

Weather Conditions

The storm central over eastern Minnesota yesterday morning has remained nearly stationary, being central this morning in Wisconsin. This abnormal low movement has caused a continuance of unsettled and showery condition in this section which will probably last over night.

Another low is developing in the Canadian northwest while a third depression is located in Arizona.

The pressure is below normal in all sections, except in the extreme northwest.

These pressure conditions will cause unsettled weather in this section tonight and Saturday with probably showers tonight. There will not be any decided change in temperature.

The Searchlight

PICKING FRUIT ON STILTS

A California fruit grower has designed some special stilts for the use of his pickers which will, in his opinion, entirely supersede the use of ladders in many orchards. They are more easily moved and do not damage the trees. Each stilt is provided with forged feet so that the user does not lose his balance easily and they are strapped to his body in a manner as not to interfere with the freedom of his arms. With a fruit basket over his shoulder, a man on stilts can circle a tree and take off the ripe fruit in much less time than it could be secured if he times. The stilts are also useful in pruning. The pruners can reach the top branches easily and work more evenly than if they had to come down to readjust their ladders frequently.

The way some persons should read: "Jude Johnson is in town. Thought his creditors ought to know."

HOW TO ADMINISTER AMERICANISM

At a recent celebration on a Dakota Indian reservation, a member of the federal cabinet took part in an impressive ceremony by which a number of Indians became United States citizens. The event was remarkable for the symbolic ceremony which was carried out. Each of the red men in turn shot his last arrow into the air, to indicate that he renounced savage ways, and grasped a plow to express his acceptance of the ways of civilization. Then, under his "white" name, he took the oath of allegiance.

It was a simple and direct ceremony, calculated to appeal to the simplicity of the participants. More than any legal formality which would have passed over their heads it must have impressed them with the meaning of their translation into participating membership in the community.

Americanism has become the excuse for much sounding fury in the past year. There have been from all sides repeated fervent declarations of the necessity of a positive acceptance of American ideals by those who take upon themselves American citizenship. There has not been, in all of the discussion, very much constructive suggestion. Mostly the talk has pursued the rutted round of denunciation, exhortation and spread-eagle oratory. It has been vehement assertion of a fact that no one denies.

In the meantime the citizenship mill grinds slowly forward. Applicants are questioned on a few simple details of the government, required to affirm a mumbled oath, and stamped "citizens". Nothing has been done to impress upon them the meaning of Americanism, except where individual courts may be inclined to give them a little lecture on the subject. Throughout the process the citizen in the making is a passive object to which the tests are applied and over which the formula is said. Only the higher types of immigrants can be able, through the mechanism of the process, to visualize any glimmering of the American ideal. And that glimmering comes to them, it is probably safe to say, more from what they have learned outside the court-room than from anything that they have said or done in the actual process of taking allegiance.

With both political platforms denouncing disloyalty and insisting upon "undiluted Americanism", to use Justice Hughes' felicitous phrase, something in the nature of improvement would seem to be a duty of the next administration. If "Americanism" is to be more than a war-shout of politics, there needs to be a program. The simplicity and effectiveness of the Dakota Indian ceremony may suggest a method.

WHAT IS A REGULAR AUTHOR?

Interesting information comes from the Pacific coast, mother of innovation, that the author-folk are considering affiliating themselves with the American Federation of Labor. To pencil-pushers everywhere the idea has life. We appeal to the brother-scribes if it be not labor indeed to chronicle the events of fact or fancy. And who will feel the need of organization for protection more than the unpublished poets, fictionists and scenario-writers whose household effects include a pigeon-hole collection of firm but courteous rejection slips?

We should like information as to the qualifications for membership in the union. What is the test of journeymanship? What pyrometer is to ascertain the presence of the divine fire in the aspiring breast? What is a regular author?

Respect for genius forbids that spelling or punctuation ability should be even considered. Such details be attachments of the proof-reader. Shall it be originality? But no. By perusal of the best sellers it is at once apparent that insistence upon this would bar out handfuls of regular authors.

And what shall be the scale? Are sonnets to be sold by the running foot? Will there be a standard length for short-stories? Will burning the midnight oil in the fine frenzy of inspiration entitle one to time and a half or double time?

As soon as these hazy points are cleared up, we shall send for a card.

PAVLOVA APPEARS AT THE MAJESTIC

A great event in motion picture art will take place at the Majestic on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, when Russia's dancer, Anna Pavlova, will appear on the screen in a massive spectacle entitled "The Dumb Girl of Portici".

It is a remarkable illustration of modern advancement in the amusement field when one of the public's idols absolutely refuses to make public the money which she will find in her pay envelope at the end of each week. In the case of Anna Pavlova, one may look in vain for any statement of the reasons which induced her to capitulate to the cameraman. All that is known, even to the officials of the Universal Film company, is that the amount Pavlova will receive for spending one month in Los Angeles, is saved to provide the capital which will finance the tour with the Boston Opera company. Furthermore, it is believed that Pavlova's great incentive to appear before the camera in "The Dumb Girl of Portici" was that it would enable her to achieve the goal of being a full fledged impresario and the first opera company comprising over two hundred persons and entailing an expenditure of nearly $30,000 a week.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

What Really Happened
 For days the ship had lain becalmed. The crew lay about on the deck, sunk in the depths of despair. Suddenly there was a shout of triumph from the direction of the captain's cabin, and the ancient mariner rushed on deck, his face transfigured with joy.

"I've got it, boys! We're saved!" "See," he went on, "here's my pipe. And here in my right hand is a match, the only match left aboard the ship. Watch!"

Trembling with excitement, the crew watched around him as in breathless silence he put the pipe to his lips and struck the match. With a roar and a rush a mighty wind sprang up from the west, and as the match blew out, amid wild cheering, the sails filled out and the great ship went plunging on her way. —New York Tribune.

Shot All Right

It occurred in one of the gambling dens of the far west, such as are only to be found in films and fiction. As the group of cow punchers lost or won huge fortunes on the turn of a pack of greasy cards, a newcomer burst excitedly into the place.

"Heard about Dickson getting shot?" he gasped to his astonished audience.

The cow punchers gathered round him to hear the news.

"Not," they cried. "When?"

"Bout half an hour ago," came the reply. "I was there and saw it all."

"Where did he get shot?" was the next question flung at him, while hands tightened ominously on revolver butts.

"Down at the store," chuckled the jester calmly. "He bought a couple of pounds of it."

Efficiency

"Bobby" inquired the mother, "did you wash your face before the music teacher came?"

"Yes'm."

"And your hands?"

"Yes's."

"And your ears?"

"Well, ma," said Bobby judicially, "I washed the one that would be next to her." —Chicago Herald.

Not Just What He Meant

"But, Captain Hawley," said the handsome Miss Plute coquettishly, "will you love me when I grow old and ugly?"

"My dear Miss Plute," answered the captain gallantly, "you may grow older, but you will never grow uglier."

And he wondered why their friendship ceased so suddenly.

Harrar makes something the impression of a children's city. It is built and laid out on illogical, untidy lines, full of streets that lead nowhere and houses that look as though they had been unskillfully put up for amusement. As a matter of fact, though, this Abyssinian metropolis has a good record of patriotism and stubborn defence back of it, and is very important in a trade way today.

The road to Harrar from the southward leads through characteristic northeast African country—that strange half-desert, half tropic terrain that represents the struggle of the rich Sudan against the stubborn Sahara. The path dives into thick jungle and emerges to run over cactus-studded plain.

Harrar is a walled city, its fortifications crowned with a score of towers. Thus from the outside it makes quite an imposing impression, quickly dispelled by a day in city limits. The streets are narrow and dirty and hilly, and many of them are mere divisions between rows of houses, ending unexpectedly in blank walls. There is no apparent plan in the construction of many of the quarters, and the stranger can easily lose himself and wander around until 9 p. m., when he will be arrested for being abroad without a lantern. This municipal ordinance is based on the theory that all honest people should be in bed at such an advanced hour, and if they are not, they must make it easy for the police to locate and interrogate them.

The houses of Harrar are in keeping with the streets. Low square, featureless, built of mud or rough stone, they are much like the huts of the poorer classes in many Mexican cities, but they lack the gay colors in paint and flowers with which the Mexican is fond of adorning his dwelling. The most colorful spot in Harrar is the main square, where the city goes marketing in a way that makes it evident the people have never heard of the germ theory. The square is crowded with a motley multitude who press around the wares spread on the ground, shaded with a bit of cloth draped over four sticks and handle everything from a string of beads to leg of mutton before buying.

"Done come!" it quavered, and we saw it was Mangy! He splashed out of that noon heat gasping, rolling his eyes. "Dey done use me mean, Docteh! Yes, seh. Ah come back fo' mah job. Dem old pirate haids—dey ain't nuffin but ha'd work!"

We got that disillusioned and emaciated cook on board. He was a sight after that half-day fighting his way a mile through the morasses of John-the-Fool to the canal. Williams' immaculate yellow boy from N'Awlyns eyed the mud that dripped from him on the clean white deck with vast disfavor. Mangy hastened to grasp my hand and distributed more upon it—and me.

Then his eyes rolled mysteriously: "Dey done got it!"

"Got what?" Clegg said sharply. "Dat big hide-up. Eve' since Crump, dat bad nigger, gave me er sign to quit you, dey had me diggin' Dey made me wuk all night—dey lammed me wid pistols, and dis mawnin' I got out—but I seen 'em—yes, seh!"

An American Romance

But one little ghost on the green isle surely worried him. His gray eyes leveled to the woods across the sun-flecked marsh. And this patient regret came into the voice: "All right—I know what you're thinkin'. I'll fix that up, too, someway."

And then after a pause: "I reckon I muddled it up fo' fair, tellin' her that-away. Only I have no other way." Then he was back seriously directing the placement of his new gear.

Clegg was forward checking off the stuff as it came over the staging. It was a white hot morning, the gulf breeze stilled, and the black gnats danced through the engine-room and stung the sweating fellows. I was turning aft to see what the new cook had done about breakfast, as the boss' outfit seemed to consider me no further, when I saw Mary signaling to me from the awning shade of Virgil's smart little cabin cruiser.

"Went and stuck two thousand dollars into that tub soon as I heard we'd won," he had told me. "I couldn't have Mary comin' down to our swamp in that old Zelle."

Mary Mason looked very comfortable in her blue-trimmed sailor blouse. The breakfast things were laid on a neat white table, and she had drawn some purple hyacinth spikes from the canal to set it off. Down in the galley a yellow boy was busied with coffee and bacon. It was the first thing like a really civilized meal I had seen in five months.

"It's like Virgil, isn't it?" she said. "The minute I met him he began to see to me—and yet he hasn't spent a moment from his work it seems. It's queer the way the men all jump about for him—he gets things going, somehow."

"Fast things," I murmured, and sampled her pineapple.

She smiled in a rather waspish fashion. I don't believe she had slept well; perhaps one wouldn't translated overnight from the Amalgamated Electric to the savage morasses of John-the-Fool. "Did you ever hear such frightful noises?" she went on. "Mosquitoes on screens and the boom of those frogs and an alligator or so, and the awful owls. I thought the wilderness was quiet."

"Ah, the wilderness! Somehow, we've come to love it all."

"Yes," she said absently, and looked across the canal to where the clatter of hammers and the banging of metal, and the drift of soot down on our white spread told of the new attack on the man's size job. "Love it?" She was curiously intent on the bronzed fellow who supervised the job forward. "Clegg is so—changed?"

"Wasn't that what was wanted? He's proved himself a man. Not a whimper, not a false note. Of course you couldn't expect him to love Virgil."

"But that wasn't what I meant. I thought he—"

"You thought he would still be tagging at your skirts." I went on attacking the eggs and bacon. "Well, you see a new man, don't you? He's got some of Virgil's stuff, despite himself. The wilderness—and Laure."

"The wilderness, dear Doctor Dick," she went on quite humbly, "was up there—with me. I thought I could forget more—easily." She added with some rising indignation. "You and Clegg are both abominable! Virgil, of course, is his own dear, girl self—a pure sentimentalist, pathetically in love, at last, with this island girl."

"And she with your young man who is chivalrously attracted," I said with brutal expediency.

"Virgil moons and moons—when he ought to steal her!"

"Mary," I retorted, "you are an utter barbarian! Imagine any one stealing you!"

"Ah, if one could! It must be splendid. It wouldn't be business—but what fun!"

"See here, this will never do. This absurd island is bother enough as it is. The baron has medievalized everything and every one except Virgil. And Papa Prosper. He waves his rooster cap, and at once Laure imagines he loves her, and the swamp niggers believe in a buried treasure ship, and Mangy see a ghost-head sticking out of the grass. And I—the practical person—ah, me! One time I kissed her!"

"What?"

"It was part of her education."

"Indeed?" Mary mused.

"And Clegg is crazy about her. It's his chivalrous idea about her wrongs. And she's extraordinarily good-looking."

"Yes?" continued Mary.

"I saw her once do a dance in a rare old gown she had before it was dynamited one night with me in the canal. It was an evening when the baron had roared quite valiantly over his third bottle, after Allesandro had played all the Rigoletto music, and had demanded of Laure that she show the bald-headed doctor what a great lady she could be. So she did some sort of a Creole dance, and I swear it was like a big peasant—the smoky old rafter of his shack, hung with red peppers and dried things, the old fellow in his red robe and with his pipe and sword and feather."

"Doctor Dick," said Mary absently, "you'd better go north."

I was trying to shake Mary up out of her hyper-civilized complacency about love and all that sort of thing. It was all right for me, but in Mary? I went on with praise of Laure Drouillout; but Mary seemed disinterested. Clegg and Virgil came on the Seabird for lunch despite their grim intent on the dredge boat and its mechanics.

And while we were at it, a grotesque figure pushed its way out of the saw-grass by the boat's rail.

60 DAISY DEAN

The release of six productions featuring Florence Turner and a cast of unexcelled pictures has been announced by Mutual. Florence Turner will be remembered as one of the first screen players to obtain recognition from the public. She was one of the early Vitaphones and played in many pictures opposite Maurice Costello.

"Far From the Madding Crowd," the first of the series, which will be released June 19, is a film adaptation of Thomas Hardy's book of the same name. Each succeeding month will see the release of one of these features, the others being "Doorsteps," an English comedy drama; "The Welsh Singer," "The First Settler's Story," "Shop Girls," a sociological drama, and "Redeemed."

The Florence Turner pictures were directed by Larry Trimble, who has been associated with Miss Turner ever since she left Vitaphone and organized her own company in England.

"Broncho Billy" in Films Again
 G. M. Anderson, formerly known to the screen as Broncho Billy, is about to return to motion pictures. On the frontiers of New York city he will produce the type of western photo drama for which he is known wherever films are screened.

Most of Billy's wild and woolly cow punchers from the Niles (Cal.) plant have been re-engaged and are in New York. In addition a carload of pintos, calico ponies, ranch house and roundup properties have been assembled there, as well as a corps of assembly men and camera men.

Broncho Billy is holding his peace as to the future. He has admitted that he "may produce a film or two and maybe something big later on," but for the present "nothing much doing."

Joseph Urban, scenic artist, who has painted some of the most artistic scenery now being shown on the stage in America, has been engaged to make all the posters for the new Fox play starring Annette Keller-mann.

The Metro Co. announces that sometimes it is possible for visitors in New York to arrange for admittance to the studios. It depends on circumstances—and probably on the visitors. The stars at that studio include Francis X. Bushman.

Marguerite Skirvin, who looks like Hazel Dawn, and has had important stage roles, will appear with Lionel Barrymore in the Metro-Roife play, "The Quilter."

Pearl White learns that French soldiers on leave are being shown her "Exploits of Elaine," renamed in Paris, "Les Mysteres De New York."

Good News For Sufferers From Kidney Diseases

Perhaps you have experimented with many of the various remedies and cures for kidney troubles without results, and have come to the conclusion that all are alike. If you will consider for a moment that Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy has been on the market for 40 years, you will agree that it must have merit or the public would not buy it regularly. Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy is made from a formula tried and tested, containing elements beneficial in the treatment of diseased kidneys in the first and advanced stages. Just read the following words of tribute from a grateful user who sincerely recommends Warner's to all sufferers.

"Having been afflicted with kidney and liver complaint for over 20 years, I was induced to try Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy, and after using it for a time am now well and strong. I can unqualifiedly state that this medicine without any doubt saved my life and I can conscientiously recommend it to others similarly afflicted."—Clarence H. White, Battle Creek, Mich.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy contains no harmful ingredients and should be used when the kidneys need attention. At all druggists in 50c and $1.00 bottles. Free sample if you write Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 422, Rochester, N. Y.

NEW FREIGHT DEPOT IS PROSPECT FOR THE NORTH SIDE

That the Milwaukee road contemplates building a new freight depot for the north side is the tenor of rumors in circulation today. The site of the old ice houses, which burned last September, across the track from the north side passenger station, it is said, is the location being considered.

CURLW GOES TO WAYS FOR REPAIRS

Chicago Inaugurates Baby Week Today

CHICAGO, June 15.—One hundred organizations interested in infant welfare and social betterment have co-operated in the arrangements for a summer baby-saving campaign, which was inaugurated in this city today and will be continued for one week. Among the organizations actively interested are the public health department, women's clubs, religious societies, medical associations, infant welfare clubs and businessmen's organizations. During the week the "message of salvation" which is to insure the welfare of Chicago's new generation will be preached from pulpit and school platform and will be delivered in a dozen languages by a corps of 500 speakers who will cover the city in automobiles from corner to corner.

London Women Fill Places of Conductors

LONDON, June 16.—Although the majority of London's female tram and bus conductors are drawn from the working classes, several are the wives of British officers and some are school teachers.

The "conductress" has proved a decided success and promises to become a permanent institution after the war.

Blemishes of an eruptive nature, such as Pimples, Rashes, etc., are driven away very quickly by Poslam. Its healing work in stubborn and aggravated Eczema cases is often remarked as wonderful. In most surface skin disorders Poslam seems to supply precisely the soothing, controlling influence needed. Comfort is immediate; itching stops and as far as suffering is concerned the trouble may usually be forgotten soon after Poslam is applied.

Poslam Soap, containing Poslam, is an aid to health of skin and hair. Try daisy one month for toilet and bath.

EXPRESS APPRECIATION OF FLAG DAY DISPLAY

A letter expressing the appreciation of the La Crosse chapter of the D. A. R. of the patriotic observance of Flag day was today mailed to Mr. William Doerflinger by Mrs. William G. Moss, corresponding secretary of the organization. The letter follows:

Mr. William Doerflinger,
La Crosse, Wisconsin.

Dear Sir:
The La Crosse chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution wish to express to you their appreciation of your patriotic display of flags in observance of Flag Day.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. WILLIAM G. MOSS, Corresponding Secretary.

INDOOR PICNIC

What was originally planned as an outdoor picnic resolved itself, through the intervention of Jupiter Pluvius, into an indoor affair yesterday afternoon when a party of friends gathered at the home of A. C. Bangsberg, 1311 King street. A picnic supper was partaken of following which the evening was spent in playing som-r-set. Those present were the Mesdames George W. Ford, Roy D. Feintress, Harvey J. Tucker, Willis A. Lockman, Levi W. King and Ole C. Bangsberg, Mrs. Hathaway and Andrew C. Bangsberg.

Mrs. Mabel Stanton Miller is ill at the La Crosse hospital.

Delicacies In Cherry Season

Baked Cherry Dumplings

Sift together one pint of flour, one-half teaspoonful salt and one teaspoonful baking powder. Add sweet milk enough to make a soft dough. Roll out one-half inch thick, cut into four-inch squares. Fill each square with as many cherries as it will contain and sprinkle generously with sugar. Fold the edges of the dumplings over and place them in a floured pan. Bake one-half hour and serve with hard sauce, or with cream and sugar.

Cherry Bread Pudding

Butter slices of bread and place them in a pudding dish in layers with stewed cherries between. Bake for a half-hour and before taking from the oven put over the top beaten whites of two eggs. Brown slightly and serve. Let stand one-half hour and serve with plain custard sauce.

Cherry and Peanut Salad

Select and seed large sweet cherries and insert in each seed cavity a blanched peanut. Place on lettuce leaves and cover with boiled mayonnaise. Sprinkle the top liberally with ground peanuts.

Cherry Vinegar

There are few drinks more refreshing than that made from half an inch of cherry vinegar in the bottom of a tumbler into which ice water is poured and stirred until the glass is full. To prepare this vinegar cover any sour red cherries with good cider vinegar, in a wooden or earthen vessel. Bruise and stir at intervals for four days. To every pint of strained juice add one pound of sugar. Boil fifteen minutes; skim. Keep in well-corked bottles.—In the June Mother's Magazine.

REDFERN CORSETS

Without doubt are the corsets which all smartly gowned women should wear if they would enjoy the utmost in style, comfort, health and service.

Nature has done her part in giving you a figure. You must do yours to keep it fashionable by a careful selection of your corset. Your corset this season must fit the waist snugly but without pressure. The bust height should be from three to five inches, and a flat back and straight front is still demanded by fashion. All this is found in REDFERN CORSETS. Fitted by expert corsetiers.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color
and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

HISTORY OF YAQUI BLOODY TALE OF FIGHT FOR HOME

and one of the most formidable troops in the field is a band of Yaquis estimated at 2,000 in number, led by a Yaqui general.

Saved by Revolution

The revolutionary disturbances were probably the salvation of the Yaqui race. Of late years the Mexican government has been adopting the only policy against the tribe which gave promise of eventual success in quelling their fighting spirit. This was the plan of deportation, by which the Indians were sent from Sonora to far-away Yucatan as laborers on the plantations. This is said to be the only fate that frightens the Yaquis. In the first place they have been accustomed, by untold centuries of life in their hills, to an environment of mountain and desert, and they seem to have died rapidly in the moist tropical climate of Yucatan. Moreover, the Yaqui is passionately attached to his own country. He has fought through all these years to keep his territory absolutely free from the encroachment of white men, and to govern himself by his own laws and customs.

Sold to Slavery

It was in connection with the deportation of the Yaquis that many of the charges of slavery on the plantations were brought up in recent years. The old government undertook to furnish Yaqui laborers to the planters on the payment of their railroad fare, stipulating that such laborers should receive fair wages and treatment, but apparently not troubling itself greatly to see that such stipulations were always carried out. Moreover, there were instances where certain individuals would contract for laborers whom they did not need and then sell them to planters at a premium. A great many unpleasant charges were brought forward in this connection, but the whole matter of the Yaqui wars of late years has been an unpleasant one on both sides.

It is easy to idealize the Yaquis at a distance for their courage, their hardihood and their love of country, just as it is easy to paint them as impossible demons for their cruelty and treachery.

They have undoubtedly practiced savage tortures on their captives in the past, just as they have undoubtedly broken treaties with the Mexican government; but it is just as true that they are guided by a savage code of ethics, and are fighting for land that in the last analysis belongs to them, for they held it before Columbus was born.

In flesh and blood, the Yaqui is not a particularly romantic figure. He is the common laborer of Sonora, the peon, the herder of cattle and the tiller of the soil. In the Mexican towns of the district many of the difficulties in subduing them has been the highly developed clan spirit that prevails among them. The outlaw from the hills, hard pressed, slips his rifle into a mesquite bush and enters some peaceful village of his people where everybody will swear that he has lived there for years.

The Yaqui is a medium-sized individual as a rule, rather stockily built, with a face broader and browner than that of the North American Indian whom the tourist sees in the west and who adorns our buffalo nickels. His ordinary garb is prosaically like that of the Mexican section hand who works on the western railroads, whither as a matter of fact he will sometimes flee. His wiry endurance, however, is truly remarkable.

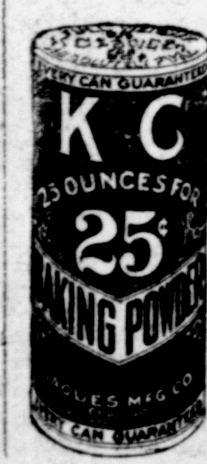

Four centuries of almost continual warfare, interspersed with the hardest of hard work on the ranches have made him tough as leather. He will travel for days at high speed through desert and mountain with little or no food; he will work all day in the fields under a sun-glare that reaches 150 degrees heat in the direct rays. In fact, one of the chief problems in connection with the deportation scheme for handling the Yaqui is that of filling his place as a laborer in Sonora.

In the past, the Yaquis increased their natural hardihood by a regular course of training for their young men, by which each boy was forced to make long marches, endure long fasts and privations before being admitted to the rank of warrior. The women are as hardy as the men, and accompany them into the hills in time of war. Much of the undying hatred of the "Yori," as they call the white man, is due to the women, who inculcate the creed in their babes from the cradle. With all these martial characteristics, the Yaquis are neither noticeably stern nor sullen among themselves. They will work for hours with a continual flow of jest and laughter.

The last few years of the Yaqui wars have been very similar to our own past fights with the Apaches. The Indians have taken to the hills in small troops, have robbed, pillaged and murdered, and have merited the treatment of outlaws which the Mexicans have unmercifully visited upon them. Not so many years ago, however, they held their country with an organized army and fought pitched battles with the Mexicans, even charging cannon with the utmost bravery. Under their chief Cajame they maintained a state of thorough independence for years, with their own laws, taxes and tariffs. Cajame was a pure-blooded Yaqui of good intelligence and abilities, who had a Caucasian cast and regularity of features. He served in the Mexican armies against the Yaquis, and was made governor over the tribe by the Mexicans themselves.

The call of his people proved too strong, however, and he turned against his old government.

There are probably not more than 14,000 Yaquis all told in Sonora today. Yet this little people has been given a fresh impetus on its old lawless path by the revolutionary confusion, and will probably prove a thorn in the side of whatever central government finally undertakes the task of pacifying the republic.

Good News For Sufferers From Kidney Diseases

Perhaps you have experimented with many of the various remedies and cures for kidney troubles without results, and have come to the conclusion that all are alike. If you will consider for a moment that Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy has been on the market for 40 years, you will agree that it must have merit or the public would not buy it regularly. Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy is made from a formula tried and tested, containing elements beneficial in the treatment of diseased kidneys in the first and advanced stages. Just read the following words of tribute from a grateful user who sincerely recommends Warner's to all sufferers.

"Having been afflicted with kidney and liver complaint for over 20 years, I was induced to try Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy, and after using it for a time am now well and strong. I can unqualifiedly state that this medicine without any doubt saved my life and I can conscientiously recommend it to others similarly afflicted."—Clarence H. White, Battle Creek, Mich.

Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Remedy contains no harmful ingredients and should be used when the kidneys need attention. At all druggists in 50c and $1.00 bottles. Free sample if you write Warner's Safe Remedies Co., Dept. 422, Rochester, N. Y.

NEW FREIGHT DEPOT IS PROSPECT FOR THE NORTH SIDE

That the Milwaukee road contemplating building a new freight depot for the north side is the tenor of rumors in circulation today. The site of the old ice houses, which burned last September, across the track from the north side passenger station, it is said, is the location being considered.

It is admitted in local railroad circles that officials of the road have been considering the change for some time. The present freight repository, it is declared, is inadequate to the needs of the road on the north side. The new building would stand a few rods east of the location of the existing depot.

Chicago Inaugurates Baby Week Today

CHICAGO, June 15.—One hundred organizations interested in infant welfare and social betterment have co-operated in the arrangements for a summer baby-saving campaign, which was inaugurated in this city today and will be continued for one week. Among the organizations actively interested are the public health department, women's clubs, religious societies, medical associations, infant welfare clubs and businessmen's organizations. During the week the "message of salvation" which is to insure the welfare of Chicago's new generation will be preached from pulpit and school platform and will be delivered in a dozen languages by a corps of 500 speakers who will cover the city in automobiles from corner to corner.

LONDON, June 16.—Although the majority of London's female tram and bus conductors are drawn from the working girl classes, several are the wives of British officers and some are school teachers. The "conductress" has proved a decided success and promises to become a permanent institution after the war.

APPLY POSLAM
—see how quickly
skin is cleared

Blemishes of an eruptive nature, such as Pimples, Rash, etc., are driven away very quickly by Poslam. Its healing work in stubborn and aggravated Eczema cases is often remarked as wonderful. In most surface skin disorders Poslam seems to supply precisely the soothing, controlling influence needed. Comfort is immediate; itching stops and as far as suffering is concerned the trouble may usually be forgotten soon after Poslam is applied.
Poslam Soap, containing Poslam, is an aid to health of skin and hair. Try daily one month for toilet and bath.

Baked Cherry Dumplings

Sift together one pint of flour, one-half teaspoonful salt and one teaspoonful baking powder. Add sweet milk enough to make a soft dough. Roll out one-half inch thick, cut into four-inch squares. Fill each square with as many cherries as it will contain and sprinkle generously with sugar. Fold the edges of the dumplings over and place them in a flour pan. Bake one-half hour and serve with hard sauce, or with cream and sugar.

Cherry Bread Pudding

Butter slices of bread and place them in a pudding dish in layers with stewed cherries between. Bake for a half-hour and before taking from the oven put over the top beaten whites of two eggs. Brown slightly and serve. Let stand one-half hour and serve with plain custard sauce.

Cherry and Peanut Salad

Select and seed large sweet cherries and insert in each seed cavity a blanched peanut. Place on lettuce leaves and cover with boiled mayonnaise. Sprinkle the top liberally with ground peanuts.

Cherry Vinegar

There are few drinks more refreshing than that made from half an inch of cherry vinegar in the bottom of a tumbler into which ice water is poured and stirred until the glass is full. To prepare this vinegar cover any sour red cherries with good cider vinegar, in a wooden or earthen vessel. Bruise and stir at intervals for four days. To every pint of strained juice add one pound of sugar. Boil fifteen minutes; skim. Keep in well-corked bottles.—In the June Mother's Magazine.

Without doubt are the corsets which all smartly gowned women should wear if they would enjoy the utmost in style, comfort, health and service.

Nature has done her part in giving you a figure. You must do yours to keep it fashionable by a careful selection of your corset. Your corset this season must fit the waist snugly but without pressure. The bust height should be from three to five inches, and a flat back and straight front is still demanded by fashion. All this is found in REDFERN CORSETS. Fitted by expert corsetieres.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Restores Its Natural Color
and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Save by Revolution

The revolutionary disturbances were probably the salvation of the Yaqui race. Of late years the Mexican government has been adopting the only policy against the tribe which gave promise of eventual success in quelling their fighting spirit. This was the plan of deportation, by which the Indians were sent from Sonora to far-away Yucatan as laborers on the plantations. This is said to be the only fate that frightens the Yaquis. In the first place they have been accustomed, by untold centuries of life in their hills, to an environment of mountain and desert, and they seem to have died rapidly in the moist tropical climate of Yucatan. Moreover, the Yaqui is passionately attached to his own country. He has fought through all these years to keep his territory absolutely free from the encroachment of white men, and to govern himself by his own laws and customs.

Sold to Slavery

It was in connection with the deportation of the Yaquis that many of the charges of slavery on the plantations were brought up in recent years. The old government undertook to furnish Yaqui laborers to the planters on the payment of their railroad fare, stipulating that such laborers should receive fair wages and treatment, but apparently not troubling itself greatly to see that such stipulations were always carried out. Moreover, there were instances where certain individuals would contract for laborers whom they did not need and then sell them to planters at a premium. A great many unpleasant charges were brought forward in this connection, but the whole matter of the Yaqui wars of late years has been an unpleasant one on both sides.

It is easy to idealize the Yaquis at a distance for their courage, their hardihood and their love of country, just as it is easy to paint them as impossible demons for their cruelty and treachery. They have undoubtedly practiced savage tortures on their captives in the past, just as they have undoubtedly broken treaties with the Mexican government; but it is just as true that they are guided by a savage code of ethics, and are fighting for land that in the last analysis belongs to them, for they held it before Columbus was born.

In flesh and blood, the Yaqui is not a particularly romantic figure. He is the common laborer of Sonora, the peon, the herder of cattle and the tiller of the soil. In the Mexican towns of the district many of the servants are Yaquis. One of the chief difficulties in subduing them has been the highly developed clan spirit that prevails among them. The outlaw from the hills, hard pressed, slips his rifle into a mesquite bush and enters some peaceful village of his people where everybody will swear that he has lived there for years.

The Yaqui is a medium-sized individual as a rule, rather stockily built, with a face broader and browner than that of the North American Indian whom the tourist sees in the west and who adorns our buffalo nickels. His ordinary garb is prosaically like that of the Mexican section hand who works on the western railroads, whither as a matter of fact he will sometimes flee. His wiry endurance, however, is truly remarkable.

In the past, the Yaqui increased their natural hardihood by a regular course of training for their young men, by which each boy was forced to make long marches, endure long fasts and privations before being admitted to the rank of warrior. The women are as hardy as the men, and accompany them into the hills in time of war. Much of the undying hatred of the "Yori," as they call the white man, is due to the women, who inculcate the creed in their babes from the cradle. With all these martial characteristics, the Yaquis are neither noticeably stern nor sullen among themselves. They will work for hours with a continual flow of jest and laughter.

The last few years of the Yaqui wars have been very similar to our own past fights with the Apaches. The Indians have taken to the hills in small troops, have robbed, pillaged and murdered, and have merited the treatment of outlaws which the Mexicans have unmercifully visited upon them. Not so many years ago, however, they held their country with an organized army and fought pitched battles with the Mexicans, even charging cannon with the utmost bravery. Under their chief Calame they maintained a state of thorough independence for years, with their own laws, taxes and tariffs. Calame was a pure-blooded Yaqui of good intelligence and abilities, who had a Caucasian cast and regularity of features. He served in the Mexican armies against the Yaquis, and was made governor over the tribe by the Mexicans themselves. The call of his people proved too strong, however, and he turned against his old government.

There are probably not more than 14,000 Yaquis all told in Sonora today. Yet this little people has been given a fresh impetus on its old lawless path by the revolutionary confusion, and will probably prove a thorn in the side of whatever central government finally undertakes the task of pacifying the republic.

PLATFORM SESSION TODAY FOLLOWS MIDNIGHT CHOICE

He reserves had to be called to quell a general riot of disappointed spectators. There was considerable criticism of the police today for their utter refusal to recognize credentials of national committeemen, delegates or newspapermen in this through outside. Many with full credentials were even roughly handled. Doorkeepers had smuggled in friends, without tickets.

Had Its Drawbacks.

"We want to introduce the blessings of civilization among you," "Yes," answered the savage. "The only trouble is that when you also introduce your improved war mechanism, so many of us won't live to enjoy them."

Misery in Back, Headache and Pain in Limbs.

Dear Mr. Editor—For more than a year I suffered with misery in the back, dull headache, pain in the limbs, was somewhat constipated and slept poorly at night until I was about ready to collapse. Seeing an account of the wonderful qualities of "Anuric," prepared by Doctor Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., I sent for a box, and before using the whole box I felt and still feel improved. My sleep is refreshing, misery reduced, and life is not the drag it was before. I most cheerfully recommend this remedy to sufferers from like ailments.

Yours truly, W. A. ROBERTS.

NOTE: You've all undoubtedly heard of the famous Dr. Pierce and his well-known medicines. Well, this prescription is one that has been successfully used for many years by the physicians and specialists of Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for kidney complaints, and diseases arising from disorders of the kidneys and bladder, such as backache, weak back, rheumatism, dropsy, congestion of the kidneys, inflammation of the bladder, scalding urine, and urinary troubles.

Up to this time, "Anuric" has not been on sale to the public, but by the persuasion of many patients and the increased demand for this wonderful healing Tablet, Dr. Pierce has finally decided to put it into the drug stores of this country within immediate reach of all sufferers.

I know of one or two leading druggists in town who have managed to procure a supply of "Anuric" for their anxious customers in and around this locality. If not obtainable send one dime by mail to Dr. Pierce for trial package or 50 cents for full treatment.

Citizens of Laredo,
Texas

LAREDO, Texas, June 16.—Many citizens of Nuevo Laredo, the Mexican town opposite here, have moved to La Jara and Lampasas, as a result of the excitement following the raid the Mexican bandits on San Ignacio early yesterday. American Consul Garrett moved to the American side.

Leo D. Walker, a Mexican editor, was escorted to the border by citizens last night. His editorials abused the United States.

Search for scattered bandits who raided San Ignacio, killing three American soldiers, is still under way on this side.

KANSAS HARVEST PAY SETS RECORD

TOPEKA, Kas., June 16.—The highest wages ever known in the grain fields will be paid to harvest hands in Kansas this year, due to the big harvest and the shortage of men. Heretofore, the east has supplied thousands of men each year for the Kansas fields, men from mines and industries usually idle in the summer. But the big boom in the eastern industries will cut off this supply this summer. Also the west is offering big inducements to industrial workers, and fancy prices are paid for skilled and unskilled help. Many of the new jobs are permanent, and the "floating population," commonly known as tramps, has been reduced by a large percentage which has decided to go to work while the terms are so favorable. It is also said by labor bureaus that thousands of young rovers who travel around to see the country in the summer, and are genuinely useful during the threshing season, have joined the Canadian forces for war service. Not many years ago, $1.50 a day was considered a good wage. Today double that amount is only ordinary pay, and skilled harvesters often get $5 per day.

ONLY FIVE DEAD IN SHIPWRECK ON WESTERN COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 16.—All but five of the 211 persons who were aboard the steamer Bear when she struck on Blunt's reef near Eureka, have been rescued alive, according to an announcement today by the officials of the San Francisco & Portland Steamship Co. The five are those whose bodies were washed ashore at Cape Mendocino.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, biliousness, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

M'GILVRAY BRIDGE ISSUE IN CASE BEFORE HIGH BENCH

Sauk County Case Has Practically Same Basis as La Crosse-Trempealeau Controversy

On a pending decision of the Wisconsin supreme court in a similar case to the famous La Crosse-Trempealeau county bridge controversy may rest settlement of the troublesome McGilvray matter.

This is the opinion of County Chairman R. W. Davis, Bangor, who for years has been fighting efforts of Trempealeau and La Crosse county residents to compel La Crosse county to pay half the cost of repairing the McGilvray highway a series of small bridges and a long stretch of little-used road separating the sister counties. It is said that the work would cost upwards of $50,000.

"It is believed, on account of the direct similarity of the two cases," said Chairman Davis today, "that the ancient bridge matter will be settled with the decision of the supreme court."

A mandamus action somewhat similar to the action threatened against Trempealeau and La Crosse counties, was lost in the circuit court of Sauk county, when brought against that county and one township in the county of Columbia, Judge Chester Fowler holding that the one township of Columbia county could not be made to pay half of the cost of a bridge. The object of the suit was a bridge recently erected across the Wisconsin river from county to county.

Trempealeau county attorneys who threatened to bring a mandamus action against La Crosse and Trempealeau counties several months ago, have failed to start action, and it is believed they are awaiting the action of the supreme court in the Sauk county matter.

STATE GETS AFTER ALLEGED VIOLATOR OF BOARD ORDER

Fifteen Counts of Disregard of Commission Rulings Charged Against the Phone Concern

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—On complaint of the Wisconsin railroad commission, Attorney General Walter C. Owen has started an action to recover $150,000 in penalties from the Door County Telephone company for alleged violation of an order of the commission. The papers in the suit have been filed by Deputy Attorney General Walter Drew, who will direct the action.

Fifteen specific counts for violations are made against the company. In each the maximum penalty of $10,000 each is asked. The first count alleges that the company failed to establish full metallic circuits as ordered; the second, that it failed to divide its toll line as ordered; the third that it failed to keep a record of all complaints and irregularities regarding service; the fourth that it failed to establish a switch board at Bailey's Harbor as ordered; the fifth and subsequent causes to and including the fifteenth, that it failed to make monthly reports to the commission regarding the progress of construction and work done.

Just recently in a similar action the state recovered $10,000 from the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company for failure to obey certain service orders of the commission.

"This action means more than is apparent on the face of it," said Deputy Attorney General Drew, who is to conduct the case for the state. "It means that the railroad commission is through temporizing with utilities in the state, who are inclined to play fast and loose with commission orders. It seems that there are some who are under the impression that the commission is handing down orders because there is nothing much else to do and that these orders are not to be taken seriously; that it is all right to obey if it is convenient. If the orders of the commission are not to be enforced then that body might just as well go out of existence. And from what I have heard there is no disposition on the part of any one to dispense with the commission just yet."

OBSERVE GAS CENTENARY

BALTIMORE, Md., June 16.—An elaborate celebration of the American gas centenary was opened in Baltimore today under the joint auspices of John Hopkins university and the local gas companies. The event marks the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the first gas company in America, the Gas Light company of Baltimore. The celebration will continue over tomorrow and will include a big industrial and educational parade in which many floats demonstrating the development of the gas industry will be seen.

BIG FIELD LIKELY AT MADISON MEET

James Thompson of This City Among Those Mentioned as Potential Candidates

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—There are indications that there will be a multiplicity of candidates to come before the progressive republican state conference for endorsement when the delegates convene one week from today in the university gymnasium. The names of James Thompson of La Crosse, former State Senator William H. Hatton of New London and former State Senator A. W. Sanborn of Ashland are most frequently mentioned as compromise gubernatorial candidates. The large number of friends of Governor F. E. McGovern, who are to attend the convention and who apparently have had considerable to do with the organization, lend color to the story that McGovern may be endorsed. On the other hand some of the progressives claim that inasmuch as Governor McGovern has refused to participate in the conference the delegates should all get behind Senator Otto Rosshard of La Crosse.

Probably the names of three persons may come before the conference as recipient candidates for secretary of state. The names mentioned are: Secretary of State John S. Donald, Mt. Horeb; A. T. Torge, Madison and Merlin Hull of Black River Falls. Senator E. F. Kileen, who has been here for the past few days, shows little concern about the other state offices, except the governorship. He is of the opinion that McGovern should be endorsed.

It is understood that Henry Johnson will refuse to allow his name to be passed upon by the conference. Political rumblings here say that Johnson will seek the endorsement of the conservative conference, which will meet here sometime later. A. R. Emerson of the state banking department and Sol Levitan of Madison have been mentioned as possible candidates for state treasurer on the progressive ticket.

There seems to be no opposition to Lieutenant Governor E. F. Dismar of Baraboo; nor has any opposition appeared to Attorney General Owen before the progressive conference. Senator J. Henry Bennett of Viroqua will be the candidate for attorney general on the conservative slate.

SHACKELTON TO RESCUE

She Looked Up To Hughes As Her President

NEW YORK, June 16.—Mary Donnelly works hard. It isn't a pleasant life at her age—scrubbing the floors and polishing up the woodwork in the palatial Hotel Astor, up on Broadway. But life looked brighter today to careworn Mary Donnelly. She was scrubbing her floors down in the Hughes headquarters. The republican candidate stepped briskly into the room and paused a moment as he saw the bent, kneeling form before him. "My God," she exclaimed with her hands lifted as if in prayer, "O, I've lived to see the president of the United States. Thank God."

Hughes stopped, and smiled kindly at the old woman on her knees.

"Thank you," he said simply, as Mary in confusion hastened out of the room.

John Burns Leads Him

Thompson Putters

SOME HOME, HAS JOHNNY

Put on a Porch and His Icebox Would Make a Swell Bungalow Opines
Mr. Burns

BY A. M. BRAYTON

WISCONSIN HEADQUARTERS,
HOTEL MARYLAND, ST. LOUIS,
June 16.—The seed of Pat Crow's potatoes, grown in the La Crescent plot whereon once stood the primitive cabin in which lived and died twin pioneers of that village whose flaky potatoes in the rear of one of St. Louis' most pretentious summer homes, and John C. Burns found that lord of all he surveys, Mr. John Thompson, industriously manning the trenches in an assault upon the predatory potato bugs.

Sent Back for Spuds

A few weeks ago there appeared in The TRIBUNE a little yarn relating how Mr. Thompson had wired Dr.
Evans to send him some La Crescent potatoes, and how Mr. Burns had accepted the commission to fill the order. Mr. Burns had interpreted the incident as gastronomic rather than agricultural, and no doubt down in their restful graves Pat and Bill Crow joined the chuckle with which
"John C." apprehended La Crescent's only multi-millionaire straining at gnats in a truck farm as though a crop failure there would send him to the soup house. All the poor boy would have to fall back upon, aside from his present wealth, is the profits of summer contracts he has accepted, aggregating in gross some twelve millions of dollars.

One knows it is a liberty, if indeed not an impertinence, to discuss the private affairs of a host who himself refers to them either casually, or reluctantly when pressed, for he is not in the least chummy. But to his old La Crosse playfellows there is nothing in this most beautiful city in the neutral belt between north and south more interesting than the career of John Thompson, whose arithmetic contains no numbers of less than six figures, who builds a million dollar mansion or consummates a five million dollar contract with about the same strain involved in making mud pies in a La Crescent dooryard, and in the spirit of the busy boy who hears the last echoes of the can he tied to the dog's tail asks, "What'll
I do next?"

City is Country

It is a paradoxical fact that in St.
Louis one must go into the country to see the city. The business belt is largely country town stuff, but the residential district, park system and countryside are those of a great metropolis that loves art and air, good housing and out-of-door beauty.
And so when Mr. Burns introduced the writer just as Mr. Thompson was loading with eight-seeing friends the three Pierce-Arrows which form his garage battery, the resulting invitation was joyously received.

"This is no 'Seeing St. Louis' manual, and enough of that sixty-mile spin it is briefly to visit Mr.
Thompson's city residence and summer home. We did stop at a cathedral, just being finished, that is to be the largest and most beautiful in America. Speaking for the contributors, of whom he is one, Mr. Thompson announced proudly that although unfinished the edifice is paid for. In the center of its three massive domes St. Joseph's Cathedral, La Crosse, steeple and all, could be set down without touching anything but the floor. The seating is arranged in the form of a cross, and it is one of those vast interiors to enter which makes a man feel like an ant.

Magnificent Home

Out on the King's Highway we visited Mr. Thompson's magnificent home. It is in the midst of the most ideal surroundings in St. Louis—a magnificent creation of marble and onyx of most pretentious type. At going real estate values, were the entire village of La Crescent with its pretty residences and oak-shaded grounds sold in an eager market, the proceeds might almost suffice to pay for the front portal of this home of her most distinguished son.

Fourteen miles further out we arrived at "Aplacatlast", the summer home to which Mr. Thompson referred as his "summer shack." Mr.
Burns recorded his impressions by suggesting that with the addition of front steps and a rear sleeping porch its icebox would make a very respectable bungalow for Losey Boulvard.

We had refreshments here, and read the pedigrees of the Airdale and English bull pups and the Holstein "critters", which Mr. Thompson observed was better than putting with the pedigrees of politicians down at the Coliseum. We saw the red cherry grove, heard husbandlike Mr. Thompson worry lest his corn might not conform to the dead-line essential,

Knee high

Fourth of July, and at last reached the green profusion of the Crow potato patch wherein Mr. Thompson had first been cornered and captured.

Oddly Named

Incidentally, this country place acquired its name in the sigh with which its first mistress, an actress of domestic instincts whose wanderings had ended in the arms of a splendid chap of large wealth, greeted its completed magnificence. "Oh!" cried
she, "A place at last!" By the way,

CENTRAL WEST TO HAVE TRAINING AT INDIANA CAMP

Twenty-six Wisconsin Men Among Those Who Have Enrolled for Duty

BUSINESS MEN HELP RECRUIT

Many Big Firms Pledge to Send Men and Some Even Pay Their Expenses

CHICAGO, June 16.—At least twenty-one states, probably more, will be represented on the roll call when the first military training camp under the central department of the war department opens at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, Ind., July 5. To date 806 men have applied "to give their vacations to their country" at the training camp.

Illinois Leads

Even without the aid of Chicago, Illinois leads the other states in the number of "rookies" signed up for the camps, with 194 men from outside of the city of Chicago. From Chicago, 159 men are enrolled. Indiana is next in line with 105 men. Wisconsin has twenty-six, Ohio, twenty-three, and Missouri twenty-one.

Although the district of the central department comprises only fourteen states, several men are enrolled for the camps from states outside the department. The states in the central department are Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming.

Men from the far east and far west, without the district, are enrolled. Connecticut, Pennsylvania, and Virginia will be represented by one man each; West Virginia has two men enrolled, while from Idaho, Montana, Oklahoma and Arkansas
one man each is enrolled.

Business Men Help

Co-operating with the war department in working for success of the camps are groups of business men, forming enrolling committees, in most of the important cities throughout the department. Many big corporations and business houses have pledged themselves to send a reasonable number of their employees to the camps without jeopardizing their positions and without loss of pay. Many are also paying all expenses of the men they send.

The Jeffery Motor company has provided four 1½ ton trucks, with drivers, for use of the civilian soldier encampments. The government will furnish the tents and equipment.

Although congress has authorized the secretary of war to provide uniforms, maintenance and expenses of the "rookies" at the training camps, no appropriation has been made. An appropriation bill to make this law effective is pending in congress, but is not expected to pass in time to make the fund available this year.
Every effort is being made by those interested in the training camps, however, to secure passage of the bill.

Colonel D. A. Frederick has been assigned by the central department as officer in charge of the training camps division, with offices in the federal building at Chicago.

The second camp will open August 7. If a sufficient number of men can be enrolled, a third camp may be held beginning September 8.

While the instruction will be chiefly in infantry organization, medical corps and engineering work will also be provided.

ILLEGAL MARRIAGE BARS COMPENSATION

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—The Wisconsin industrial commission has dismissed the complaint of Mae Hall against the city of Barron. In this case the applicant, Mae Hall, was divorced in Illinois. Under the law of that state she was prohibited from marrying again within one year. She went to Indiana, however, and married the deceased before the year was up. The commission holds that this marriage was not legal because the Indiana law provides that a divorce in another state shall have full effect in Indiana and that the marriage in Indiana would not be valid unless she had waited one year from the time of the divorce.
Mae Hall's husband was working for the city and was accidentally killed by coming in contact with an electric wire.

"Give me a synonym for love,"
said the poet. "Soda water," suggested the cynic. "I fail to see the similarity," remarked the poet. "It soon fizzes out," explained the cynic.

country places, was so named by the husband of a lady who, much to his own chagrin, insisted in erecting a country home in which to spend the summer months.

Wily Walter

Walter B. Rose, who appears here as a protégé of William F. Wolfe, has emulated "southern hospitality" and insists upon shaking hands with all the suffragist ladies under thirty years. Finding some of them somewhat distant and skeptical, Mr. Rose borrowed a delegate badge and flaunted it upon his many success.
The strategy was a grand success, for morning, noon and night Walter is besieged by women bent with women's smiles upon inducing him to vote for a suffrage plank.

Walter says he will see what he can do for them.

desire neither any additional territory nor any advantage which cannot be peacefully gained by their skill, their industry or their enterprise; but they insist upon having absolute freedom of national life and policy, and feel that they owe it to themselves and to the role of spirited independence which it is their sole ambition to play, that they should render themselves secure against the hazard of interference from any quarter and should be able to protect their rights upon the seas or in any part of the world. We, therefore, favor the maintenance of an army fully adequate to the requirements of order, of safety and of the protection of the nation's rights; the fullest development of modern methods of sea coast defense and the maintenance of an adequate reserve of citizens trained to arms and prepared to safeguard the people and territory of the United States against any danger of hostile action which may unexpectedly arise; and a fixed policy for the continuous development of a navy worthy to support the great naval traditions of this nation and fully equal to the international tasks which the United States hopes and expects to take a part in performing. The plans and enactments of the present congress afford substantial proof of our purpose in this exigent matter.

International Relations

The democratic administration has throughout the present war scrupulously held to the old pact of neutrality and to the peaceful pursuit of the legitimate objects of our national life which statesmen of all parties and creeds have prescribed for themselves in America since the beginning of our history. But the circumstances of the last two years have revealed necessities of international action which no former generation can have foreseen. We hold that it is the duty of the United States to use its power, not only to make itself safe at home, but also to make secure its just interests throughout the world, and, both for this end and in the interest of humanity, to assist the world in securing settled peace and justice. We believe that every people has the right to choose the sovereignty under which it shall live; that the small states of the world have a right to enjoy from other nations the same respect for their sovereignty and for their territorial integrity that great and powerful nations expect and insist upon; and that the world has a right to be free from every disturbance of its peace that has its origin in aggression or disregard of the rights of peoples and nations; and we believe that the time has come when it is the duty of the United States to join with the other nations of the world in any feasible association that will effectively serve those principles to maintain inviolate the complete security of the highway of the seas for the common and unhindered use of all nations. The present administration has consistently sought to act upon and realize in its conduct of the foreign affairs of the nation the principle that should be the object of any association of nations formed to secure the peace of the world and the maintenance of national and individual rights. It has followed the highest American traditions. It has preferred respect for the fundamental rights of smaller states even to property interests and has secured the friendship of the people of these states for the United States by refusing to make a more material interest an excuse for the assertion of our superior power against the dignity of their sovereign independence. It has regarded the lives of its citizens and the claims of humanity as of greater moment than material rights, and peace as the best basis for the just settlement of commercial claims. It has made the honor and ideals of the United States its standard alike in negotiation and action.

tion of a common prosperity. To that end we favor all measures which may be necessary to facilitate intimate intercourse and promote commerce between the United States and her neighbors to the south of us, and such international understandings as may be practicable and suitable to accomplish those ends. We commend the action of the democratic administration in holding the Pan-American financial conference at Washington in May, 1915 and organizing the international high commission which represented the United States in the recent meeting of representatives of the Latin-American republics at Buenos Ayres, April, 1916, which have so greatly promoted the friendly relations between the people of the hemisphere.

thousand rural delivery routes and extensions thus reaching two and one-half millions additional people, improved the postal service in every branch, and for the first time in our history placed the postoffice system on a self-supporting basis, with actual surplus in 1913, 1914 and 1915.

Economic Freedom

The reforms which were most obviously needed to clear away special privilege, prevent unfair discrimination, and release the energies of men of all ranks and advantages, have been effected by recent legislation. We must now remove, so far as possible, every remaining element of unrest and uncertainty from the path of the business men of America, and secure for them a continued period of quiet, assured, and confident prosperity.

Tariff

We reaffirm our belief in the doctrine of a tariff for the purpose of providing sufficient revenue for the operation of the government economically administered, and unreservedly endorse the Underwood tariff law as truly exemplifying that doctrine. We recognize that tariff rates are necessarily subject to change to meet changing conditions in the world's production and trade. The events of the last two years have brought about many momentous changes. In some respects their effects are yet conjectural and wait to be disclosed, particularly in regard to our foreign trade. Two years of a war which has directly involved most of the chief industrial nations of the world, and which has indirectly affected the life and industry of all nations, are bringing about economic changes more varied and far reaching than the world has ever before experienced. In order to ascertain just what these changes may be the democratic congress is providing for a nonpartisan tariff commission to make impartial and thorough study of every economic fact that may throw light either upon our past or upon our future fiscal policy with regard to the imposition of taxes on imports or with regard to the changed and changing conditions under which our trade is carried on. We cordially endorse this timely proposal and declare ourselves in sympathy with the principle and purpose of shaping legislation within the field in accordance with clearly established facts rather than in accordance with the demands of selfish interests or upon information provided largely, if not exclusively, by them.

Americanism

The part that the United States will play in the new day of international relationships which is now upon us will depend upon our preparation and our character. The democratic party, therefore, recognizes the assertion and triumphant demonstration of the indivisibility and coherent strength of the nation as the supreme issue of this day in which the whole world faces the crisis of manifold change. It summons all men, of whatever origin or creed, who would count themselves Americans to join in making clear to all the world the unity and consequent power of America. This is an issue of patriotism. To taint it with partisanship would be to defile it. In this day of test, America must show itself, not a nation of partisans, but a nation of patriots. There is gathered here in America the best of the blood, the industry and the genius of the whole world, the elements of a great race and a magnificent society to be melted into a mighty and splendid nation. Whoever, actuated by the purpose to promote the interests of a foreign power, in disregard of our own country's welfare or to injure this government in its foreign relations, or to cripple or destroy its industries at home, and whoever by arousing prejudices of a racial, religious or other nature, creates discord and strife among our people so as to obstruct the wholesome process of unification, is faithless to the trust which the privileges of citizenship repose in him and disloyal to his country. We, therefore, condemn as subversive of this nation's unity and integrity, and as destructive of its welfare, the activities and designs of every group or organization, political or otherwise, that has for its object the advancement of the interest of a foreign power, whether such object is promoted by intimidating the government, a political party, or representatives of the people, or which is calculated and tends to divide our people into antagonistic groups and thus to destroy that complete agreement and solidarity of the people and that unity of sentiment and national purpose so essential to the perpetuity of the nation and its free institutions. We condemn all alliances and combinations of individuals in this country of whatever nationality or descent, or who agree or conspire together for the purpose of embarrassing or weakening our government or of improperly influencing or coercing our public representative in dealing or negotiating with any foreign powers. We charge that such conspiracies among a limited number exist and have been instigated for the purpose of advancing the interests of foreign countries to the prejudice and detriment of our country. We condemn any political party which, in view of the activity of such conspirators surrenders its integrity or modifies its policy.

MAKING CHILDREN EAT

Nothing is ever gained by forcing a child to eat when it refuses food. Make sure that nothing is being eaten between meals to destroy the natural appetite and if your growing child does not have a healthy craving for good, honest food at mealtimes there is something the matter. Threats of punishment if the child does not eat will not correct the difficulty.

A fitful appetite in a growing child, especially if the patient is pale, languid, nervous, irritable, and without ambition, usually means that the blood is thin. A non-alcoholic tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is demanded. During her teens a girl lays the foundation for her future health. Lack of blood at this time may rob her of robust, healthy womanhood. It is of the greatest importance to administer to girls who grow pale and weak a safe tonic and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills meet every requirement of the most careful mother. They make the blood rich and red and it carries renewed health and strength to every part of the body.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Send today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the book, "Building Up the Blood." It is free.

Along with the proof of our character as a nation, must go the proof of our power to play the part that legitimately belongs to us. The people of the United States love peace. They respect the rights and covet the friendship of all other nations. They

Don't Feed Your Baby Every Time He Cries

Many are the mothers who feed the baby to make him stop crying. Poor Baby! He stops—for a while—and then it's all the worse. For the tiny stomach has had another load added to its already undigested burden.

The baby isn't always hungry. Perhaps he's getting too much of the wrong kind of food. Give him your breast milk as long as you can. It may be the saving of his life when he is sick. You'll be able to nurse him nine full months if from the beginning you use one feeding a day of

Nestlé's Food

(A complete food—not a milk modifier.)

Give him that feeding at any hour each day in place of your own milk—and leave yourself free to take a little air or pleasure to build up your own milk.

Then when weaning time comes, you'll just add to the feeding till the baby's all on NESTLÉ'S without feeling the change.

NESTLÉ'S comes to you in a safe, air-tight can—you add only water and it's ready. You don't have to worry about sour milk or consumptive cows or germs in the milk.

In NESTLÉ'S—made from the clean milk of healthy cows in sanitary dairies—every cow's milk danger has been destroyed—every baby need has been added. Send the coupon for a FREE Trial Package of 12 feedings and a book about babies by specialists.

MILWAUKEE ROAD RESUMES NORTH M'GREGOR TRAINS

NORTH M'GREGOR, Ia., June 16.—(Special.)—Train service on the L. & D. division west from here, was resumed Tuesday, when passenger train No. 8, came in from the west at 11:30 p. m., and since then regular train service has been established.

Work of clearing the debris from the railroad yards and round house is progressing rapidly, the Milwaukee company having 800 laborers here for the work. When the debris has been removed many of the tracks are found to be in good condition, while eleven stalls in the east end of the round house were uninjured, and three more will need but little repairing. Before the flood the Milwaukee company had arranged for raising the yard tracks and this will now be the first of the work done, and that grade raised from 15 to 18 inches. They had contracted with the North McGregor Stone Crushing company, A. and F. Sawelle, proprietors, for the crushed

ent republics of the two Americas against aggression from another continent. It implies, as well, the more scrupulous regard upon our part for the sovereignty of each of them. We court their good will. We seek not to despoil them. The want of a stable, responsible government in Mexico, capable of repressing and punishing marauders and bandit bands, who have not only taken the lives and seed and destroyed the property of American citizens in that country, but have insolently invaded our soil, made war upon and murdered our people thereon, has rendered it necessary temporarily to occupy, by our armed forces, a portion of the territory of that friendly state. Until, by the restoration of law and order therein a repetition of such incursions is improbable, the necessity for their remaining will continue and they must remain. Intervention, implying as it does, military subjugation is revolting to the people of the United States, notwithstanding the provocation to that course has been great and should be resorted to, if at all, only as a last resort. The stubborn resistance of the president and his advisers to every demand and suggestion to enter upon it, is creditable alike to them and to the people in whose name he speaks.

Merchant Marine

Immediate provision should be made for the development of the carrying trade of the United States. Our foreign commerce has in the past been subject to many unnecessary and vexatious obstacles in the way of legislation or republican congresses. Until the recent democratic tariff legislation it was hampered by unreasonable burdens of taxation. Until the recent banking legislation, it had its disposal few of the necessary instrumentalities of international credit and exchange. Until the formulation of the pending act to promote the construction of a merchant marine, it lacked even the prospect of adequate carriage by sea. We heartily endorse the purpose and policies of the pending shipping bill and favor all such additional measures of constructive and remedial legislation as may be necessary to restore our flag to the seas and to provide further facilities for our foreign commerce, particularly such laws as may be made to remove unfair conditions of competition in the dealings of American merchants and producers with competitors in foreign markets.

Conservation

For safeguarding and quickening the life of our people, we favor the conservation and development of the natural resources of the country by means of a policy which shall be positive rather than negative, a policy which shall not withhold such resources from development, but which, while permitting and encouraging their use, shall prevent both waste and monopoly in their exploitation, and we earnestly favor the passage of acts which will accomplish these objects, and we reaffirm the declaration of the platform of 1912 on this subject. The policy of reclaiming our arid lands should be a steadily adhered to.

The Administration and the Farmer

We favor the vigorous prosecution and investigations and plans to render agriculture more profitable and country life more healthful, comfortable, attractive, and we believe that this should be a dominant aim of the nation as well as of the states. With all its recent improvement, farming still lags behind other occupations in development as a business and the advantages of an advancing civilization have not accrued to rural communities in a fair proportion. Much has been accomplished in this field under the present administration—far more than under any previous administration. In the federal reserve act of the last congress and the rural credits act of the present congress, the machinery has been created which will make credit available to the farmer constantly and readily, and he has at last been put upon a footing of equality with the merchant and the manufacturer in securing the capital necessary to carry on his enterprises. Grades and standards necessary to the intelligent and successful conduct of the business of agriculture have also been established or are in the course of being established by law. The long-needed cotton futures act, passed by the Sixty-third congress, has now been in successful operation for nearly two years. A grain grades bill, long needed, and a permissive warehouse bill, intended to provide better storage facilities and to enable the farmer to obtain certificates upon which he may secure advances of money, have been passed by the house of representatives have been favorably reported to the senate and will probably become law during the present session of the congress. Both houses have passed a good roads measure which will be of far reaching benefit to all agricultural communities. Above all the extraordinary and significant progress has been made, under the department of agriculture, in extending and perfecting practical farm demonstration work which is so rapidly substituting scientific for empirical farming. But it is also necessary that rural activities should be better directed through co-operation and organization that unfair methods of competition should be eliminated and the conditions requisite for the just, orderly and economical marketing of farm products created. We approve the democratic administration for having emphatically directed attention for the first time to the essential interests of agriculture involved in farm marketing and finance, for creating the office of markets and rural organization in connection with the department of agriculture and for extending the co-operative machinery necessary for conveying information to farmers by means of demonstration. We favor continued liberal provision, not only for the benefit of production, but also for the study and solution of problems of farm marketing and finance and for the extension of exist-

The Doctor's Advice

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. for two years to diet so as to increase my weight and improve the quality of my blood, but in vain. Please prescribe for me?"

Answer: Thin, scrawny, bloodless people need assistance in absorbing nutrition from the food eaten, and for this particular purpose I always prescribe three-grain hypo-nutrients tablets, a most effective preparation if regularly and persistently used, as it seems to increase the red and white corpuscles of the blood, thus affording health, strength and increased weight.

M. J. B. asks: "My hair is too oily and my scalp itches with dandruff, and of late it is coming out too much. What is a good treatment?"

Answer: Obtain plain yellow mineral from your druggist in 4-oz. jars and apply as per directions. This cleans, purifies, cools and invigorates the hair and scalp, thus stopping the death of the hair. Dandruff and itching are at once relieved. Men and women all over the country now use it regularly.

"Essex" writes: "What should I do to relieve a severe case of kidney and bladder disease? Urine is dark, foul of odor and passage is irregular, painful, etc. Have depression, fever, chills, pains like rheumatism, and soreness in region of bladder."

Answer: For such symptoms as you describe I prescribe my favorite formula under the name of balmwort tablets. This is a splendidly efficacious remedy for such abnormal conditions. Begin their use as per directions on each sealed tube.

Good Roads

The happiness, comfort and prosperity of rural life, and the development of the city, are alike conserved by the construction of public highways. We, therefore, favor national aid in the construction of post roads and roads for military purposes.

Government Employment

We hold that the life, health and strength of the men, women and children of the nation are its greatest asset, and that in the conservation of these, the federal government, wherever it acts as the employer of labor, should both on its own account and as an example, put into effect the following principles of just employment:

- 1—A living wage for all employees.
- 2—A working day not to exceed eight hours, with one day of rest in seven.
- 3—The adoption of safety appliances and the establishment of thoroughly sanitary conditions of labor.
- 4—Adequate compensation for industrial accidents.
- 5—The standards of the "uniform child labor law," wherever minors are employed.
- 6—Such provisions for decency, comfort and health in the employment of women as should be accorded the mothers of the race.
- 7—An equitable retirement law providing for the retirement of superannuated and disabled employees of the civil service, to the end that a higher standard of efficiency may be maintained.

We believe also that the adoption of similar principles should be urged and applied in the legislation of the states with regard to labor within their borders; that through every possible agency the life and health of the people of the nation should be conserved.

Labor

We declare our faith in the seamen's act, passed by the democratic congress and we promise our earnest continuance of its enforcement. We favor the speedy enactment of an effective federal child labor law, and the regulation of the shipment of prison made goods into interstate commerce.

We favor the creation of a federal bureau of safety in the department of labor, to gather facts concerning industrial hazards and to recommend legislation to prevent the maiming and killing of human beings. We favor the extension of the

We favor the development, upon a systematic scale of the means, already begun under the present administration, to assist laborers throughout the nation to seek and obtain employment, and the extension by the federal government, by the same assistance and encouragement, as is now given to agricultural training.

HOW TO BE SLIM

If you are too fat and want to reduce your weight 15 or 20 pounds, don't starve and weaken your system, or think you must always be laughed at on account of your fat, but go to City Book and Drug Store, 500 Main St., or Columbian Pharmacy, 123 So. Fourth St. and get a box of Oil of Korein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week and note what a pleasant and reliable method this is for removing superfluous fat from any part of the body. It costs little, is absolutely harmless and a week's trial should convince anyone that it is unnecessary to be burdened with even a single pound of unsightly fat.

Varicose Veins Are Quickly Reduced and Terrible Eczema Goes Quickly

Strong, Powerful, Yet Safe, Surgeons' Prescription Called Moore's Emerald Oil, Has Astonished Physicians.

There is one simple and inexpensive way to reduce dangerous, swollen veins and bunces, and get them down to normal, and that is to apply Moore's Emerald Oil night and morning. People who have painful, enlarged veins should not neglect them for they sometimes burst and cause much misery and loss of time. Moore's Emerald Oil besides being so marvelously antiseptic that it at once destroys germs and poisons caused by germs is such a remarkable healing agent that eczema, barbers' itch, salt rheum and other inflammatory skin eruptions go in a few days. Piles are quickly absorbed and even goiters, wens and enlarged glands are dissolved.

For years it has been used in hospitals for boils, carbuncles, ulcers, abscesses and open sores, and with the most perfect success. With each 50 cent original bottle which any pharmacist can supply you, is a folder that gives instructions for use in all of the above distressing complaints. Any druggist sells a great deal of Moore's Emerald Oil, and will be glad to supply you.

LET US GIVE YOU MEDICAL ADVICE WITHOUT COST

If you suffer from Rheumatism, Catarrh, Malaria. If you have chronic sores, pimples, itchy and blotchy skin. If you have blood trouble in any form.

In the laboratories of the Swift Specific Company, in Atlanta, trained physicians have been working for fifty years making the most careful and thorough study of all blood diseases. Those which are known to be handed down from previous generations and those contracted, but not necessarily of an hereditary nature. These blood diseases are commonly known as Catarrh, Rheumatism, Malaria, Eczema, Tetters, Rash, Hives, Salt Rheum, Lupus, Poisoned Blood, Scrofula and the blood troubles incident to old age. These are the blood diseases which have absorbed the time of our specialists in exhaustive experiments, rigid tests and laboratory work for upwards of fifty years.

A great many of these troubles you yourself have known. Possibly you are a sufferer from Catarrh, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Eczema or one of the many so-called skin diseases. If so, you doubtless have tried lotions, salves, douches and various "Sure Cures" to relieve yourself of your trouble, only to find in the long run that the treatment in many cases aggravated it rather than gave relief. Physicians in many cases are wrong in their methods of treatment of such diseases, and for the simple reason that they have not had the experience with blood diseases as have come under the observation and treatment of the specialists of the Swift Specific Company.

It is an undoubted fact that the sufferer from Rheumatism, Scrofula, Eczema, Malaria-Poison, and the so-called skin diseases is running a fearful risk to allow these troubles to continue. It is evident from their continued recurrence that they are not being given the proper treatment. You must realize that the trouble is in the blood whether contracted from the germs of other sufferers or inherited. Do not trifle with these diseases, but if you have the slightest manifestation of trouble, get a bottle of S. S. S. and write to us for medical advice; it is free.

If you suffer from any of the troubles mentioned, go at once to your druggist and get a bottle of S. S. S. It is the most marvelous blood cleanser and blood tonic known, and it will be what you need for the reason that the source of Rheumatism, Scrofula, Eczema and Catarrh is in the blood, blood weakened and debilitated so it cannot perform its normal functions of giving strength and vigor to the body. S. S. S. will purify your blood, but we want to advise you of any additional treatment necessary and help to restore you to the glorious feeling of perfect health so you may feel the rich, pure blood tingle with vigor as it courses through your body.

Don't delay, but write today and let us give you medical advice absolutely free. Don't let anyone persuade you to take a substitute when you go to buy S. S. S. There is none "just as good." Write Medical Department 13, Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Established department of labor for its excellent record in settling industrial strikes by personal advice and through conciliating agents.

Public Health

We favor a further reconsideration of the means and methods by which the federal government handles questions of public health, to the end that human life may be conserved by the elimination of loathsome diseases, the improvement of sanitation and the diffusion of a knowledge of disease prevention. We favor the establishment by the federal government of tuberculosis sanitariums for needy tubercular patients.

Senate Rules

We favor such an alteration of the rules of procedure of the senate of the United States as will permit the prompt transaction of the nation's legislative business.

Economy and the Budget

We demand careful economy in all expenditures for the support of the government and to that end favor a return by the house of representatives to its former practice of initiating and preparing all appropriation bills through a single committee chosen from its membership, in order that responsibility may be centered, expenditures standardized and made uniform, and waste and duplication in the public service as much as possible avoided. We favor this as a practicable first step towards a budget system.

Civil Service

We reaffirm our declaration for the rigid enforcement of the civil service laws.

Philippines

We heartily endorse the provisions of the bill, recently passed by the house of representatives, further promoting self government in the Philippine Islands as being in fulfillment of the policy declared by the democratic party in its last national platform and we reiterate our endorsement of the purpose of ultimate independence for the Philippine Islands, expressed in the preamble of that measure.

Woman Suffrage

We recommend the extension of the franchise to the women of the country by the states upon the same terms as to men.

Protection of Citizens

We again declare the policy that the sacred rights of American citizenship must be preserved at home and abroad, and that no treaty with any other government shall receive the sanction of our government

FORD PEACE MAN TO SPEAK HERE FOR B. A. YEOMEN

H. C. Evans of Des Moines, Iowa, editor of the Yeomen Shield of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen, and noted speaker, will lecture at the Yeomen hall Tuesday evening, June 20.

Mr. Evans was a member of the Ford peace expedition, and will lecture on European conditions as he found them. Mr. Evans just returned from an extensive tour through the western states, and the Yeomen of La Crosse Homestead are very fortunate in having him appear here. In order to give everyone an opportunity to hear Mr. Evans, the hall will be thrown open to the public. Another pleasing feature of the evening's entertainment will be an exhibition drill by the Yeomen juvenile drill team. From here Mr. Evans will go to Eau Claire and Superior.

which does not expressly recognize the absolute equality of all our citizens irrespective of race, creed or previous nationality, and which does not recognize the right of expatriation. The American government should protect American citizens in their rights not only at home but abroad, and any country having a government should be held to strict accountability for any wrongs done them, either to person or property. At the earliest practicable opportunity our country should strive earnestly for peace among the warring nations of Europe and seek to bring about the adoption of the fundamental principle of justice and humanity, that all men shall enjoy equality of right and freedom from discrimination of the lands wherein they dwell.

Prison Reform

We demand that the modern principles of prison reform be applied in our federal penal system. We favor such work for prisoners as shall give them training in remunerative occupations so that they may make an honest living when released from prison; the setting apart of the net wages of the prisoner to be paid to his dependent family or to be reserved for his own use upon his release; the liberal extension of the principles of the federal parole law, with due regard both to the welfare of the prisoner and the interests of society; the adoption of the probation system, especially in the case of first offenders not convicted of serious crimes.

Pensions

We renew declarations of recent democratic platforms relating to generous pensions for soldiers and their widows, and call attention to our record of performance in this particular.

Waterways and Flood Control

We renew the declaration in our last two platforms relating to the development of our waterways. The recent devastation of the lower Mississippi valley and several other sections by floods accentuates the movement for the regulation of river flow by additional bank and levee protection below and diversion, storage and control of the flooded waters above and their utilization for beneficial purposes in the reclamation of arid and swamp lands and development of water power, instead of permitting the floods to continue as heretofore agents of destruction. We hold that the control of the Mississippi river is a national problem. The preservation of the depths of its waters for purposes of navigation, the building of levees and works of bank protection to maintain the integrity of its channel and prevent the overflow of its valley resulting in the interruption of interstate commerce, the organization of the mail service, and the enormous loss of life and property, impose an obligation which alone can be discharged by the national government.

We favor the adoption of a liberal and comprehensive plan for the development and improvement of our harbors and inland waterways with economy and efficiency so as to permit their navigation by vessels of standard draft.

Alaska

It has been and will be the policy of the democratic party to enact all laws necessary for the speedy development of Alaska and its great natural resources.

Territories

We favor granting to the people of Alaska, Hawaii and Porto Rico the traditional territorial government accorded to all territories of the United States since the beginning of our government, and we believe the officials appointed to administer the government of these several territories should be qualified by previous bona fide residence.

Candidates

We unreservedly endorse our president and vice-president, Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey, and Thomas Riley Marshall of Indiana, who have performed the functions of their great offices fully and impartially, and with distinguished ability.

In particular we commend to the American people the splendid diplomatic victories of our great president, who has preserved the vital interests of our government and its citizens, and kept us out of war.

Woodrow Wilson stands today the greatest American of his generation.

Conclusion

This is a critical hour in the history of America's critical hour in the history of the world. Upon the record above set forth, which shows great constructive achievement in following out a consistent policy for our domestic and international development; upon the record of the democratic administration which has maintained the honor, the dignity and the interests of the United States, and at the same time retained the respect and friendship of all the nations of the world, and upon the great policies for the future strengthening of the life of our country, the enlargement of our national vision and the ennobling of our international relations, as set forth above, we appeal with confidence to the voters of the country.

WOLFE DEFENDS STATE AGAINST HYPHEN CHARGE

La Crosse Man's Speech Seconding Wilson Enthusiastically Received by Convention

PREDICTS VICTORY IN NOVEMBER

People of State Are Not Misled by Criticism of Wilson's Foreign Policy

COLISEUM, ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 16.—Defense of Wisconsin against the charge of hyphenism was the note struck by William F. Wolfe of La Crosse, democratic candidate for United States senator, in his speech seconding the renomination of President Wilson before the democratic national convention last night. An outburst of applause and cheers greeted the Wisconsin leader as he concluded.

"I am not unmindful of the fact," said the Badger democrat, "that the impression has been spread throughout the land that Wisconsin by virtue of the character of a considerable part of its population will not stand the test and measure up to the high standard of Americanism set by our distinguished president."

"I am here to tell you that we have been misrepresented. I am here to say that our people have always taken a keen and discerning interest in public affairs and their political wisdom is exemplified in Wisconsin statutory enactments."

The La Crosse delegates assured the convention that Wisconsin will again give a splendid account of itself in the November election.

Wolfe said:

Not Like Chicago

"We learn from the public press that the representatives from the great commonwealth of Wisconsin were shamefully abused at the republican convocation held at Chicago last week. They suffered humiliation at the hands of their fellow republicans and thus humiliation was superinduced by the most cruel and insidious form of mal-treatment that can be conceived of. Their most serious efforts were derided and laughed at."

"We come to this convention conscious of the fact that we will be accorded better treatment. We realize that this great body of representative Americans has not forgotten the fact that four years ago our representatives stood unswervingly until the last ballot was counted for the nomination of our now illustrious president of the United States. That once nominated the life and past performance of Woodrow Wilson so deeply impressed the serious minded, forward looking and progressive people of our great state, that large numbers of them broke their former political ties and affiliations and cheerfully gave their franchises to aid our candidate and our cause."

"As their spokesman, I am commissioned to say that Wisconsin democrats are here again to re-consecrate themselves and again enlist and offer their services to battle under the leadership of Woodrow Wilson."

"I am not unmindful of the fact that the impression has been spread throughout the land that Wisconsin by virtue of the character of a considerable part of its population will not stand the test and measure up to the high standard of Americanism set by our distinguished president."

State Misrepresented

"I am here to tell you that we have been misrepresented. I am here to say that our people have always taken a keen and discerning interest in public affairs and their political wisdom is exemplified in Wisconsin statutory enactments."

"We have, as all other states have, a few leather-lunged crusaders, who have momentarily failed to grasp the full import and significance of our institutions. These are comparatively few in number, and while they are vociferous and their activities are disconcerting, yet their effect on the body politic is negligible."

"These agitators will not and cannot sway the judgment of the great mass of our citizenship, no matter what their ancestors be. I have reason to know their descendants. I have heard them recount the tales of the political and industrial conditions that prevailed in the land from whence they came; why they came to the United States; what they expected to find here, and whether the ultimate realization met the anticipated expectation. The great mass of these people are among our best citizens; they familiarized themselves with our institutions; they are respecters of authority and appreciate human liberty; they know the difference between right and wrong, and in the final analysis will reward conduct that is right. This is not speculation on my part. The preliminary vote in Wisconsin in April demonstrated beyond question or equivocation that our people possess the faculty of thinking and drawing correct conclusions."

AUTOMATIC SIGNALS PLANNED BY ROAD

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—The Northwestern railroad has filed plans with the railroad commission for an automatic signal system on its line between Wisconsin and Fond du Lac, a distance of fifty-seven miles. It is expected that the system will be in operation August 1.

The Wisconsin Public Service company of Green Bay has applied to the commission for a certificate of public convenience and necessity to furnish current to the village of Two Rivers. The village owns a plant, but it wants to buy current for all consumers who use over 40 horse power.

HIGH SCHOOL STARS GO TO WISCONSIN

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—Sherman Landers and Frank Loomis, Oregon, Ill., high school athletes, whose fleetness on the track won Stagg's fifteenth annual interscholastic track and field meet at Chicago last week over athletes from more than 100 schools throughout the country, will enter the University of Wisconsin this fall, it was announced here today. Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Chicago and Michigan had bid them register but the two boys favored Wisconsin because Jo Loomis, brother of Frank, and famous sprinter, was a former Wisconsin student.

Autos Hit on Crossing

MADISON, Wis., June 16.—For two consecutive weeks accidents have been reported to the railroad commission that have resulted from engines in automobiles going "dead" on railroad crossings. Train No. 292 on the Illinois Central road struck an automobile at Belleville a few days ago. No one was hurt. The auto was "killed" by the driver on the crossing.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's Heroes

Hans Wagner, the Flying Dutchman, still has a few kicks left in him. He was responsible for the Pirates' win over the Braves, driving in both runs for Pittsburgh and fielding brilliantly.

Leonard of the Red Sox won his own game from the White Sox in the ninth. With the score tied and Janvin on second, the Boston pitcher smashed a bounder to left, scoring the winning run.

Boehling of the Senators worsted Plank of the Browns in a pitching duel. Plank blew up in the eighth, when two weeks, a walk and a sacrifice netted Washington the one and only run of the game.

The Tigers beat the Athletics, Daus keeping the Mackmen's hits well scattered.

Bush deserve d to win. He started out by whiffing eight in the first six sessions, but struck a snag in the seventh, when a cluster of hits gave the Tigers three runs.

The Cubs' winning streak was broken by a cast-off, Mike Mowrey, a discard picked up by the Dodgers, doubled in the fourth, scoring two. After that McConnell held the Brooklynites runless.

Williams, a rookie twirler acquired by the Cardinals, made an ignominious debut. The Giants rocked him for three runs in the first, and added one apiece in the fourth and fifth.

The Phillies performed like hitless wonders. They beat the Reds 2 to 1, though outhit 10 to 4.

The league champions bunched two blows in the seventh and with the help of a sacrifice and a wild throw scored twice.

The Pirates' win over the Braves and the Reds' loss to the Phillies, brought Pittsburgh up to within two points of Cincinnati, in sixth place.

ACCURACY A CHIEF ESSENTIAL

Ambitious Proponents of the Pageant See In It a Possible Substitute for War

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 15.—The preparedness propaganda has recently shared with Shakespeare the honor of several hundred pageants. Youthful Cordelias and Desdemonas have adorned the college campus; the high school rifle clubs have turned their activities to killing Caesars and Nacbeths; and throughout the country the history of the Indians and first American settlers has for the time being been forgotten in the enthusiasm of the early Italian and Anglo-Saxon drama. In almost every large educational center the windows of the local photographers are at present attracting great crowds of young Americans who proudly gaze upon themselves as the pageant portrayals of Shakespeare.

It is not often that two such necessary excuses as preparedness and the tercentenary of the bard demand the production of pageants, and the American public, in whom the dramatic instinct is well developed, is taking advantage of them. This is the day of the historical pageant; if there ever was one. When the mere sight of the American flag on a motion picture screen can bring the audience to its feet in patriotic enthusiasm, it is natural that people would rather see the Landing of the Pilgrims and Penn's Treaty with the Indians depicted by their sons and daughters than the latest Broadway problem comedy.

The modern pageant, which has been called the hybrid product of the procession and the play, was, in its ancient form, the foundation of all drama. The Greeks and Romans chose the backgrounds for their open-air performances, or pageants, with careful regard for the picturesqueness of the scenery and none whatever for the convenience of the audience. One time the site selected faced a wide river; it is not recorded whether the audience sat in boats or whether, in fact, it was witnessed at all, but it shows that the Romans at least did not believe in sacrificing art in deference to the audience.

Throughout the middle ages the pageant was a popular form of entertainment in England, witnessed by all the royal personages, and was eclipsed only with great difficulty by the theater drama which made its appearance in the time of Shakespeare. Within the past ten years pageants have again become the rage in England, very nearly turning the tables on the theater. In this country the modern pageant had its beginning as early as 1838 in Marietta, O., where a historical series of episodes was given to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the town. The founding of Marietta the first pioneer settlements and the treaties of peace with the Indians were all depicted by the grandchildren and great grandchildren of the pioneers, many of whom wore the actual clothing and ornaments of their ancestors, carefully preserved as precious heirlooms.

The Marietta production was considered so important that representatives from several states attended and carried the news back home. From that time on, the pageant has become an established institution in America consisting of three forms:

LOOKING UP SIGNERS OF NOTES

LAST SEEN IN CHICAGO HOTEL

Efforts to Trace A. M. Castle Since Latter Part of May Have Proven Unsuccessful

La Crosse attorneys and bankers and representatives of foreign banking houses, today started a rigid investigation of the financial activities of A. M. Castle, president of the A. M. Castle Engineering company, whose firm was today involuntarily plunged into bankruptcy by a petition signed by the Continental Credit Trust company, Chicago. Walter S. Woods and J. E. Stokke, La Crosse, while the involuntary petition filed in the United States court here sets the liabilities at $50,000. Attorney A. C. Wolfe, who represents the Continental people, contends that the total indebtedness of the concern will probably reach $100,000, and that the manipulations of Mr. Castle, on the surface, indicate greater ingenuity than ever displayed by the fictional character, J. Rufus Wallingford.

Efforts on the part of attorneys for the creditors to locate Castle have been fruitless, as have been efforts to locate even a portion of the $50,000 assets claimed by Mr. Castle in a recent statement to creditors.

In fact, according to Mr. Wolfe, the visible assets of the company, consisting mostly of farm machinery, gas engines and stock, are slowly melting away—disappearing so rapidly that the La Crosse attorney tonight leaves for Madison, there to petition the United States court for the appointment of a receiver for the company.

The Burlington railroad is interested in the matter to the extent of ascertaining how bills of lading were marked "Paid" with the official stamp of the railroad without the local freight offices having a record of either the shipment or payment.

One of the local banks is today investigating the validity of signatures on notes offered by Castle for security on loans.

Castle, prior to the organization of the Castle Engineering company here, was connected with the Emerson-Brantingham Implement company, Kenosha, Wis.

La Crosse bankers today were a unit in declaring Castle one of the most able business men that ever landed in La Crosse, pointing to the fact that with comparatively little capital he had rushed the sales up until the company's business totalled almost $100,000 a year.

One banker, who a few months ago was asked for a report on the firm's condition, answered that the sales and business were enormous but, in view of the capital, it appeared "too good to be true."

Attorney A. C. Wolfe, for the creditors, contends that of the $50,000 claimed as assets by Castle in a January statement to creditors, nothing has been found.

Mr. Castle, it is claimed, left La Crosse in May and the last trace creditors have had was when he checked out of the La Salle hotel in Chicago.

LAREDO, Texas, June 15.—Two American soldiers were killed and seven wounded in a fight with Mexican bandits who crossed the Rio Grande near San Ignacio, forty-five miles below here last night, according to reports received here today. The total Mexican casualties are not known, but the bodies of six bandits were found in the brush, it is said.

100 Bandits in Attack

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 15.—General Mann, commanding at Laredo, reported to General Funston today that troops I and M, Fourteenth cavalry, were attacked at San Ignacio, south of that place, by about 100 Mexicans at 2 o'clock this morning. Two Americans were killed and eleven wounded in the fighting which lasted half an hour. Major Gray is pursuing the scattered bandits.

Gray stated that he had communicated with Carranza troops on the Mexican side of the river who reported they had killed four of the bandits driven back by the Americans. The bandits are said to have gathered at Las Tortillas ranch, fifteen miles from the border. Gray has been unable to pick up the trails of the bandits who crossed the river.

Official Report

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Official report on the fight between Mexican bandits and troops I and M, United States cavalry, near San Ignacio, where two American soldiers and six bandits were killed and seven Americans wounded, was received at the war department this afternoon from General Funston.

The fight lasted thirty minutes, Major Gray, commanding, reported. The report from Funston dated today reads:

"From General Mann, Laredo, troops I and M, Fourteenth cavalry, at San Ignacio were attacked at 2:00 o'clock this morning by a party of about 100 Mexicans. After a fight of half an hour the attacking party was driven off."

"Two soldiers were killed and seven wounded; will send names as soon as received. Bodies of six Mexicans and six dead horses were found in brush. Clothing of dead men was wet, showing they had crossed river."

"Major Gray, in command, telephoned party scattered and he thinks went down river. His scouts are trying."

RUSSIANS STAND

PETROGRAD, June 15.—The Russian offensive concentrating just north of Czernowitz in an effort to push through and cut off the defenders of the Bukovina capital from Lemberg on the north has succeeded, according to unofficial, though reliable reports received here.

The czar's soldiers have advanced along the Pruth practically to the gates of Czernowitz and immediately to the north of it have taken several points along the direct line of railroad running toward Lemberg, the Galician capital. Kolomea is the objective of the north of Czernowitz attack.

Should this town fall, Czernowitz would be without direct rail communication with Lemberg, though it could be maintained and supplied with men from there by sending them on a wide detour to the west. A successful drive on Czernowitz with persistence in the offensive immediately to the north would force the Austrians to the bitter expedient of retreating through the Carpathians.

Continuation of the attacks in the region of Kovel and Lemberg are reported without, however, the enormous gains of the first several days of the drive. Still other aggressives are reported against the German portion of the line north of Pinsk. Here the Russians have not been so successful as in the south.

SENATOR OLLIE JAMES

Agreement Is Signed at Noon After Compromise Reached in Meeting Yesterday

CONTRACT RUNS INDEFINITELY

Men Must Give Notice of Demand for Increase Thirty Days Before Expiration of Year

Contracts calling for a general wage increase of two cents an hour, time and a half for over time, and double time for work after midnight, were signed at noon today by a committee of the street car men's local union and officers of the Wisconsin Railway Light and Power company, owners of the La Crosse street car system.

Vice-president Here

Chief among the street car company officers was H. L. Rice, Milwaukee, vice-president. The car men's committee consisted of H. A. Straight, Peter Sieger, Charles Kanter, Edward Jones and Jerry Harms.

The agreement is a compromise reached after two meetings with the company officials. The men's first demand was for a raise of five cents an hour. The company countered last week with an offer of one cent advance. The men refused, rejoining with an offer to accept three cents. At the final meeting yesterday afternoon it was agreed to "split the difference."

Runs Indefinitely

The new wage will take effect June 21, when the present contract expires. The contract will hold good indefinitely, unless a demand for an increase is made by the men thirty days prior to June 21, 1917.

The raise affects both old and young employees. Men having worked six months are now receiving twenty-one cents per hour; men employed more than six months are getting twenty-two cents and men employed more than a year are getting twenty-five cents. The wage scale now calls for twenty-three, twenty-four, and twenty-seven cents.

Union leaders today declared themselves pleased with the amicable settlement of the matter. At no time, they said did they desire to have trouble with their employees.

DEFEATED BY RUSS
FLEET IN BALTIC

LONDON, June 15.—Russian and German light squadrons met in a battle in the Baltic sea early Wednesday morning in which the Russians were victorious. The clash occurred near the Swedish coast.

A report of the engagement cabled from Copenhagen says the German auxiliary cruiser Koehnig von Sachsen was sunk with all on board, while a German destroyer and twelve merchantmen which the German squadron were conveying, also were sunk. This dispatch says the Russians had six destroyers and several submarines and approached at such speed that the Germans were taken completely by surprise, and only fired one shot, then made for port in the utmost haste.

Convention Marks Time While Resolutions Committee Prepares Its Report

Potential Booms Deflated and Marshall Is Expected to Have No Opposition

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

COLISEUM, ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 15.—Democracy's nominees for the presidency and vice presidency will be named tonight. The national convention this afternoon agreed to the plan and may smash precedents by nominating before adopting the platform. Senator James declared this plan had been definitely determined upon, a great deal depending on whether the resolutions committee is ready to report. If the committee is ready, the platform probably will be quickly adopted ahead of nominations.

The renomination of President Wilson will be begun at 9 o'clock, with a speech by Judge Westcott of New Jersey. Seconding speeches will be limited to five minutes.

Following Wilson's nomination, John W. Kern will present to the convention the name of Thomas R. Marshall for vice president.

Today's session was a picturesque one. Senator James, Kentucky's huge senator, spoke another democratic keynote, and it was keynote of defiance; of boasts of President Wilson's successful maintenance of peace, and a profession of entire optimism that the people would perpetuate the Wilsonian policies.

James got almost as enthusiastic a reception as did the main keynote of the convention—ex-Governor Martin H. Glynn—in yesterday's session. The convention yelled repeatedly for a speech from William J. Bryan but at the first indication that he was being demanded the former secretary of state beat a hurried exit from his seat in the press stand.

If President Wilson in Washington pulled the strings which actuated the proceedings of the democratic national convention today, he did not rank them very hard. The convention, met, got itself worked up into an enthusiastic state of mind by some good Cohen flag waving, "Old Glory" song singing and spread eagle oratory—without getting very much ahead on the long planned and perfectly perfunctory program of renominating President Wilson and Vice-president Marshall and fixing up a platform for them.

Work on Platform
The only real work done by the democrats was in the resolutions committee where the platform builders strove to put the finishing planks on the skeleton structure forwarded.

WILSON GETS DOWN
CAMPAIGN PLANS

WASHINGTON, June 15.—President Wilson has decided to name Vance C. McCormick of Pennsylvania to manage his campaign. This information came today from unofficial sources generally accepted as reliable.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—President Wilson took personal charge today of the preliminaries of his fight for re-election. His first work was the immediate task of choosing his field general. With this end in view he had a long conference with Bernard Baruch of New York. The president will announce his decision probably Saturday.

In the meantime some of the president's advisers are trying to be a can to chances of Homer Cummings, present vice chairman of the national committee and mentioned to succeed McCormick. Influential democrats today urged the president urging Vance McCormick of Pennsylvania for the job. McCormick, they argued, could corral a goodly number of progressive ballots.

Party leaders close to the president said today that the latter fully appreciates the coming campaign will be hot. He remembers the grilling fight Hughes made in his New York state battles. He is confident, however, of victory and his lieutenants are just as certain of success, provided the president goes out personally to lead the fight.

JONES WANTS MOOSE PLANKS

Madison Editor Boosts for Wilson and Urges Social Justice Declaration

BY A. M. BRAYTON

COLISEUM, ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 15.—Senator O. Husting of Wisconsin this morning went before the sub-committee of the resolutions committee, to urge the adoption of a drastic plank assailing organizations that create agitation of unpatriotic nature. While the German-American alliance is not mentioned in terms, the direct application of the plank to it is inescapable. Mr. Husting's plank also condemns the presidential candidate and platform of the republican party for an alleged attempt to appeal to the votes of unpatriotic people and alliances.

At a meeting of the Wisconsin delegation this morning, it was decided to hold a convention in Wisconsin, either July 6 or July 12, as the chairman may decide, to make a declaration of principles, endorse candidates and urge the selection of strong men for legislative candidates. It is said here William F. Wolfe will have practically a unanimous endorsement for United States senator, notwithstanding the activity of Judge Karel's friends to have the La Crosse man switch to governor. Indicates "Key" is still in the toga race, Wolfe positively will not be a candidate for governor.

The Husting plank is somewhat more vigorous than a similar plank by President Wilson. It was decided to adopt the Wilson plank with some points from Husting's. All during today's session there have been intermittent demonstrations for Bryan, frequently lasting several minutes. It appears the convention will not dare ignore the demand for a Bryan speech.

Correcting an oversight, the state central committee today named Herman Grothoforst, Baraboo, and G. H. White, River Falls, respectively upon notification of presidential and vice presidential nominees.

The Madison editor will urge the democratic committee on resolutions to draft a platform taking over the entire social welfare program of the progressives and will offer a plank providing for equal suffrage.

Working With Democrats

Jones, when seen in the press gallery of the democratic national convention on Wednesday, said he is working with the democratic platform makers, urging them to take over the social welfare program of the progressives in order that "the progressives who have been dynamited by their own leader may feel at home in the democratic party and support President Wilson."

Asked if he had become affiliated with the democratic organization, he replied emphatically "No." He said the democratic party of Wisconsin had done little or nothing. "Only its minority," said he, "have stood for the progressive policies that have given Wisconsin distinction."

He referred to La Follette as "the most constructive statesman in America," and added, "I will work at all times to uphold his hands and fight for the progressive principles he represents."

South Far Behind

"The democratic party nationally," continued Jones, "is encumbered with the burden of democracy of the south which is so far behind the times it can not see the president in the procession."

He said the woman's party meeting in Chicago was "saturated with inspiration and determination." He believes this organization is one that other political parties must reckon with, before he offered a plank which says:

"Now that there are more than 4,000,000 women voters in this country and the issue has been ratified by the legislative action of twelve separate states and there is a recognized demand for equal suffrage among a large number of citizens, we favor the passage by congress of a federal amendment to the constitution"

PLANS ANNOUNCED
FOR FORMATION OF COMMERCE CHAMBER

Joint Committee of Civic Bodies After Prolonged Study Outlines Its System

PLAN WORKED OUT ELSEWHERE

Follows Commercial Organization Method Adopted by More Than 100 Progressive Cities

The long planned and much discussed movement for an amalgamation of the civic and commercial bodies of La Crosse into one centralized, systematized and permanent organization is now a reality. Headquarters have been opened in the basement of the La Crosse club on North Fifth street and a campaign with very definite objects in view is well under way today.

The thing aimed at is the creation of a modern Chamber of Commerce in which will be merged the Board of Trade, the Manufacturers' and Jobbers' Association, the Retail Merchants' Association and other organizations of similar character both in the city and vicinity. The new organization will be built along the lines generally recognized by commercial organization authorities as being the most efficient, business-like, democratic and permanent.

It will be patterned after the organization methods which have proved successful in more than 100 American cities during the past few years. It will be community wide in its scope and its activities will be so outlined that every member may find room for work for his city, while representatives of every trade, profession and industry will be given voice.

The active steps looking toward the formation of the new and bigger organization were taken by a joint committee made up of representatives of the Board of Trade, the Manufacturers' and Jobbers' Association and the Retail Merchants' Association and included A. L. Goetzmann, E. S. Dittman, John C. Burns, E. S. Heberd, A. H. Schubert, W. F. Hurlen, W. F. Goodrich, V. Tausche, D. W. MacWillie and William F. Strauss.

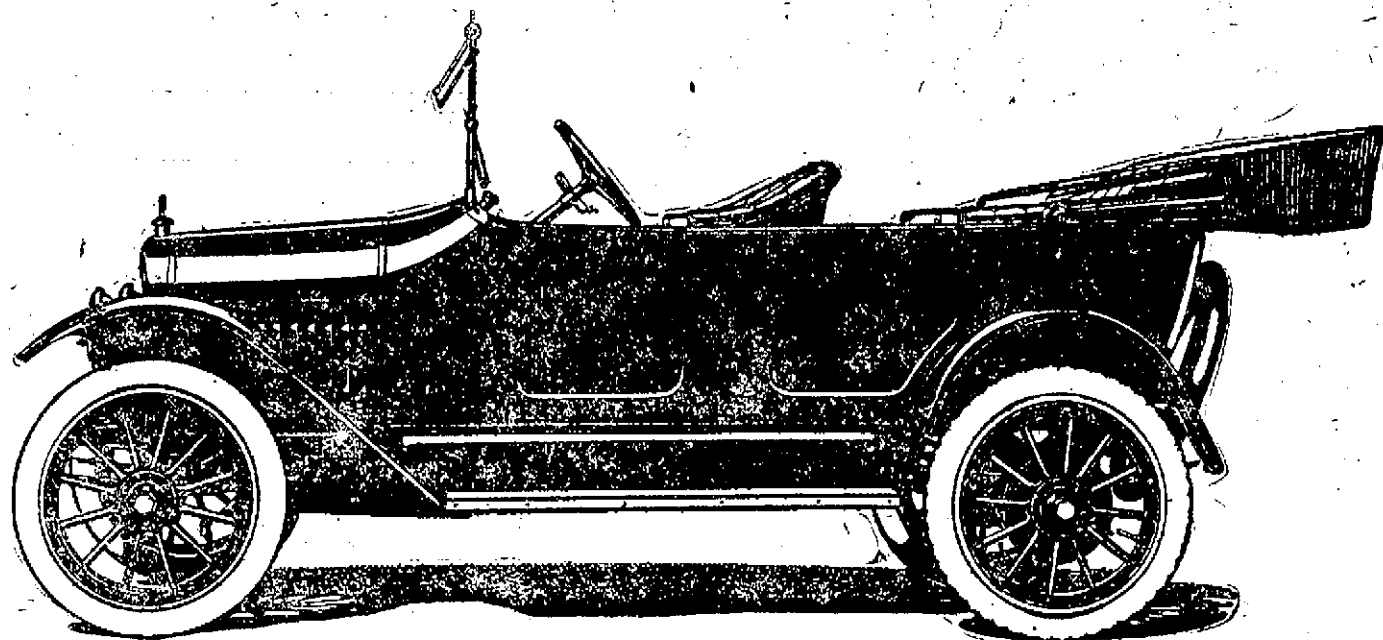

Convinced Needs
This committee before deciding on any definite plan made a canvass of the needs of La Crosse and then carefully investigated the methods and results of successful commercial organizations in various parts of the country. The committee's investigation was along conservative lines, and nothing was accepted which did not promise effectiveness and permanency.

The first step in the campaign for the Chamber of Commerce of La Crosse was the selection of a citizens' committee of some half a hundred members to be known as the "Forward La Crosse Committee." This committee was finally selected last evening and its membership includes the following men:

The Committee of Fifty
Frank P. Hixon, chairman; Arthur Holbek, L. C. Colman, Joseph J. Feilber, F. W. Pimman, William Doerflinger, N. M. Scott, Harry Taggart, J. B. Murray, John Mulder, J. W. Boyer, Joseph F. Gohres, J. G. Duraks, Dr. Edward Evans, Dr. George F. Hauser, F. P. Wenzel, W. F. Wolfe, E. M. Wing, B. C. Smith, Julius Burkhardt, H. J. Klave, Jr., Evald Olson, Dr. A. Gunderson, George W. Burton, Carl Michel, John Weyhaupt, Colonel F. A. Copeland, M. Funk, J. S. Medary, A. Hirschelmer, Walter Hosely, Henry Gund, William Torrance, Will Ott, Henry A. Salzer, L. H. Martin, George Irvine, F. H. Burgess, R. B. Gelatt, George Gordon, Dr. W. A. Anderson, C. A. Boerner, Hon. J. J. Esch, William F. Gutsch, Wesley Dawson, James Thompson and Argyle Scott.

The campaign will be centered around these men and the effort has been in selecting this committee to make it fully representative of the entire community.

The Reputation of the Maxwell

"WHAT is the bore and stroke of your motor," was asked a Maxwell owner not long ago.

"I don't know," he replied simply, "I don't buy cars on figures any more. I buy them on what they've done."

For this man, and for many others like him, it was enough that during the thirteen strenuous years the Maxwell record for performance, reliability and economy had swept it to the front.

Figures—engine speed figures, horse-power figures, wheel-base figures—they meant nothing to him. The name "Maxwell" carried more weight than all the technical description that could be offered.

Maxwell cars have achieved this great good will and this priceless position with the public only by their unequalled record of things done. What is said of an automobile in its specifications is one matter. What the car actually does in the hands of owners, year after year, is another matter.

The Maxwell car has won its position through sheer merit. It has set record after record in competition with cars of all prices and classes.

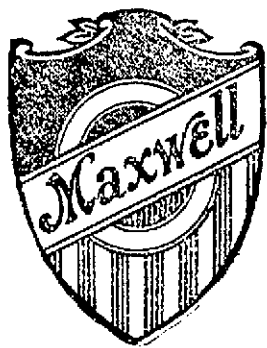

Everything considered, the Maxwell is the safe investment. It is a known, tried and proved product. It will serve you as it is serving and has served countless others.

Let us arrange for a demonstration today. You will be under no obligation. We want to give you a chance to convince yourself.

"Why Swear, Dear? Use 'Gets-It' for Corns!"

It's the New Plan. Simple. Sure as Fate. Applied in a Few Seconds.

"Why, John, I never knew you to use such language! I've told you several times it's no use to try those bandages, salves, tapes, plasters, and contraptions for corns. Here's some

"You Wouldn't Lose Your Temper, John, if You Used 'Gets-It' for Those Corns!"

'Gets-It' is just wonderful how easy, 'clear and clean' it makes any corn come right off. Takes but a few seconds to apply. It dries at once. Put your sock on right over it—there's nothing to stick or roll up, form a bundle of your toe, or press on the corn. It's painless, simple as rolling off a log. Now put away those knives, razors and scissors, use 'Gets-It' and you'll have a sweeter disposition and no more corns and callouses."

'Gets-It' is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

BURGALAR ALARM THAT SHOOTS

A new burglar alarm has lately been demonstrated which not only sounds a warning but discharges five blank cartridges as an additional means of frightening off the intruder. The device is fastened to the ceiling and may be in the entry or outside of the building as it is enclosed in a waterproof case. It is operated by an electric button concealed in a suitable place in the room likely to be robbed. When the button is pushed the bottom of the case drops down exposing the apparatus which consists of a four-inch gong and five forty-five caliber blank cartridges attached to a bar with firing pins operated by strong springs. Opening the door starts the clockwork which releases the spring and sounds the alarm. The button may be so placed that it would be possible for a burglar to press it with his foot. If a burglar forced him to hold up his hands under cover of a revolver while his confederate attempted to get away with the money.

CATCH THE STEP

In the past two years the world has had many significant lessons on the value of organization. It has been borne home to the observant that in modern civilization organized efficiency is essential to progress and success. It is the realization of this truth that has aroused those interested in national power expressed in terms of physical force to the insistent campaign for "preparedness". There has come home to the United States, by way of the bloody object lessons in Europe, a realization that muddle and dis-union are much too flimsy supports to be trusted with the security of any community.

Whether the results of European "preparedness" demonstrate a need for the United States to adopt similar military measures is arguable. It is not arguable that the "preparedness" has proved highly efficient. Whether the result be good or ill, those nations which were most thoroughly organized have had the "edge" in the fighting. And what is true of military organization is as true of other community activities. There are more kinds of "preparedness" than that which contemplates slaughter.

The modern world is passing through a transitional stage. From the cataclysmic manifestations of the transition in Europe there will arise, economists agree, a new order. The flame of battle has fused European nations into a new solidarity. Their competitors must meet this new unity after the war with an equally consolidated front, or go down before it. To organize our economic, commercial and social forces now is preparedness for the industrial struggle which will follow the struggle of the battlefields. In that struggle there will be no neutrality.

This "preparedness" campaign comes to La Crosse in the movement which is launched today to consolidate the civic and commercial organizations of the city. Here, as in the community of communities of which we are a unit, efficient organization is the basis of progress and success. The old parable of the faggot comes to us now with renewed force. Singly, the city's organizations are brittle twigs. Together, they are unbreakable. Combination is the modern magic with which men, communities and nations are translating opportunity into concrete success. The world is marching to the tune of specialized and co-ordinated purpose. La Crosse must get the step or be trampled down.

The United States is profiting by the world war to a great degree. But it is also sharing in the tremendous cost. With no direct interest at stake, we are helping to bear the burden very directly. We are not paying for ships and munitions. We are paying for food for the refugees, for hospital supplies, for clothing and sheltering the destitute. The total money gifts from the United States, up to April 1 this year, reached a total of $23,740,342, according to figures given out by the officers of the Belgian Relief committee. This does not include the vast amount of work of various organizations and groups which have devoted labor and time to preparation of surgical supplies. That has never been estimated. It has simply been shipped out of the country to the front.

And we are by no means done paying. The calls upon our generosity come more and more frequently as the war-infection eats its way across new areas. To Belgium is added Poland, to Poland Serbia, to Serbia Armenia. The war-zone is an ever unsatisfied demand upon our humanity, a demand which promises to increase instead of diminish until the war ends—and after.

We have given much, but we have done little enough. The Federal Council of Churches of Christ has issued an illuminating statement in this connection. It says in part:

"The Belgian minister of finance stated recently that our country has given seven millions directly to Belgium. In other words only seven cents per capita, while New Zealand, bearing its own war burdens, has given a dollar and a quarter per capita to Belgian relief. England, staggering under the war load, has received and cared for thousands of Belgian refugees, and given millions of pounds beside.

"It was thought that the United States, the only great nation untouched by the war, might furnish the food supplies for Belgium, but the commission was obliged to ask food from the whole world to save Belgium from starvation. It must be remembered also that the gifts to Belgium from our country include the large contributions from our philanthropic foundations, so that the total of popular contributions is smaller than it appears.

"The American Serbian Relief committee has raised about $260,000. The British Serbian Relief committee three months ago had raised a million and a half pounds ($7,500,000) and France two million francs ($400,000).

"To the Armenians we have given about $1.00 for each suffering, covering the entire period, and this is largely money from two or three large givers. It has not touched our people as a whole."

It may be said, of course, that the sufferings of this war are much more directly the business of Europe, since it is their struggle. The United States does not escape its duty by that sort of sophistry. The war-burden that falls upon us is preponderantly the care of the innocent sufferers who have no part in the cause or the prosecution of the struggle. They are only crushed by it. While we accept the prosperity that began with war-orders, we may not evade the general responsibility of humanity.

Quips and Cranks and Wanton Wiles

Not to be Outdone

To test the safety of the church steeple a country vicar climbed it with a scaling ladder—a feat requiring no small amount of nerve.

He was proud of his achievement and at a meeting of his parishioners described with a wealth of detail his feelings while aloft.

An old farmer, who looked the picture of boredom, hazarded a guess.

"You cheated the weathercock," he said.

"What do you mean, sir?" sharply demanded the vicar.

"Why, you did it out of the job of crowing," the farmer replied.

A Hunting Expedition

One night a pretty young matron was sitting in a moving picture theater with a young friend when a young woman came in and took a seat beside her.

"Why, Bessie," wonderingly exclaimed the young matron, recognizing the newcomer, "what in the world are you doing here alone?"

"I'm looking for a husband," dear," was the quiet response of the other.

"A husband?" exclaimed the first, full of perplexity. "Why, you have a husband."

"Yes," sweetly smiled Bessie. "That is the one I am looking for."

A Long Day

John was grieving because he had no gift for his mother's birthday, relates the Knickerbocker Press.

"Do not quarrel with little sister all day," suggested grandmother.

"That would be the best gift she could have," John agreed.

"Can't you see how much mother enjoyed your gift, John?" asked grandmother at night. "Why don't you do this every day?"

John drew a breath that came from his very boots.

"I'd rather die, grandma, than live like this every day!" he said fervently.

The Resourceful Gardener

"Have you a vegetable garden?" "I started it as such. But since the chickens and insects have gotten busy, I have decided to call it a zoological garden."

CHICAGO

Chicago is unique among American cities in a score of ways. Unique first of all in its Americanism; for from Washington southward our great cities are southern; from Kansas City westward they are western, until you come to Los Angeles and San Francisco, which are Californian, and ill-starred is he who calls them anything else; New York is New York; but Chicago is American.

She is American in her bigness and her atmosphere of hustle. The first impression that you get of the Windy City is that everybody has half an hour's work to do in the next fifteen minutes. After a while it becomes so evident, however, that Chicago hurries because she likes to. She really has plenty of time. She rushes about in the spirit of the commuter who sprints for the 7:13 local in order to get to the office twenty minutes ahead of time to sit with his feet on the desk and read the morning paper twice over.

New York is in a hurry, too, of course; but the New York rush is quite distinct from the Chicago bustle. It is the rush that five men make when there are only three places left at the breakfast table. It is the hurry that comes from an over-high pressure of the modern struggle, a genuine spirit of "get on or get out." Chicago dashes ahead as five men dash for a breakfast table with seven empty places, simply because they are feeling energetic and like to dash.

All the sights of Chicago are almost as familiar to the average American, from personal visit or reading or hearsay, as the sights of his own home town. The loop, and Michigan avenue and the stockyards are as much national institutions as the capitol. It is the spirit of Chicago that has never been put on paper.

Every foreign visitor of note who visits our shores writes a book about us and spends half a dozen chapters circling around the question with indifferent success. The problem has been handled sociologically, analytically, romantically, impressively, and the only points where our visitors agree are in stating that Chicago is the most American of cities and that somehow, whether they come from France or Sweden or India, she seems to remind them of home.

"Be still," he breathed, but no one was moving. Then I heard him mutter: "You little thing—what did you come here for?"

"I wanted to be sure. There was no one here, you see."

And I grasped that she had stolen out of the isle to look after his black monster, to see, for some reason, that no harm came to it from the baron's renegades.

Then he also understood. He even paused in that grim slow work that meant her life or death. "You see," he went on, "I'd thrust my right arm in this cog—only it wouldn't stop anything for a second."

And she nodded. "I've been watching it for a long time. The little wheel, there, the steel kept crumpling in that cog—I could just see it while the big thing swung and swung. Then it stopped."

We saw him wipe her blood from the back of his hand across his brow; and she stared down at it. It was hurting horribly, the slow twist of even that delayed weight across her foot. And then Virgil had worked his stout bar into the chain link, the end of it through a step of the ladder; and with the other end across his shoulder was rising from the steps below—rising and bending his back under the weight, straining, with great gasps for breath, until the iron rungs were buckling under him.

Clell had come below him. But there was no room for two. Again it was a man's size job—for one. We waited in that dusk, the Texan rising powerfully under his short lever, and the girl staring down at him, her hands down to his shoulders by her skirt. In that stillness we heard presently a mere clank. Then as his straining breath came shorter, a soft jar—and the chain had slipped back safely upon the broken tooth. And he stood up looking at her, his wide gray hat off, the sweat upon the pallor of his brow.

"Yes," she answered simply. "All the time. When your hat touched the dregge I wondered if it would jar the chain off. I didn't want to call. I—I couldn't call you—I just wondered."

"Wondered? You would have died here tonight—when that cog crumpled under the bucket's weight. Do you know?"

She had hopped a step away as he helped her down. Then, quite free of him, she put a hand to the engine-room door frame and laughed.

"I know. And I wondered. What you-all would say. The Yankees, they could tell: 'No mo' she fight us fo' the little isle. The big machine has killed her.'"

The boss turned from the place. Her blood was on his hands, and he wiped it across the derrick beam. Mary had come to her.

"You're hurt, my dear—where?" The mistress of the isle hopped on like a crippled bird. "Not much—my foot is cut, maybe. In the cypress, once, a tree blew down across my pirogue, and I slashed my way out with my knife. But this—yes, it hurts—and I am much obliged."

And looking at us and then the Texan in some confusion, she repeated: "I'm very much obliged. I wondered what it was like up there to sit and swing the crane and watch the black jaws grind the life out of the little flowers and grasses. So, I only touched it so—and it felt and caught me."

The boss was looking quietly at her; she would let none touch her bruised foot—a bit of her old blithe defiance had returned.

"To-morrow," Virgil muttered, "you come, and you'll see it work. Outside—" he beckoned down the channel. "Outside, the's a hundred men and two mo' machines—the canal is goin' clean to the sea. You—you can't stop us now, fo' you see—we won't."

There was no need to say what he meant. I could see her white face, framed by the dark hair all disarrayed, set mute and grave. Then quietly she spoke, but as if considering the iron repression in his voice and not his words.

"You understand, don't you?" "Oh, yes. You mean we lost our island?"

"We won," he went on steadily. "I told you long ago!"

She sat quietly back upon the girder. She had thought some great grief, an outcry would be hers for a passionate rebellion and defiance to him, the courts, the law and officers. She had held them in contempt so long, trusted so implicitly.

"I don't believe we lost our island. The baron, always he say we can not lose our island. M'sieu, you are much mistaken."

Virgil turned in grim despair to us. "You see that, Doctor Dick?"

"Mademoiselle, it's very true," I began. "The Supreme Court—"

"Oh, damn the court!" Clell broke in hotly. "Can't you see she's hurt, and all shaken up without this? It was no time to tell her." He had gone to Laure, but she held him off with a gesture that showed all of us she wished to see Virgil's face clearly.

"M'sieu, you have new been a very bad man befo'." She dropped back gently into her island patois. "Pa-pa Prosper, at the first he like yo'—always—always. He say: 'Dis gentleman, Laure, no! he unkind lak a cou' and I m'sieu.' He stop dead, while we waited for her to go on. 'Ah, well, my little island! Why should it shine in the sun so? and be so green and with the shells so white and with the lilies drifting, if they going to cut it up?' Le Bon

67 DAISY DEAN

Who is the prettiest girl in moving pictures? This question has been discussed a great many times, and apparently there is no unanimity of opinion. Many give the honor to Clara Kimball Young; others vote for Lillian Gish; still others think that Anita Stewart deserves first honors. In spite of these strong contestants Lila Chester has won more than one beauty contest. One of her most recent photographs is shown herewith. Judge for yourself.

Do You Know That:
Alice Brady is just entering her twenties.

Jesse Lasky is not yet 35. Marcus Loewe built a $1,000,000 theater on his birth site.

Censorship has never thrived where censors are paid by the state. Ivy Close is the most popular English screen star.

Muriel Ostriche runs a dancing studio when not acting. Frank Sheridan writes songs and music under the name of John Franklin.

Thomas W. Lawson wrote "Friday the 13th" for World Film. A camera has photographed objects six miles away.

It is almost impossible to photograph the eyes of a cat. House Peters always wanted to be an outlaw until he grew up—then he became an actor.

A mirror screen has been invented which allows daylight photoplay projection.

Universal will put "L'Abbe Constant" in pictures. It will be produced by Rupert Julian and the cast will include Mr. Julian, Louise Love, Elsie Jane Wilson and Douglas Gerard.

Lenore Ulrich, on the stage this spring in "The Heart of Wexona," has left for Los Angeles to appear in more film plays. Her last film play was the Mexican romance, "The Heart of Paula."

Ivy Close, prize winner in an international beauty contest, has arrived from England to appear in comedies with the Kalem Co.

Edith Storey and Antonio Moreno, the popular Vitaphone stars, will soon be seen in a five-part Mexican story.

Dieu—neve' fo' that He make things beautiful."

"I reckon we can make it more beautiful," the Texan said with a curious humbleness, "if you'd only believe so."

She listened with rare attentiveness. Again Mary wanted to bandage that limping foot of hers with the hem of her skirt, and again Laure refused; and would not even take Clell's arm to her little green canoe that swung alongside.

"I don't believe," she murmured. "The baron he say—oh, this very day, he say: 'La Marquise, neve' you lose your little island.'"

"You've lost," Virgil said gently. "And it's as hard fo' me as when you began the fight. Only you'd neve' let me say so. Only you couldn't see!"

She looked at him in some confused respect that I could not fathom. And as she moved away she repeated, in her quaint sincerity:

"To you, m'sieu, I am very much obliged. Fo' saving my life. That was very fine. But me—I'm going now. Anyway."

"Away!"

"I trust him most. Neve' he care fo' money. Always, he say, does M'sieu, le Baron. 'Fo' fair ladies I fight with my long sword, mademoiselle—but neve' fo' money as Yankees do.' Like a knight—only he so fat."

"He would fight for his beer," I murmured, "as any proper knight would do." But she did not hear me, and went down into her little green pirogue, and sent it off in the star-dusted canal between the shadowy cane masses. We were left staring after her in some helplessness; and when her clear voice came again out of the dusk we had no answer.

"Fo' my life, m'sieu—I very much obliged."

CHAPTER XVI
The Big Hide-up

I was awakened the next morning in the grimy little bunk-house on Williams' dredge by the grind of some heavier body against her timbers, and then the scuffle of feet, cries and orders. Clell, who had a bed across from me was already out from his mosquito bar, and when I went to the work-deck I discovered that the steamboat was alongside with the oil-barge, and that men were already swarming off with a tag.

To unload the stuff for the repair of Williams' machine. The Texan himself stood watching the operations, and Big Jim, acting mate, was cursing the crew in right true levee style. Virgil raised his hand: "Jim, you 'otter the's a lady in our cabin boat—and she's just twenty yards forward. A man could sho' hear you cursy a mile away. And a lady like Mary—I expact two miles."

Big Jim grinned and at once evolved a sulphuric pantomime for his wops. The skilled mechanics were already looking over the wreck of the hoisting gear. "I reckon it's no place fo' ladies," went on the boss. "Last night I had to pry one out of that reverse chain." Then he saw me. "And I wonder how that little foot is this mawnin'?"

He had the light of new battle in his tired eyes. "Yes, seh! It's big. Sort to rout yo' out so early, Doctor Dick—but the man's size job is under way again. We'll blow and worm a way to salt water now, and no little old sorry ghosts can worry this bunch."

at the Black river bridge today ready for the annual trip up and down the Mississippi for the reclamation of fish.

Captain Hugo Crasser said today the trip would be begun not later than tomorrow morning. Several months' work on the river is mapped out.

Carrying several thousand brook and rainbow trout fry from the fisheries station destined for sportsmen at Homer for planting at Pickwick, the boat was first to head upriver for Wabasha. Seining will be started immediately in the sloughs lin-saved in this manner.

Forty-two thousand brook and rainbow trout fry have been planted in the vicinity in the last few days.
A. P. Funk and Ferdinand Bott yesterday planted several thousand in Sand Lake Coulee, and W. F. Strauss has placed fry in Chipmunk Coulee.
Dr. C. F. Sutter planted several thou-

GOLDEN WEDDINGS

Reception for Mr. and Mrs. Porter
Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Porter
were guests of honor at a reception
tendered them by members of the
First Methodist church and other friends and relatives at the parlors of the church last evening, in observance of their golden wedding anniversary. There were upwards of one hundred people present to offer congratulations and good wishes to the bride and groom of fifty years ago.
The parlors presented an attractive appearance decorated with yellow flowers and ferns. Instrumental music was furnished by the Misses Florence Oadams and Jennie and Frances Dixon, and Mrs. Thompson,
daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Porter,
gave a vocal solo. Mrs. A. W. Schall
gave a reading, "An Old Sweetheart
of Mine." A short address was given by Rev. E. C. Dixon, in the course of which he presented the golden wedding couple with a purse of gold.
Refreshments were served following
the program. Among those present were two daughters of Mr. and Mrs.
Porter, Mesdames Colby and Thompson, the latter accompanied by her husband and two children.

Lehman's 50th Anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. Peter Lehman, 1222
South Sixth street, entertained at a family dinner at the Stoddard hotel
last evening, the occasion being the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. The table decorations were of yellow and white. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Noll and daughters, Virginia and Marie, of Anahaim, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. F. J.
Noetzel and son Delbert, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Loeffler and Miss Elizabeth Lehman, all four of the ladies
being daughters of Mr. and Mrs.
Lehman. Two other daughters and six grandchildren, Mrs. John A. Volz and children, Frank Leo Alois Katherine and Helen Volz and Mrs.
Charles W. Osborne and son Wesley Charles all of Anahaim, Cal., were unable to be present.

A HANDSOME RECEPTION
Mrs. George R. Reay and Mrs.
Arthur A. Bentley were hostesses at a handsome reception yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bentley, 112 South Eleventh street. About one hundred and seventy-five guests
were received.

Mrs. Carlos C. Rowland and Mrs.
Gus F. Sexauer were in general
charge of the parlors, while presiding in the dining room was Mrs.
Leonard Kleiber. Mrs. Albert W.
Schall served the salad and Mrs.
Frank E. Davis presided at the coffee urn. These ladies were assisted by the Misses Ruth Esch, Lucile
Cowles and Nina Pelton. In the ice cream room Mrs. Harvey A. Green
was assisted by the Misses Marjorie
Nelson, Hazel Bentley and Marie
Phillips. The Misses Anne Phillips and Anna Bradford led the honors at the punch bowl. Miss Ida Mac
Bentley admitted the guests.

The decorations, which were exceptionally beautiful and artistic,
were the work of Miss Mary Anne Phillips, of Beacon, Iowa, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Reay. The reception rooms were in green and
red. Suspended in the connecting doorway was a beautiful basket filled with syringas and vases and baskets of the same fragrant flowers
and others of gorgeous red peonies
were displayed about the rooms.
Ferns occupied the corners, and the
ensemble was a pretty one.

Pink and green constituted the
color scheme in the dining room and the ice cream room. An exquisite pink rose petal centerpiece occupied
the center of the serving table and garlands of pink roses draped the sides of the cloth. The curtains were lowered and from the chandelier,
shaded with pink rosebuds and entwined with smilax, there was shed
over the scene a soft pink glow.
Graceful baskets and vases of pink
roses and peonies were placed about these two rooms. The punch bowl
was placed upon the screened porch.
Music was provided during the afternoon by a Victrola, which was provided by Leithold. The ferns were furnished and placed by Haelich, the florist.

ALUMNI BANQUET AT THE
HIGH SCHOOL FRIDAY NIGHT
Alumni of the La Crosse high school planning to attend the annual banquet and ball of the Alumni association at the high school Friday
night, who have not yet signified
their intention, are asked to communicate at once with Miss Helen Dorset—New phone 865-C—in order that necessary arrangements may be made.

A feature of this year's program
will be the announcement of the winner in the song contest and the presentation of the prize. The winning composition will be rendered by a mixed quartet consisting of Miss Stella Trane, Mrs. Robert C. Whelpley and the Messrs. Harry Marshall and Carroll Robb. The boys' chorus of the high school will render another of the songs entertained in the contest, which received honorable mention.

Arthur T. Holmes of the law firm of Morris & Hartwell, will be toastmaster at this year's function and the following program has been arranged:

Echoes of '50—Rev. George Herbert Ten Broeck, Austin, Minnesota.
Solo—Miss Stella Trane.
Great 1916—Earl Hirschheimer.
Report of high school song contest and presentation of prize—Mrs. Harry M. Curtis, chairman of song contest committee.
Prize song—Quartet.
President's Farewell Address—
Miss Helen Dorset.
Song—Boys' chorus.
The banquet will take place in the new lunch-room of the high school, which is larger and more convenient than was the old one. The ball immediately follows the banquet and will be held in the Hixon annex.

The grand march will be led by Thad Brindley and Mrs. J. W. Losey and Mr. and Mrs. B. E. McCormick.
The Messrs. Tad Brindley and Wilbur Holcomb are in charge of the dance program.

OBSERVE FLAG DAY
Flag day was observed by the members of the D. A. R. yesterday in their usual fashion with a meeting at the home of Miss Mildred Marsh at Dressbach. Thirty of the members were present and the trip to the cottage was made in the Otto launch, leaving the city at half-past ten o'clock. A picnic dinner was served on the lawn of the Marsh residence and in the afternoon a special business meeting of the chapter was held. The party returned to the city at six o'clock.

BIRTHDAY PARTY
Miss Dagny Senstad, 1336 George street, was pleasantly surprised by a party of friends Saturday evening in observance of her sixteenth birthday anniversary. The meeting was spent in playing games and refreshments were served at eleven o'clock.
Those present were the Misses Mar-cella Bice, Leona Lee, Lena Elsen, Elise Riek, Christine Merfeld, Irene
Sorenson, Inga Graf, Mildred Hauken, Edna Lehman, Lydia Senstad and Verna and Margaret Senstad. The hostess was presented with a handsome signet ring.

PORCH PARTY FOR BRIDE
Mesdames E. Olson and Alexander Ambrosius entertained at a kitchen shower for Miss Lucinda Campbell last week at the home of the former. The guests, twenty-four in number, were entertained on the screened porch, which was attractively decorated for the occasion.

BIRTHDAY MEETING
The Mothers' Circle of the First Presbyterian church held their quarterly birthday meeting at the church parlors yesterday afternoon, at which approximately sixty ladies were present. The members having birthdays in March, April or May were guests of honor and were seated at a specially decorated table. A program, consisting of an instrumental solo by Miss Ione Nottingham, a reading by Miss Georgia Pease and vocal music by Miss Marian Zust, was much enjoyed by the ladies. It being Flag Day, the program was brought to a fitting close by the singing of patriotic songs in which all joined.
The birthday guests included the Mesdames Albert Roberge, D. C.
Jones, William Reid, J. Bleser,
George Bedessem, D. F. Nottingham, George Harris, Agnes Eastwood, A.
C. Millington, J. F. Zust and Arthur Foster.

SURPRISE MISS GANSCHOW
Miss Ada Ganschow, retiring secretary of the Y. W. C. A., was last evening tendered a surprise party at the association by a party of house girls and others who take their meals at the association. There were twenty-four present and all were served at one long table instead of at the smaller tables as customary.
The table was decorated with the national colors in accordance with the spirit of Flag Day, and the place cards were small paper soldier hats topped with a miniature flag. Miss Ganschow was presented with a fumed oak chair to match her writing desk.

Those present were the Misses Ganschow, Ella Woerpel, Minnie Millard, Gwendolyn Dawson, Margaret Gibbertson, Edna Campbell, Florence
Reysen, Harriet Buell, Margaret McCarthy, Catheryn Chambers, Lilian Dachsteiner, Esther Von der Ohe, Lois Wilder, Agnes Lindas, Anna
Bicha, Sophia Knudson, Maud Ahl-strom, Clara Zastrow, Elsie Peterson, Barbara Leisgang, Vernice Roberts, Agnes Sparling and Cora Bangs-berg and Mrs. Mary Dawson.

PARTY AT Y. W. C. A.
A number of the operators of the La Crosse Telephone company are being entertained at supper at the Y. W. C. A. this evening.

DAHL-JUNCEAU
Miss Lilian Junceau and Joseph A. Dahl, both of La Crosse, were married by Rev. O. C. Myrhe at the parsonage of the United Lutheran church, Madison Court, at half-past seven o'clock last evening. The attendants were Miss Verna Bowen and Bernard Dahl. Mr. and Mrs. Dahl will make their home in the city.

Miss Winifred J. Dott of Norwalk and Vilas W. Ferries of Wilton were united in marriage by Rev. D. C.
Jones at three o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
J. H. Cunitz, 1027 South Fifth street. They were attended by Miss Elsie M. Cunitz and Verne Dott. Dinner was served following the ceremony. The couple will make their home in Wilton, where Mr. Ferries is the owner of a prosperous farm.

The young ladies' gymnasium class of Bethany Center had its last meeting of the season Monday evening, the meeting taking the form of a party for the teachers, Misses Helen MacMiller and Cora Johnstad, who have been attending the normal school and who are leaving this week for their homes in Ashland. The evening was spent in music and games. About twenty-five girls were present.

The Faoua Camp Fire Council of Bethany Center had its monthly outdoor meeting Tuesday afternoon at Myrick park. The girls attended the kindergarten fete and enjoyed a picnic supper.

Miss Schick wishes to announce to the little girls in the neighborhood of the center that, although school has closed, the sewing classes will be continued at the center. Those who have been too busy during the winter with their school work will be welcomed now; new girls are enrolling every week. There are classes in crocheting, mending, plain sewing and kindergarten weaving, which even the four-year-olds are enjoying.
Those interested are invited to come to the center some Wednesday afternoon at half-past three and see what is going on. The address is 1412
South Ninth street.

A sewing class was recently organized on the north side and now has an enrollment of thirty regular members. The class meets every Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at the Tabernacle Baptist church, corner Clinton and Avon streets, and is open to all little girls on the north side.
The work taught is very popular with the members and will be continued during the summer months.

MASK PARTY
One of the most enjoyable events of Commencement Week at the La Crosse high school was the mask party of the seniors, the first of its kind to be held at the local school, at the Hixon annex last night. Everyone, including the faculty, was masked and a gaudy array of costumes was presented. The gymnasium was decorated with flags. After a grand march in which the maskers displayed themselves, a funeral dirge was played and the faculty marched to their places at the end of the gym where a most entertaining program was given, consisting of music by members of the class and faculty and a number of eulogies to the departing pedagogues. Ice cream and cake were served, followed by a short dancing program.

MRS. BEYER SURPRISED
Mrs. Adolph Beyer was taken by surprise Thursday evening when a party of friends arrived at her home, 1317 Ferry street, to help her celebrate her birthday anniversary. The evening was spent in games and cards and lunch was served at half-past ten o'clock. Those present were the Messrs. and Mesdames Herman Kohlmeier, John Jahmlak, George Kohlmeier, Joseph Miller, Joe Kind-hammer, Emil Johnson, Charles Goll-nick and Adolph Beyer, Mrs. August Bener and the Misses Rosie Miller, Lyda Beyer and Annie Kindhammer.

PICNIC
To celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mr. Alfred James, a picnic has been planned to be held at Myrick park this afternoon. Those who are expected to attend include Mr.
and Mrs. Alfred James, Mr. and Mrs.
F. M. Egbert, Mr. and Mrs. John J.
Brindley and son Jack, Mrs. James McCord and niece, Miss Marie Herbert, Miss Jennie Brindley and Frances and Jessie Egbert.

TODAY'S AID TO BEAUTY

An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt, can easily be made at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. Pour slowly on scalp and massage briskly. This creates a soothing, cooling lather.
Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After a canthrox shampoo arranging the hair is a pleasure.

MANY ACTIVITIES
AT NORMAL SCHOOL
AS TERM IS ENDED

Full Program Wednesday
Keeps Graduates Busy;
Banquet and Ball
Close the Day.

The numerous events at the normal school yesterday in connection with graduation were pulled off in rapid succession.

First came the class day exercises at 2:30 in the afternoon and with it the presentation of the lily or the racquet as the official emblem of the school by the senior class to the juniors.

GLASS OF SALTS
CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back hurts or Bladder bothers you, drink lots of water.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clear and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Knights of Pythias
Hamilton Lodge No. 57 will hold a joint meeting Friday night at 8 o'clock at John P. Linton Castle hall, 506 Main street. The degree team of Tunnel Lodge No. 167 of Kendall, Wis., will confer the right of knight. Visiting knights cordially invited. Refreshments. By order of the Chancellor Commander.
D. L. MARTINEE, K. R. S.

The presentation speech was made by Mr. Elmer Johnson and the acceptance by Mr. William Walker. Following the class day exercises the crowd of graduates and parents issued to the front of the building where the annual ivy planting was completed by this year's class. This is a precedent as old as the school itself.

Following an explanation of the game of lacrosse by Mr. Harvey Rice, the throng flocked to the normal athletic field to witness the annual game of lacrosse between the juniors and the seniors. The scoring as usual was small due to the inexperience of the temporary redskins.

The last event of the day was the alumni banquet and ball participated in by a large number of this year's class, together with a large number of alumni who came here for the occasion. The usually large number of toasts were done away with this year to give the old grads more of an opportunity to come together at the informal mixer which followed the dinner.

CONGREGATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL STOPS FOR SUMMER
The Congregational Sunday school has closed its regular sessions for the season. The Children's Day exercises last Sunday formed the climax of the year's work. The regular sessions of the school will be resumed next September.

The church vacation begins after Sunday, July 2, and services will not be resumed until Sunday, August 20. For the three remaining Sundays until vacation, the school will meet in general session at 10:15 o'clock, and some interesting special feature will be provided.

Next Sunday there will be an address by Congressman John J. Esch. These exercises are not only for the children of the school, but for all who desire to attend. They will be held in the Sunday school rooms.

The regular church services will be continued at 11 o'clock as usual. The pastor, Rev. C. C. Rowlinson, expects to spend the greater part of his vacation at Iowa City, Iowa.

There's nothing like an obstacle for getting in a man's way.

Mr. A. T. Torge, assistant secretary of state during 1907-1911, and for several years a member of the republican state central committee, formally announced his candidacy for the republican nomination for secretary of state yesterday. His statement follows:

"Numerous progressive republicans throughout the state, who believe generally in a two term policy for state officers have suggested that I become a candidate for the republican nomination for secretary of state at the September primary.

"My five years experience as assistant secretary and intimate familiarity with the duties of the office, together with the generous offers of support seem to warrant my candidacy for the nomination at this time."

Mr. Torge is at present actively engaged in the practice of law at Madison, and is associated with L. E. Gettle. He was born in Dane county is 46 years of age, and of Norwegian parentage.

"So De Actor took part in the entertainment. Did he get any encores?" "No; only apple cores."

The parade pageant, made up of floats, companies of costumed marchers and horsemen; outdoor performances, given on selected sites, usually pertaining to history or some long succession of events, and outdoor entertainments in which a series of related scenes are presented to depict a specific theme, such as a people's fight for liberty, the progress of science or the growth of education, and so forth.

Must be Accurate

While the province of the pageant is to entertain, its purpose is to educate. By no other means, except perhaps the motion picture, may history be so indelibly impressed upon the mind and here the pageant is superior to the motion picture in that it reproduces color. Each act is planned with a close observance to color and detail, since it has been proved by bitter experience that the audience is sometimes only too well educated on such features. The choice of neatly shaved side whiskers for the role of an Apache in one pageant created a great deal of untimely amusement in the audience during one exceptionally pathetic scene, and the use of a German emblem in a Spanish scene another time nearly caused a riot among some Spanish students witnessing the production.

In order that absolute accuracy may be insured the participants are required to do quantities of research work in looking up the customs and clothing of the different characters, all of which is quite as educative to the actor as to his audience. So great has been the rise of the pageant in the last few years that a new profession has been called into being—that of the pageant director. When a community decides to give an elaborate pageant these days, it turns the author's manuscript over to a paid director, who stages the production as carefully as does the average manager on a legitimate circuit. In view of the eccentricities of amateur talent, the director's job is not always enviable. A "professional actress" watching a director battling with a chorus of local debutantes for over an hour, turned to one of the performers and exclaimed, "Oh, the martyrdom of directing amateurs!" "Yes", agreed the young performer, "You see, he can't swear at us the way they do at you professionals."

The ideal site for the outdoor stage is at the foot of a hillside, which forms an attractive background and a sounding board by which the voices are thrown forward. A splendid example of this is the grove of the Bohemian club in California, where the stage is thus situated and framed by the trunks of large redwood trees. A small imperceptible trail leads up the steep acclivity, by which the performers make their entrance, concealed until the last moment by the dense growth of shrubs and trees. At the front of this large natural amphitheater is a bit in which the orchestra, numbering over fifty pieces, plays through the program. The pageants of the Bohemian club take place at night and the stage is illuminated with electrical apparatus constructed for the purpose.

In Lexington, where a pageant was given commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of peace between the British and the Minute Men, the site chosen was one of beautiful natural scenery, and the artificial preparations took months to build. This pageant was also given at night, and at the front of a smooth lawn stage eight hundred feet deep by nearly twice the size in width was a trench containing a steam curtain apparatus. A curtain of steam rose after the conclusion of each act, and on this searchlights played, creating a film of iridescent mist. The first time it rose, a company of symbolic dancers was disclosed; then came the Indians paddling their canoes on a lake, which was part of the stage; next came the settlers, occupied with spinning wheels, axes, and guns; followed by symbolic founding of Lexington in the New England wilderness, the ride of Paul Revere and the Battle of the Minute Men. After this, the Goddess of Peace gave a picturesque dance and the red coat and the Minute Man stood united under an olive branch.

The St. Louis Pageant

In the St. Louis pageant of 1914, the spotlight played a large part in the effects obtained in the huge amphitheater erected on the slopes of Arthill. This pageant and masque was given as an experiment in municipal drama and proved a great success in demonstrating the various social strata of St. Louis, which in attempting to play together found that they could do better together for the greatest civic glory of their city. Here the southwestern European showed his worth, and now St. Louis does not listen to any disparaging comparisons between the immigrants from the north and those from the south of Europe. The Italian histrionic ability is asserted to be every bit as great as the Celtic, and their enthusiastic appreciation of the acting of Thomas Jefferson and other signers of the Declaration of Independence convinced the actors, at least, of their superior judgment and intelligence. As a democratic influence, great things are hoped of the community pageant.

The most ambitious and daring prophecy of the ultimate field of the pageant is that which sees in it a substitute for war. Well-known authorities on pageants point out that only by satisfying the dramatic instinct of the people, by allowing them to take part in a national theatrical demonstration, whose theatrical values are comparable with those of war will they be content with peace. The color of the material uniforms, the glory of the medals, the honor of bravery and self-sacrifice—all those things are to be annually experienced by the populace who in a tremendous pageant will gratify

WASHINGTON, June 15. —President Wilson yesterday afternoon issued a practical challenge to the hyphenates of this country to defeat him in the forthcoming election.

Standing in the shadow of the great monument to the first president, and addressing one of the largest crowds ever assembled at Flag day exercises here, the president declared that small but very active body of foreign born "disloyalists" were attempting a species of blackmail in connection with the coming election.

UNCLE SAM TO TAKE BIRD CENSUS

WASHINGTON, June 15.—When Mr. Robin Red Breast and Mr. Robert Thrush swing on the branches near their homes, enjoying the spring breeze and slugging and bragging this month, census enumerators from the United States bureau of biological survey will count them.

A really accurate count of a bird population can be made by one bird-lover going over a sixty or eighty-acre unit, says the bureau.

The females, busy with spring housework are often misled; but it is a scientific fact that the males are so swagger and conspicuous that it is hard for a counter to miss them.

So the method to be employed in this census—the survey's third—is to count the males of each species, and then multiply by two to get the total.

The survey is calling for volunteer hunters. Especially it wants data on the fruit districts of the Pacific coast and the south Atlantic and gulf states.

Reports are wanted, too, on mountain, prairie and semi-arid regions. It doesn't ask expert knowledge.

If bird lovers will take a walk over the fields just as the sun is getting up, they'll find every bird worth counting in any sort of census slugging, the bureau further advises.

This is a prelude to an extensive campaign to persuade the country that when a bird is killed, the nation loses an asset.

It doesn't matter so much about your ancestors. If you take proper care of your descendants,

MILWAUKEE ROAD FINISHES WORK OF BIG FLOOD

Within Eleven Days Ten Miles of Track Has Been Rebuilt in Vicinity of McGregor

MCGREGOR, Iowa, June 15.—(Special.)—With one thousand men on the job the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company in the remarkably short space of eleven days has rebuilt the ten miles of grade and track and the fourteen bridges which were swept away in the flood of Bloody Run at North McGregor the night of June 2, and passenger service has been resumed over the Iowa and Dubuque division. The trains necessarily run very slowly and the big force of men will be kept at work for some time before anything like the old efficiency is restored.

No freight trains will be sent over the line for some days yet. The little frame depot at Beulah which was swept some distance down the ravine and landed "right side up with care" on the other side of the tracks is said to be so much better located as it stands now that the site selected for it by the flood will be retained permanently. The little depot has been buffeted about by two floods and within its walls the railroad chief, W. C. Brown, who not long since retired as president of the New York Central and came to Iowa to be a farmer, took his start in his railroad career. It would be difficult to find a station located in a more lonely yet more picturesque spot.

JOSEPHINE OUTCAST AMONG GIRLS WHO STOOD BY MARIAN

COURT ROOM, WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 15.—Lake Forest high school girls, members of the "eighteen bunch" and chums of Marian Lambert, came to Will Orpet's trial for Marian's murder today, ready to controvert the testimony of Josephine Davis that Marian was despondent on her eighteenth birthday.

Josephine was an outcast among the "bunch" today. Her former chums say she had sworn to preserve Marian's reputation, but that now she has shattered it by her testimony. The "bunch" were ready to tell the jury that Marian did cry a little bit at her birthday party, four days before she was found in Helms woods—but that this was because one of the party couldn't spend the night at Marian's home, and that the crying spell was brief and followed by laughter.

Significance attached by counsel for Orpet to questions regarding the glove and handkerchief found in Helms woods beside Marian's body prompted the theory today that the defense counts upon these two articles to clear Orpet.

It was hinted today that the defense would seek to show that analysis of Marian's glove and handkerchief would show traces of cyanide of potassium indicating that Marian had brought the poison to Helms woods herself.

De Factos Disintegrating

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Evidence in the hands of administration officials tending to show gradual disintegration of the Carranza de facto government continued to pile up today.

This evidence was contained in consular reports to the state department and private advices to members of the army general staff from officers and civilians in Mexico.

Hope for Best

All these messages carrying reports of shaky economic conditions, led officials to believe that the next few weeks may see developments which shall spell either a complete crumbling of the Carranza government or a decided change for the better.

Officials today believed the first chief's government now is passing through its most difficult period.

Final Draft Completed

President Wilson and Secretary of State Lansing today went over the final draft of this government's reply to the Carranza demands for withdrawal of American troops from Mexico.

The note was practically completed Monday, but because of the administration's desire to make this country's attitude absolutely plain to the Carranza government and to the public of both countries, the president, it was learned, wanted again to discuss it with his secretary of state.

Lansing said the note may not be sent before next week.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express our appreciation to the friends who kindly assisted during the funeral of our brother and uncle, Ole Johnson. Also wish to express our gratitude for the beautiful floral offerings. Especially do we thank Rev. E. O. Vik and the members of the choir for their kindly services.

NORMAL GRADUATES WARNED AGAINST SCHOOL TRADITION

Record-breaking Class Hears Address and Receives Diplomas This Morning

The weight of mediaeval custom and tradition directs education in obsolete channels, Dr. L. D. Coffman of the University of Minnesota told the graduating class of the La Crosse normal school this morning at the commencement exercises held in the school auditorium. Two hundred eleven diplomas were presented by President F. A. Cotton. The class is the largest in the school's history, being almost half of the school's total enrollment.

Dr. Coffman's address was a plea for progress in education. He urged the prospective teachers to refuse to be dominated by custom.

"The period of war in history," Dr. Coffman said, "is a time of retrospection, while a period of tranquility is a period of progress." He closed his address with a plea that reform in education be carried out sanely, a growth and not a revolution.

The program of the commencement follows:

Prelude to Act 11 "Cyrano" (Damosch).—Normal orchestra.

Invocation.—Rev. E. O. Vik.

March of the Rojars. (Halvorsen).—Normal orchestra.

Commencement address. "Tradition and Reform in Education"—Dr. L. D. Coffman, University of Minnesota.

Valso Espanole. (DeKoven).—Normal orchestra.

Presentation of diplomas.

Announcement of honors.

Benediction.

CROWDS LEAVING TAME SHOW AT ST. LOUIS MEET

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 15.—Weary of noise and nothing to do, part of the convention crowds today are going home.

Approximately 200 guests at two of the largest down-town hotels got away early this morning. Ever since early yesterday morning they have been quietly slipping out.

The 5,500 cots that dotted hotel basements, hall-rooms, lobbies and corridors Tuesday night, were not in evidence as dawn crept in today.

The crowds in the lobbies and on the streets were noticeably smaller today. Even a scattering few of the delegates and quite an appreciable number of alternates have departed.

NEW YORK DELEGATE DIES IN ST. LOUIS

COLISEUM, ST. LOUIS, June 15.—William F. Kastling, postmaster of Buffalo, N. Y., and a delegate to the democratic convention, died suddenly here today. Norman E. Mack and other members of the New York delegation received word of Kastling's death as they were gathering at the Coliseum for the second session of the convention.

Kastling, it is believed, died of apoplexy.

of the various features of the proposed Chamber of Commerce will be made public daily for the next week or ten days. It is the desire of the committee that each feature of the new organization plan be thoroughly understood by the public before the complete plan is presented as a whole.

Benson was in St. Louis today but he did not visit the Coliseum, where the democrats are in session. The socialist candidate said he did not see much to choose between the republican and democratic platforms or candidates, and declared: "The effort to make the flag a political issue is so much clap-trap."

PLANS MADE FOR "LOVE FEAST" OF LA CROSSE G. O. P.'S

"Hughes for President" Slogan That Will Bring Hundreds to Smoker to Be Held Soon

La Crosse county republicans—both progressives and conservatives—at a meeting in the court house last night arranged for a smoker and "love feast," the object of which is to bring about a coalition of the factions and unanimous support of "Hughes for president."

It was decided by the executive and finance committees of the La Crosse county republican committee, to hold a smoker, possibly at the Hotel Stoddard, at which time the Hughes boom will be officially launched here.

A determined effort will be made to induce every republican in the immediate vicinity of La Crosse to attend and local members of the G. O. P. will be on the program for addresses.

At last night's meeting a committee, consisting of James Thompson, J. K. Kidder and Frank Allen was appointed to take charge of the arrangements.

The smoker will be held on the evening of June 25th.

granting the right of suffrage to the women in order that the separate states may, by legislative act, decide whether they wish such an amendment adopted.

Will Oppose Wolfe

Another political sensation developed on Wednesday when it became known that the conservative wing of the democratic organization is secretly planning a fight on William F. Wolfe, La Crosse, as the democratic candidate for senator. Judge John C. Karol will not admit that he will be a candidate against Wolfe, but his friends are laying the foundation for his entrance into the senatorial contest.

Letters are in circulation urging democrats to create a public demand for Karol. They want it to appear that the democrats of Wisconsin are calling to him to run for the senatorship. Friends of Wolfe, among them Senator Hustling, will discourage this move, as Wolfe has practically been promised that it would not be necessary to engage in a primary contest. The conservative and progressive democrats are up to their ears in factional strife, which it seems hard to stamp out. The same strife probably will mark the gubernatorial situation when it develops here or after the Badger delegates return home.

Badgers in Limelight

When the democratic national convention met on Wednesday the Wisconsin delegation occupied seats in the center of the Coliseum, which is smaller than the Milwaukee Auditorium, and right in front of a battery of moving picture machines.

Senator Hustling, former Congressman Weiss and William F. Wolfe sat together in one corner of the delegation. Over the Badger group hung a plaster medallion of Andrew Jackson. The Badger delegates waved American flags, sang national airs and never failed to take part in the enthusiasm of the convention.

Call on Bryan

Senator Paul O. Hustling, George Hilton, Oshkosh, and National Committeeman Martin Green Bay, called on William Jennings Bryan on Wednesday. The Wisconsin delegates are in support of the movement to call Bryan before the convention to give a good old democratic speech. It will be recalled that years ago, when he filed the role of a newspaper man, Bryan delivered his famous cross of gold speech and won the nomination of the democratic party. On this occasion, however, his only purpose, he says, will be to say something which will aid in the re-election of President Wilson.

"I consider it a privilege to advocate the re-election of President Wilson," said Bryan to the Wisconsin callers. "I can not understand how anyone could be so foolish as to think I would not support him."

No Fight on Platform

Bray denied that he will tamper with the platform to be adopted here, either in respect to a plank on peace or national prohibition.

TORN LIGAMENT IS ROOSEVELT AILMENT

NEW YORK, June 15.—An X-ray made today on Colonel Roosevelt disclosed that his injury was as he had suspected—a torn ligament at the point of fracture in a left rib, suffered a year ago. Roosevelt announced after the examination. He said he was feeling fine.

Politically, Colonel Roosevelt remains silent, although he is preparing to receive political callers today.

HYPHEN BLACKMAIL IS DENOUNCED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Washington Speech Is a Straight Challenge to Elements Leagued to Beat Him

Small and Subtle Minority Is Actively at Work the President Asserts

WASHINGTON, June 15.—In straight-from-the-shoulder fashion President Wilson yesterday gave notice of a fight with no quarter on those who "levied political blackmail" in this country in the interest of foreign nations.

It was a straight challenge to the hyphenated elements that have organized to encompass his defeat in November. It was given in words that minced no meaning.

"There is disloyalty active in the United States and it must be absolutely crushed," declared the president. "It proceeds from a minority, a very small minority, but a very active and subtle minority. It works underground, but it also shows its ugly head where we can see it; and there are those at this moment who are trying to levy a species of political blackmail, saying: 'Do what we wish in the interest of foreign sentiment or we will wreak our vengeance at the polls.'"

"That is the sort of thing against which the American nation will turn with a might and triumph of sentiment which will teach these gentlemen once for all that loyalty to this flag is the first test of tolerance in the United States."

The president was speaking as the climax after a parade of 75,000 people, of whom many were heads of the government, in the interests of preparedness.

At the head of that procession marched the president himself—the first time a president of the United States had marched on foot down historic Pennsylvania avenue at the head of a parade.

COMRADE OF CIVIL WAR BATTLE FOR COUNTY OFFICE

Hardy Dennison and Frank Aiken, both veterans of the civil war, and both Grand Army of the Republic men, will battle for the republican nomination for clerk of circuit court at the coming primaries. Aiken is the present clerk.

Mr. Dennison, who for years was deputy clerk of court here, has been urged by a host of friends to run for the office.

U. S. OWNERSHIP URGED BY WELSH FOR THE PLATFORM

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 15.—Government ownership of railroads, telephone and telegraph lines and coal deposits was advocated for the democratic platform in a report to the resolutions committee, by Frank P. Welch, chairman of the committee of industrial relations. President Gompers submitted advocacy of organized labor for ownership of the telephone and telegraph and economic and industrial reform.

Welsh suggested planks for a better distribution of wealth, recovery of public lands secured from the government by fraud and public ownership of public utilities.

Walsh asks that the platform declare: "That national preparedness should be built on the prosperity of the workers."

"Workers should have the fullest opportunity to form organizations among themselves."

"Condemn the action of such courts as have prevented the formation of voluntary associations."

"Denounce the importation from one state to another of armed guards, machine guns, armored cars, etc."

"Legislation that will insure to the workers the full product of their toil."

"Eight hour day, child labor maintenance of the seamen's act."

"Prevention of the concentration of wealth and power in the hands of a few by the enactment of inheritance and income tax laws."

FINNISH LUTHERANS MEET

SUPERIOR, Wis., June 15.—Superior today began the entertainment of the annual national convention of the Finnish Evangelistic Lutheran church. The attendance includes many lay and clerical leaders of the denomination from this section of the country, with a few from distant points.

If you have nothing but prospects the chances are you may go hungry, although there are men smart enough to collect money on them.

DEMOCRATS SHOVE UP THROTTLE AND NOMINATE TONIGHT

from Washington by president. The platform's strongest plea for votes will be Americanism with a sub-section denouncing hyphenated organizations for their efforts to influence this government in its foreign policy. It is understood most of the progressives "social justice" planks may be included but there will be no attempt to "kidnap" the remnant of the progressive party.

Temporary Chairman Glynn's gavel convening the long delayed session fell at 11:49. Glynn was greeted with yells of applause and prolonged applause.

Hall is Sticky

The hall was stuffy and sticky from heat. Fans sold like hot cakes and most of the delegates and male spectators peeled off their coats.

Joseph E. Bell of Indiana was recognized by the chair to make formal report for the committee credentials. The crowd fanned and perspired with Bell in the reading of the long routine document conveying reports of the committee's decision on contests. It was adopted.

W. W. Graves of Missouri, presented the report of the committee on permanent organization. The officers named were Ollie M. James of Kentucky, permanent chairman; J. Brice Kremer of Montana, permanent secretary; John I. Martin of Missouri, permanent sergeant-at-arms.

The Kentuckian, who had been waiting for the honor to be thrust upon him, was near enough at hand for the committee to perform its work with despatch. As the crowd caught a glimpse of the huge bulk of the Kentucky colon, stalking down the aisle like a Goliath, they gave him an ear splitting ovation. The band caught the popular fancy by rattling off "My Old Kentucky Home."

Yell For Bryan

In the middle of the demonstration after James' talk, the crowd began yelling "Bryan, Bryan." The commoner gathered up his pencils and paper and beat a hasty retreat under the stage back to the press headquarters.

James strove to get order—standing like a Colossus of Rhodes, arms outstretched and bellowing for quiet—but the crowd refused to simmer down for a little while.

For five minutes the noise continued with scarcely unabated vigor, James pounding ineffectually for order.

Meanwhile the platform committee went on a hunt for Bryan but the Nebraska had made good his escape.

Eleven minutes after it had first burst, the noise died out after James had worked up another shower of perspiration pounding his gavel. But it started again in a muffled roar of cries for Bryan.

"The chair desires to state," James announced, "that Mr. Bryan has gone to the city club to make a speech. You will have ample opportunity to hear him during the convention."

Speed up Plans

"Speed up" methods were applied by democratic leaders today to the convention plans. When the convention met at 11 o'clock today, it was with the fairly general understanding that efforts would be made to adjourn the convocation sine die not later than Friday evening, instead of Saturday as at first planned.

Tonight the resolutions committee is expected to submit the platform and the convention to ratify this declaration of principles. Tomorrow, bright and early, the democrats were to begin nominating.

The speeding up process was applied because of waning interest in the proceedings exhibited by the delegates and audience. Several hundred persons who came to see the convention, left yesterday. Not even the enthusiasm of optimism can disguise the fact that the convention is utterly dominated by Woodrow Wilson, several hundred miles distant, and that it doesn't do a thing that hasn't been mapped out for it to do by the president.

For the reason that its proceedings are completely cut and dried, the convention is being regarded as a "poor show" by visitors. Under plans considered just prior to the convention opening day, all thought of a hoodoo in nominating on Friday was set aside. It might be added, incidentally, that this was another instance of Wilsonian domination, since the president let it be known that Friday had always been his "lucky" day.

Marshall Has Clear Field

From indications Marshall's name will be the only one submitted to the convention as a vice presidential candidate.

Illinois boosters for Roger Sullivan have practically decided not to present their "favorite son" as a nominee, and the Missouri delegation was expected to follow suit in deciding not to suggest Governor Major's name.

This would leave, as Marshall's only opponent, John H. Morehead of Nebraska, who has all along been considered out of running.

Chairman McCombs had read the list of temporary convention officials, and friends of each officer, according to the reading of his name, gave brief bits of hand-clapping.

Delegate George M. Green of Rhode Island got into the limelight by recognition of the chair to make the usual perfunctory motion to adopt the temporary officers as officers of the convention. By this time it was apparent the steaming atmosphere of the hall was rapidly taking the pep out of the audience and only a polite bit of applause greeted introduction of former Governor Martin Glynn of New York, temporary chairman.

Flag-waving to Start Cheers

Glynn's first thought that struck the audience and brought forth a spark of enthusiasm was his defense of the Wilson Americanism and his characterization of the Americanism is going to lose financially by the war, of course, but authorities are not agreed as to whether it will be everybody or not.

The answer most generally given is the affirmative—that all classes will suffer.

Certain optimists, however, think perhaps—they are not certain—that the masses will be better off after, than before the war. Their hope is that those who have hitherto been society's parasites will have to foot the bills.

It is further argued that such a situation would imply an economic readjustment which must make for better conditions for those who have lived in the past on production by the actual workers.

The view is not held by socialists alone. A number of men who belong to the class which must do the financial suffering, should the forecast be borne out by events, think the same thing, or, rather, are afraid the prediction is an accurate one.

It looks, as they express it, as if "the aristocracy will have to go to work."

H. G. Selfridge, the American department store proprietor, for several years now in business in London, for example, in effect expressed this opinion in a recent exclusive interview to the United Press.

Selfridge, however, as a man himself actively in business, spoke of the possible development as a thing to be desired.

A good many others who agree with him want no such change because it will be at their expense, but nevertheless they believe the signs indicate that it can not be avoided.

New Yorkers Shut Out for First Time This Year Before Hurling of Jim

NEW YORK, June 15.—Chicago won its third straight game from New York Wednesday, the score being 4 to 0. It was the first time New York had been shut out this season. Kauff's infield hit, which took a bad hop from Lavender in the seventh was New York's only safe hit and prevented Lavender from duplicating the no-hit game he pitched against the Giants last season. WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's Hero
Nichoff of the Phillies, whose homer ended a twelve-inning pitching duel between Rixey and Jacobs.

Lavender of the Cubs was right on the job as a Giant killer. He blanked the McGrawites 4 to 0, allowing one hit, a scratch, by Benny Kauff.

On the other hand, Christy Mathewson was touched up for nine blows. Lee Magee staved off defeat for the Braves when he cut off a triple in the twelfth by grabbing Mollwitz's liner with his bare hand. And then won the game with a double, scoring Snodgrass in Boston's half.

The old master tossed a fine game but Lavender was in invincible form. Seven errors by the Cardinals explain their defeat to the Dodgers.

The Giants' lone hit may prove a costly one. In beating the throw which soiled Jimmy Lavender's chances for no hit honors Benny Kauff sprung a Charley Horse and had to give way to Roush.

Walter Johnson pitched mediocre ball for the Senators against the White Sox, allowing eight hits and walking four.

Jim Scott, whose batting average is .125, clinched his own game in the fourth with a single which scored two runs.

Harry Coveleski of the Tigers won his second game in three days from the Yankees. Veatch got two triples and two singles in four times up.

The Browns staged a regular rally against the Red Sox. Five hits and two walks netted the St. Louisans six runs.

The service of Charlie White and Richie are also desired.

Short Story

A MISTAKEN GIRL

BY MELLA RUSSELL McALLUM

Mary Moon was bitterly disappointed. As she laid down her daughter's letter the one hope of her life seemed frustrated. And all because Constance Moon had written home from college that she was engaged to a certain young rhetoric instructor. It sounded harmless enough, surely, but to Mary it spelled tragedy.

For Mary herself had married young and rashly. Five years she had lived with John Moon. Then, after a markedly protracted spree, he had mercifully died. Then and there, she

At first she worked at anything she could get to keep them alive. But she had a fair education, and, after a while, she managed to secure a district school. She made an excellent teacher. Bitterness had hardened her sharp corners, so that bad boys found them difficult to get around. The directors liked her and raised her pay. She saved money fiercely. For, by that time, she had made up her mind to climb high in the teachers' profession.

Little Constance used to play quietly in a corner of the schoolroom. Country air and country fare made her sweet and rosy. She was the one joy of Mary's heart. After three years Mary had saved enough to pay for one year at a normal school, and thither they went. They did light housekeeping in one room. Constance attended the training school kindergarten, and played about the campus, and on rainy days, accompanied her mother to classes. It was a delightfully serene life, in spite of hardships. At the end of the year, although her money was nearly gone, Mary had made up her mind to stay.

She sought out a certain kind-hearted professor, who had a large family, and stated her case. The professor and his wife agreed to house Mary and Constance, Mary to assist with housework, and act as sort of governess for the numerous professorial offspring out of school hours.

Three years more, and Mary had finally finished her course. She got her life certificate and a good position. Her goal was reached—indeed, independence. Her vow of a manless existence was now insured. Moreover, she had obtained for them both something priceless, something approaching real culture. They were able to take their places among the best in the pleasant village where Mary's high school was located.

Years passed—happy ones. Mary's corners were all smoothed down now. She had independence, social position, and a beautiful, sunny-natured, quick-minded daughter. Constance finished high school easily, and was at last sent to college. Not to the little normal, but to a famous women's college, far away.

Mary answered the girl's glowing letter, telling of her engagement, in a manner which she fancied thoroughly diplomatic. And thus the matter rested till vacation, for she knew better than to try to influence Constance at long range. But when Constance finally came home, even Mary gasped at the vision. Always lovely, the girl was now glorified with a mist of dreams. She was hope and gladness incarnate. But that did not deter Mary. She made up her mind to break off the match, and save Constance from what she firmly believed would prove disaster.

But, for the first time in her life, Mary ran against an impassable snag. Sometimes Constance grieved over their arguments. Again she only smiled, in a detached way that saddened Mary. Constance was well-nigh impregnable, enveloped in the armor of dreams.

At last Mary's cautious campaign collapsed, and she lost control of herself. They were cleaning their little house that day, and Constance sank down abruptly with a duster, under her mother's furious outburst. "You will break my heart, and break your own, too," Mary wound up.

"But you don't know Leonard," Constance opposed faintly. "He is a man—that's enough."

"No, mother! He is gentle, and kind, and firm. He comes of a fine family."

"Nonsense! For twenty years I have fought to put you where you are. You have education, culture, and good looks. You are better equipped to earn money than most men. Your future is insured. And this is the thanks I get!"

"You talk like a baby!"

Constance stood up deliberately.

Cocoanut Oil Fine
For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulstified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff, and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulstified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

There was a dangerous light in her eyes. "I appreciate what you've done, mother. You have been wonderful. But if I choose to give up my education and my culture and my looks to my husband, instead of selling them in the business world, it is my own concern. We won't quarrel any more, mother. That's all!"

And that was all. Mary pleaded in vain against the wall of reserve the girl built around herself. Vacation passed distressfully. Constance went back to college for her final year. Mary went back to her classes. The year dragged through wearily toward June and the hateful wedding.

Constance was to graduate on the fifteenth and be married on the twenty-fifth. Mary made up her mind to go on for the events if it killed her. She had looked forward for years to attending Constance's graduation, but now that pleasure was all swallowed up in grief over the event to follow.

But Mary Moon was game. She had some unusually pretty dresses made and paid an extravagant price for a suit and hat. She bought a smart trunk and bag and all the necessary travelling accessories. For she had been invited to stay at the home of the groom, and she resolved to make a creditable showing in spite of the grief in her heart. She knew that Leonard Ames, of Latin textbook fame, and that Mrs. Ames was prominent socially in the college town. They should not be ashamed of Constance's mother.

They were not ashamed. Mary made an excellent impression, with her attractive toilets and her vivacious intelligence. In fact, she made quite a furore in the cultured professional home. They hadn't expected a little high-school teacher from the middle west to be so charming! The courtly old doctor and his wife showed their admiration unmistakably. While Leonard Ames—six feet of wholesome boyish zest, in spite of his dignified calling—paid Mary open court.

Then the wedding guests began to arrive. New people to meet—to play up to! There were Leonard's famous civil engineer cousin and his pretty wife. There was a chemical manufacturing uncle, with a lovely placid wife and three delightful children. There were a doctor aunt and a suitcase aunt—fine, vigorous spinsters. There was a nice elder brother, too, who was also an instructor in a distant city, and whose wife had been unable to come on account of a brand-new baby. In spite of herself, Mary warmed to the matron element more than to the spinsters! The latter were nice, but they were terribly self-sufficient. She wondered if Constance might ever become like them if she had her way!

The night before the wedding, Constance inquired guardedly, "How do you like Leonard's people, mother?"

"Very much," replied Mary sincerely. "I am proud to have you know and be known by such people, dear."

"Then why?" began Constance softly, and stopped.

Mary combed through her black hair several times in silence.

"Which do you like best of the women, mother—the married ones or the old maids?" Constance inquired mischievously.

"Why, I think the—the married ones," said Mary, uncomfortably aware that Constance was taking advantage of her inability to quibble.

"You don't dislike Leonard, do you, mother?"

Constance saw Mary's agonized face in the glass. She whirled around with a little triumphant laugh. "Better own up you're beaten, mother darling," she said.

It takes more bravery to accept, and to adjust oneself to defeat, than it does to fight it in the first place. Mary Moon was nothing if not brave, however. "I was mistaken, dear," she said simply. "I—I think it's just lovely," she whispered with a tremulous smile.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic produced to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
